Regulations Are Proposed For Control of New Drugs

GOP Aims At JFK's Ban Plan

Leaders Contend They See Retreat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have closed ranks for a politically significant attack on President Kennedy's modified proposals for a nuclear test ban.

In language so similar as to indicate a prior meeting of the minds, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York contended Wednesday that Kennedy is retreating toward the Soviet position.

Faults In Dealing

Dirksen and Halleck charged in a news conference that Kennedy had sent U.S. negotiators to Geneva "hat in hand" with concessions to the Soviets that were promptly rejected. They added that the nation now was witnessing "another example by the Kennedy administration of how not to deal with the Russians."

A few hours later Rockefeller said in a statement the Kennedy administration had "moved steadily toward the Soviet position" in efforts to get a treaty on nuclear weapons testing and controls.

He said that what he called weakening of the U.S. proposals "made in March 1961 by the Kennedy administration even further seems to me to run a high risk of endangering our national security."

Would Like to Know

Rockefeller, who might become Kennedy's Republican opponent in 1964 if he wins re-election as governor this year, went on to say the Democratic President appeared to be making decisions without the public's knowing what proposals were being made.

There was no White House comment on the Republicans' remarks.

At Geneva Wednesday, U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean was reported to have told the 17-nation disarmament panel that his country is willing to reduce controls posts to 80, less than half the number previously proposed.

Britain Deports American Nazi

LONDON (AP) — American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell gave a defiant Hitler salute today as Britian deported him to the United States.

Bareheaded and wearing a brown suede jacket and sun glasses, the fuehrer of the American Nazi party was escorted by Scotland Yard detectives to the steps of a Pan American jetliner bound for Boston.

Shortly before takeoff time, several persons with muffled voices called the airport to say bombs were aboard the plane.

"I advise you to search that plane," said one, "or Rockwell is going to have an unpleasant surprise."

The bomb threat delayed the plane's departure only 12 minutes. "They appeared to be cranks," said a Pan American spokesman of the callers.

A quick check was made of the plane but no trace of a bomb was found. The airliner had been under guard since it arrived early this morning.

He was seated in the economy section of the plane, ahead of the other 38 passengers. The Home Office said he paid for his own ticket, which cost $270.06.

Rockwell was arrested Wednesday night in London after a nationwide hunt.

He slipped into England by way of Ireland and spoke last weekend at a Nazi camp in the Cotswold Hills. The government, perturbed at mob attacks on recent fascist meetings, issued a deportation order for him, but by then he had disappeared.

A telephone call to Scotland Yard Wednesday night sent four detectives racing to a street corner in the heart of London.

Rockwell was taken into custody as he stepped from a car.

Breaks Silence on National Issues

Rocky Says JFK Is Weaker on Test Ban

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says the Kennedy administration has "moved steadily toward the Soviet position" on testing and control of nuclear weapons.

He charges that a "continual weakening" of this country's position "has been accompanied by a growing Soviet intransigence which has seen the Soviets withdraw many points already agreed to."

Rockefeller listed changes he said have been made in the U.S. position since President Kennedy took office in January, 1961. He also referred to reports that a new U.S. proposal embodying concessions is contemplated.

"In short," he said, "weakening the proposals of March, 1961, by the Kennedy administration even further seems to me to run a high risk of endangering our national security."

Speaks Out

Rockefeller, a possible Republican presidential contender in 1964, made the charges in a written statement issued by his office here Wednesday as he was campaigning upstate for election to a second four-year term in November. He broke a self-imposed moratorium on commenting on national issues during the state campaign.

Rockefeller said he was "compelled by conscience and a sense of responsibility" to speak out because of the Soviet resumption of nuclear tests last week and the completion of the U.S. nuclear test series "except for two or three high-altitude tests which could not be carried out because of the failure of equipment."

Answer to President

Rockefeller's criticism came after Kennedy told a news conference last week he and his aides had been attempting to bring the U.S. position into line with new scientific data on the detection of underground tests that became available only last June. Kennedy said the U.S. proposals included on-site inspections of suspicious seismic occurenences and international control of inspection stations.

Arthur H. Dean, U.S. delegate at the 17-nation disarmament panel at Geneva, was reported to have told the conference Wednesday that the United States is willing to reduce control posts to 80—less than half the number previously proposed.

Light District Accepted, Date For Hearing Set

A petition for the proposed Albany Avenue Extension lighting district was unanimously accepted Wednesday night at a meeting of the Town of Ulster Town Board, and a date for a public hearing to discuss the proposal was set.

The board also approved a request from International Business Machines Corp to relocate the traffic light at the Intersection of Route 9W and Neighborhood Road, in the Township.

Public Hearing Aug. 22

Attached to the petition for the lighting district was a report of the assessor which showed that more than 50 per cent of the resident owners of property and 50 per cent of nonresident owners had signed for the district. A public hearing to discuss the proposal was set for Wednesday, Aug. 22 at 7:30 p. m. at Lake Katrine Grange Hall. At that session owners of property in the township will be heard whether they approve the project or oppose it, according to Town Supervisor A. J. Banyo.

The proposed district, the supervisor noted, would encompass Albany Avenue Extension, Route 9W to the new traffic circle at Neighborhood Road, Morton Boulevard off Albany Avenue Extension, Boice's Lane around the IBM property back to Route 9W.

The board unanimously approved a request from IBM Corp. for relocation of the traffic light from the intersection of Route 9W and Neighborhood Road to Boice's Lane at the north end of the IBM parking lot exit. The relocation expense of the installation and any modification of the traffic light would

Samuels Is Backed By Orange

Unit Rule Means 11 Votes for Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Prospective Orange County delegates to the Democratic State Convention backed Howard J. Samuels, Upstate industralist, today for the party's nomination for governor.

They said former Gov. W. Averell Harriman would be honorary chairman of the delegation, but Harriman said in Washington he is not announcing at this time a preference for the nomination.

Harriman, an Orange County resident, left the door open, however, by noting that "they (Orange County delegates) have the unit rule."

Can Swing All

Under the unit rule, a majority vote swings all of the delegation's 11 votes to one candidate.

"I haven't taken a personal position and I don't intend to at the present time," said Harriman, now undersecretary of state for far eastern affairs.

He said he expected to attend the convention Sept. 17-19 in Syracuse but that he had not been consulted about the Orange County endorsement of Samuels.

B. Sears Hunter, Orange County democratic chairman, announced the county committee's backing of Samuels and the naming of Harriman as honorary chairman of the delegation.

Two Rivals for Post

Announced rivals of Samuels for the nomination are Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady and Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor.

The Orange County boost for Samuels came on top of these other Democratic campaign developments:

1. A special nine-member steering committee of Democratic leaders dropped the idea of a preconvention meeting to settle on a candidate for governor.

The idea had been projected by Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon to give the prospective candidate a longer time to campaign against Republican Gov. Rockefeller, who is seeking reelection.

2. Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York was selected as the state convention keynote speaker. This would appear to reinforce Wagner's repeated declarations that he will not seek the governorship. Keynote speakers traditionally are not nominated for public office, although there is no hard and fast rule against it.

3. Samuels, speaking at Rochester, said Gov. Rockefeller has been "playing politics" with the State Commission for Human Rights and hampering its progress.

Means Lot to Him

Samuels, notified in Rochester by telephone, said the Orange County endorsement meant "much more than just added political support."

"It is well known," he said,

Priest's Slayer. Lynched by Angry Mob in LaPaz

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — An angry mob lynched a drunken bartender for slaying a young American missionary priest who had tried to stop him from serving drinks to minors.

The Rev. William Kruegler, 32, was shot to death Monday night in the patio of his parish house in the Andean village of Montero.

Over the protests of other priests, a mob seized the gunman, Manglio Saravia, dragged him through the streets to the village square and hanged him.

Services were held today for Father Kruegler in Montero and he will be buried at the Maryknoll Roman Catholic mission where he had served for two years.

Father Kruegler, one of 11 children, was a son of Katherine

Plate on Crypt Tells Little of Monroe Legend

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Marilyn Monroe 1926-1962." The plate on the crypt reads simply, but it tells little of a Hollywood legend —or of her funeral, unique for such a personality.

For instance, there was former baseball great, Joe DiMaggio who married the sex goddess — the second of her three husbands.

Before Marilyn, who was found dead in bed Sunday from an overdose of sleeping pills, went to her final resting place Wednesday, the famed New York Yankee slugger bent over her coffin.

Repeats His Love

Tearfully, he kissed her and poured out from his heart:

"I love you. I love you. I love you."

It was out of character for the reticent DiMaggio, but perhaps that made it all the more sincere.

Later he drove through Westwood Memorial Park, stopped once more at her crypt and then drove on.

Then there were the fans. During the simple, non-denominational rites they were orderly, dignified, even sentimental.

But as soon as the funeral was over, a couple hundred of them climbed over a concrete wall, trampled the grass and flowers around the crypt that entombed the movie queen.

Take Flowers Along

When the fans departed, most of the flowers went with them.

Then there were the Hollywood stars who weren't invited to the funeral.

Arthur Jacobs, Marilyn's longtime publicity representative, said of the 31 invited guests: "About half of the people in there would not even be there if Marilyn had had anything to do with the invitations—and a lot more of her friends would have been there."

Among these would have been actor Peter Lawford and his wife Pat, brother-in-law and sister of President Kennedy. When Mrs.

Despite Kremlin Secrecy—

Believe Many Know Tests Are Resumed

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities said today they believe that despite Kremlin secrecy, millions of Soviets know their government has resumed nuclear testing.

The authorities based their views in part on Western efforts to get word of the tests through the iron curtain.

But many Soviets would know about the tests anyway, regardless of Moscow's refusal to announce officially the nuclear explosions so far.

Featured on Voice Program

The Voice of America, the U.S. government short-wave radio, figures that more than 10 million of the 220 million Soviets tune in on its broadcasts. The Voice featured the Soviet resumption of testing as a lead news item for nearly three days after the huge Novaya Zemlya high altitude blast last Sunday.

The Soviets have been jamming those portions of the Voice's Russian language newscasts reporting the Soviet tests, but Voice officials say the U.S. signal can still get through to much of the Soviet Union despite the deliberate radio interference. And the Soviets do not jam the Voice's English-language programs, which give the news, too.

In addition, the word is beamed at the Soviet Union by Radio Liberty, the British Broadcasting Corp., and others. Visitors also bring in news.

Other Means of Knowing

A large number of Soviet civilians also must have witnessed the atomic testing, since it has been seen in neighboring Norway.

Still unexplained is why the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission delayed for days its announcement of the new Soviet test resumption.

Water Line Break Repaired, All Is Back to Normal

A break in a main city water conduit in the Zena area has been repaired and "everything is back to normal," Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, reported this morning.

The break, discovered early Tuesday, was about 400 yards west of the filter plant at Zena, he said. It was on an 18-inch line, extended about four feet and was 16 inches wide. Cause of the break is undetermined.

Ahrens, Crew Praised

Cloonan asked residents of the city to conserve water pending repair of the break which was discovered at about 2 a. m. Tuesday when pressure gauges indicated trouble. Water was fed to the city through another conduit.

Water department men stayed on the job for many hours after the break was discovered, Cloonan said, and he commended Fred Ahrens, department foreman and his men for their work.

The city's water supply has been holding up well despite the extended drouth. It was reported slightly over seven feet below spillway level this morning.

Motorist Is Uninjured

A Newburgh motorist escaped injury at 4:45 a. m. today when an unidentified vehicle forced his car off Route 9W, Town of Lloyd. Highland state police reported Frank David Cardiner Newburgh, told authorities he was traveling south when a northbound vehicle forced him off the right side of the high way. The second car was not identified.

Check Is About Use And Tests

Present Laws Are Lacking in Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze has proposed new regulations which would give the government a watchdog role in investigational use of new drugs from start to finish, and power to call off the trials if safety doubts arise.

His Proposals

Acting against the background of public and official concern over the sedative thalidomide, Celebrezze proposed today:

1. That the Food and Drug Administration be put on notice and given the full details about the distribution of drugs to doctors for investigational use on humans.

2. That clinical investigations, or use on humans, be based on adequate preclinical studies to assure safety.

3. That the clinical investigations themselves be properly planned, executed by qualified investigators, and that the Food and Drug Administration be kept fully informed during the progress of the investigations.

4. That if a substantial doubt develops as to the safety of the drug, the Food and Drug Administration and all physician-investigators using the drug be notified immediately. If necessary, the use could be halted by FDA.

Current Laws Weaker

Current regulations have no such provisions.

The secretary said interested persons will have 60 days in which to comment on the proposed regulations and final regulations will not be issued until any comments have been considered.

The proposals followed a promise by Celebrezze last week that tighter regulations would come soon.

While the proposals are a direct outgrowth of the furore over thalidomide, Celebrezze did not mention that German-developed drug in his announcement.

Never Cleared

The sedative never was cleared by FDA for general use in this country but the American licensee for its manufacture distributed the pills to 1,231 American doctors for possible experimental use before it was associated with the birth of deformed babies in Europe.

There have been no reports of malformed babies in this country from that investigational use, but there have been some cases of deformity in which the mothers had obtained the drug otherwise from abroad during pregnancy.

Present regulations, however, do not require either an initial notice to FDA of a clinical trial of a new drug or subsequent reports on such use.

Could Stop Use

Regulations would not require advance government approval of the preclinical investigation, the qualifications of the investigators, or the plan of the clinical investigation. The commissioner of food and drugs, now George P. Larrick, would be authorized however, to terminate any investigational use if the new requirements were not being met.

As to investigations of new drugs already under way, the proposed regulations would require prompt reporting to FDA of information showing that the investigation may be safely continued. Failure to submit such a report would automatically terminate the authority under which clinical investigations are now conducted.

President Kennedy has said "we ought to be tougher" in regulating distribution of drugs to doctors for experimental use. He and the Food and Drug Administration take the position this could be done without further legislation.

However, Kennedy also has said full protection of consumers will require action by the Congress.

This week Kennedy made several recommendations to the Senate Judiciary Committee for strengthening the drug industry control bill now in its hands.

Wednesday the committee decided to require that official or generic name of a drug be printed prominently on the label and in type at least half as large as the brand name.

The administration bill in the House goes further, meeting the Kennedy recommendation that the official name be printed in type as large as that used for the brand name and that it be given precedence in position.

Existing law requires only that official names of drugs appear with prominence and conspicuousness on the label.

Lack of Reports on 30 Bats Is Seen as Indication None Rabid

Lack of immediate reports from Albany after laboratory tests to determine if bats which have entered area homes are rabid is an indication that none was found to be "positive," Dr. E. Franklin Hall, Ulster County Health Commissioner, said today.

The carcasses of some 30 bats forwarded from the city and various county areas were due for the tests within the past two weeks.

Concern over the potential danger of the mammals remained here after a report earlier in the summer that one found on St. James Street was rabid. The public responded well to the warning that all discovered in or near homes should be reported and that health authorities should be notified of any incident of strange behavior of an animal.

Kingston police and the health department, since late July have logged an historic record of calls from persons who have found bats in homes or other buildings, and they continued to be received this week.

Rats have also been reported concentrating in some areas and this form of concentration so early in the year, like that of the bats, it is believed could be due to the dry weather, with movement in groups for both water and food.

Bats, in their pursuit of insects, have been known to be attracted to the swarming flights around city street lights, and this summer, judging by reports, is a special one for that kind of action, plus their errant flights into homes.

Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation in the health department, said that in his 25 years of service he recalls nothing of similar record.

Of all calls received from city and county areas during the past two weeks only one involved a person being bitten and it was found through immediate test that the bat involved was not rabid.

Dr. Hall said that if any of the bats sent to Albany had been found rabid, the health department would be notified immediately. It is posisble, he said that all of the bats sent from various areas, have not been tested, but many have received tests.

The experience of the last two weeks with bats is a new one both for health and police officials. Both the police and health departments have received a record number of calls reporting bats entering homes.

Wilson Asks Light At Lloyd Crossing

In a letter to the Director of the State Traffic Commission in Albany, Ulster County Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson has requested that at least a Caution Light be placed where old 299 crosses new 299 in the Town of Lloyd. This crossing is near the scene of the recent tragic accident that took 7 lives.

Assemblyman Wilson contends that the blinker light may tend to slow down traffic and perhaps alleviate to some degree the hazardous situation along this highway.

A copy of the assemblyman's letter to the Traffic Commission was read at a recent meeting of the Town of Lloyd Republican Club. Dominick Martorana of Highland had received the letter from Assemblyman Wilson in reply to a suggestion that some corrective action be taken.

Last year Lloyd Post of the American Legion had also contacted Assemblyman Wilson seeking his assistant to make road travel safer on this hazardous highway. The assemblyman contacted both the State Traffic Commission and the superintendent of Public Works in Albany and some corrective measures were taken. Speed limit signs on the new road and full stop signs on some of the intersecting roads were installed and other improvements were made.

In his recent letter Wilson expresses a deep concern in this matter because of the heavy use of this road by school buses transporting children to the Highland schools. The assemblyman expresses hope that his request for a light will receive favorable consideration.

Panel Is Named To Advise About Affairs of World

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A panel of four specialists in international affairs has been created by the state education commissioner as part of a program to improve foreign-area studies in the state's colleges and universities.

Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. said Wednesday that members of the panel would serve as consultants to the institutions on problems of library development, curricula, and related matters.

Establishment of the panel, he said, is another step in efforts of the State Education Department to strengthen opportunities and resources for the study, especially by teachers, of Asia, Africa, Latin America, and the Soviet Union.

The panel members:

Channing Richardson, professor of international affairs at Hamilton College and a specialist in African affairs.

Hyman Kublin, professor of history at Brooklyn College and author of books and articles on Asia.

Charles Griffin, professor of history at Vassar College and a specialist in Latin American affairs.

Warren Walsh, chairman of the board of Russian studies and professor of history at Syracuse University.

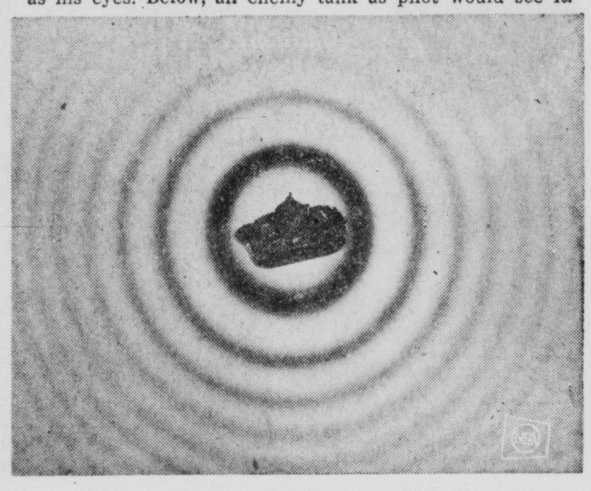
Litchfield Is Named To Drug Commission

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. John Litchfield, director of the experimental therapeutic research section of Lederle Laboratories Inc. in Pearl River, N.Y., is one of 13 scientists who have been named to the prescription drug industry's new commission on drug safety.

The commission was established last month to study and predict the reaction of humans to drugs.

Names of commission members were announced here Wednesday by Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall, commissioner chairman and vice president of the University of Chicago.

THE HUNTER AND THE PREY—Army helicopter pilots of the future will be able to aim their weapons at a target simply by looking at it. Using a new system developed by Sperry Gyroscope Co., pilot above centers his target in bull's-eye sight attached to his helmet visor and presses firing button on the control stick. The helicopter's guns or missiles are linked mechanically to the pilot so that they automatically wheel around to face in the same direction as his eyes. Below, an enemy tank as pilot would see it.



Alleged Resnick Killers Start Life Term Today

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Four young men who admitted strangling Samuel L. Resnick of Albany, N.Y., began serving life in prison today.

Judge George M. Sterling pronounced the sentence Wednesday after rejecting a two-hour plea for a new trial. The sentence had been fixed by the jury.

Sentenced for the kill-for-hire murder were R. E. Jackson, 20; Ernest Spurlock, 20; Jesse Tillis, 19, and John Henry Lewis Jones, 21. All are Phoenix area Negroes and all but Spurlock are husky laborers.

Tall and round - shouldered, Spurlock wore a mask in the courtroom because he is believed to have tuberculosis.

None denied pulling on the rope that killed Resnick, 61-year-old jeweler, but each insisted Resnick hired them to do it. They testified Resnick told them he had incurable cancer.

Resnick's body was found on the desert about 10 miles north of Phoenix last March 4. He had been dead for three days.

As White House Term Nears Half-Way Point

AP Reporter Goes Over President Kennedy's Foreign Affairs Score

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — During the conference between President Kennedy and Nikita S. Khrushchev in Vienna last year, the Soviet premier suddenly grated out:

"If you want war over Berlin, you'll get war."

History does not record a more blunt, bull-dozing threat thrown at one head of state by another.

Khrushchev's design may have been to shock Kennedy off-balance. The President replied:

"It looks like a cold winter."

The two men, having measured each other, went their separate ways.

Holds Firm on Berlin

Kennedy held firm on Berlin. Khrushchev set no new deadlines for signing a treaty with East Germany. He told a delegation of American newspaper editors last July 18 he still intends to sign such a treaty, but he said:

"When shall we do it? I will not set any time limit."

Some observers consider this a plus on the administration's credit-and-debit ledger for foreign affairs. For the moment, it may be.

But Kennedy, who says "Berlin is our big interest," does not expect Khrushchev to remain quiet indefinitely about this problem. No new formula for solving it is in sight. So Berlin is an X-factor, an uncertain quantity, in the foreign equation.

What are the plusses and minuses? Few developments in foreign affairs fit completely into this clear-cut definition.

Cuba A Disaster

Cuba, to be sure, was a disaster for the administration.

The Berlin Wall was a shocker. At home and abroad, people asked why the Western Allies were not prepared for such a contingency. Some Americans criticize Kennedy for not having ordered American tanks to knock down the wall at the moment the Communists began erecting it. Whether the other Allied governments would have supported such a move, is, of course, still another question.

The Congo is still snarled. The United States, with money and other support, backs the United Nations effort to force Katanga Province into the Leopoldville government. Some Americans bitterly criticize this policy. Only last week, the U.N. secretary-general termed the situation "particularly critical."

Problem With France

The problem with France, a hold-over from 1959, remains unsolved. The French are determined to develop their own nuclear weapons. The Kennedy administration refuses to provide technical assistance. Time alone will tell whether the policy was the right one.

No formulas have been found for an agreement to disarm or to stop nuclear tests. When Kennedy decided the United States must resume nuclear testing, picket lines formed in front of the White House in protest.

On the other hand, developments in Southeast Asia appear to warrant at least some cautious optimism.

An agreement was hammered out for a tripod coalition government in Laos. The question is whether it will hold.

Before this agreement, Kennedy ordered American forces, including nearly 3,000 Marines, to Thailand to forestall a Communist guerrilla move out of Laos. The Marines were withdrawn as the tension lessened.

Government forces in South Vietnam, using weapons and new tactics stamped "Made in America," seized the initiative from the Communist Viet Cong. The picture appears much better than it did a year ago when this correspondent toured the country. The issue, however, is likely to remain touch-and-go for a long time. It took 12 years to extinguish a smaller and more manageable Communist fire in Malaya.

American diplomats worked out the formula for settling the dispute between the Netherlands and Indonesia over West New Guinea. It contains guarantees to insure the right of self-determination for 700,000 Papuans living there.

Objectives Outlined

Finally, in Latin America, the Alliance for Progress has been launched. Its objectives:

1. To foster economic growth at a minimum annual rate of 2½ per cent.

2. Tax reform.

3. Land reform to increase productivity.

4. Improved public health, housing and education. American aid entails $10 billion over a 10-year period and assistance in obtaining an additional $10 billion from other sources in Europe and Japan.

Last week, on the first anniversary of the Alliance, Kennedy was asked whether he was satisfied with the progress. He replied:

"Measured by what has to be done, I think we have to do much better."

Defense Listed

Meanwhile, the administration says American military power—the vital factor behind foreign policy—is being beefed up steadily. In May, Secretary of Defense McNamara reported some of the details of the build-up to the White House conference on national economic issues. Among other things, he listed:

1. A 50 per cent increase (from 19 to 29 submarines) in the Polaris force scheduled for deployment in late 1964 or soon after.

2. A similar increase in the portion of the strategic bomber force to be maintained on 15-minute ground alert.

3. A "Significant increase" in the number of land-based Minuteman missiles, and doubling of the production capacity.

4. "An accelerated program to develop an effective, protected command and control system so that at all times, before, during and after an enemy attack, the constituted authorities, from the President on down, will have full command of our military forces."

McNamara said non-nuclear forces also were increased.

While building up the military strength of the United States, McNamara also launched a program to cut the costs of it. He expects to economize by $1.15 billion by fiscal year 1963, and to reduce expenditures $2 billion more by 1967.

Mental Health Clinic Is Topic At Rotary Club

Mrs. Virginia Robinson, psychiatric social worker with the Ulster County Mental Health Center, discussed mental health and the operation of the local clinic at the Kingston Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday.

Work of the psychiatrist, psychologist and the psychiatrist social worker in the treatment of the disturbed was outlined by the speaker. Types and the care given those in the various age groups also were described in the interesting and enlightening talk.

Dr. Edward F. Shea was a special guest. Edwin B. Bolz, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker.

Preceding the program, committee chairmen reported on the annual chicken barbecue to be held at the Beatty Farm on Hurley Avenue Saturday, August 11 from 4 to 7:30. Preparations are being made to serve a record attendance.

Butter, a pinch of sugar and lots of minced parsley add interest to cooked carrots.

Judges Are Named For Essays That Court Is Asking

A committee of three men has been named by Justice of the Peace C. Allerton Morey, Town of Washington, Dutchess County, to judge essays by four youths convicted of malicious mischief at Millbrook's Tribute Garden in June.

The youths were accused of taking a cement eagle from the garden entrance and dropping it in the Mill Factory Creek off Stanford Road, Millbrook. The eagle weighed 300 to 350 pounds.

Named to judge the essays, ordered by Judge Morey on the subject, "What the American Eagle Stands for" and "Respect for Other People's Property," were the Rev. Michael B. Dibble, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Millbrook; Dr. William P. Mahoney, a dentist of that community, and Dr. George H. Hopson, a district sales manager for the DeLaval Separator Co.

The defendants are, Richard C. Kocot, Poughkeepsie; who has already submitted his essay; Vincent Hayes, Bruce Conklin and Francisco Forte.

THE GALS, BLESS 'EM

The nation's women, now reputed to control something like three-quarters of the nation's wealth, apparently aren't satisfied.

They dropped a hot potato into Congress' hand in the form of a bill requiring that women in industry and business doing the same jobs as men be paid the same wages.

There are about 24 million women now in the working force which, from any angle, is a lot of votes. On that score alone, no congressman could buck the proposal.

Fair-minded legislators hesitate to oppose such a measure. They believe this kind of equality is only just and long overdue. Arguments about economic hardships it might cause in some areas to employers and male workers, while valid, are akin to warnings a century ago that freeing the slaves would wreck the nation's economy.

One thing the gals should bear in mind, however, as they advance toward equality on all fronts: They can't have all the rights of men and those of women, too.

Feminine prerogatives range from unwritten rules of courtesy that say men should remove their hats in elevators or give their bus seats to women to a more serious imbalance in laws that allow women to divorce men and yet remain a financial millstone around their necks for the rest of their lives.

There was a time when it was indeed a man's world and women were almost possessions. On the legal side, this is no longer so. But now certain age-old conventions that were, and are, due to women because of their peculiar sex, and which compensated a little for the legal inequality, are being endangered by the women themselves in their drive for economic parity.

If they expect to compete on equal terms in the workaday world, they should not be surprised if men demand equal rights to bus seats.

Most women don't want an "equality" that would turn them into merely unbearded men. Men sure don't want them that way. Women may go into space, but they can't hope to be spacemen.

Fortunately, it seems impossible that absolute equality can ever happen. It won't come in business, no matter how "unfair" it is, if only because of the well-known fact that women as a rule don't get along with women bosses.

And any other way you look at it, Mother Nature seems to have decreed otherwise.

PLAY ON WORDS

A recent poll on the favorite pastimes of Americans came up with a surprising result: Most popular leisure time occupation was doing crossword puzzles. It even beat out such things as bowling, bingo and poker.

Devotion to this intellectual sport apparently isn't confined to this country, judging from a report which says that the Communists in the Soviet Union and its satellites are moving into the field to make ideological hay.

Sample questions from puzzles in Communist papers include:

"Four-letter word for the street in which the warmongers dwell." The answer is "Wall."

"Three-letter word for the man who rescued the Chinese workers from slave labor." Answer: "Mao."

There's nothing like a little propaganda while having fun, is there?

THE TIME OF TRIAL

For the army of home gardeners, the time of severest trial is at hand. Those who leaped to their tasks with a will last spring, and survived the testing of early summer, must now run the final gauntlet until autumn brings respite.

So it seems, anyway, to the weary householder as he girds himself once again to mow that lawn, weed that flower bed, trim that burgeoning hedge. Duties that seemed pleasant, though bone-tiring, after the long winter months now are merely jobs to be gotten through with the minimum of effort.

This is not to say that all relish in the task is gone—that there is on longer any satisfaction in the nurture of growing things. The flowers of August are as beautiful as those of May. But there's no denying that the enthusiasms of May wane a trifle in the heat of deep summer.

'These Days'

HERBERT HOOVER AT 88

It is now 48 years that Herbert Hoover has devoted all the hours of his life to public service. It is the record of a man whose acceptance of public responsibility has almost been priestly in character. He has asked for no return, for no thanks, for no recognition for services done.

Not all of Herbert Hoover's efforts have been successful; but they have all been motivated by selfless recognition that each man is his brother's servant.

It is not surprising that tomorrow reaching the great age of 88, Herbert Hoover should be an honored and beloved man. Even those who bore him enmity for the Depression of 1929 have long come to recognize that in Herbert Hoover, as President, we had not a politician who twisted and turned with the tides of popularity, but one who was guided by the foundation principles of our civilization, by the Natural Law and by the Constitution of the United States.

Herbert Hoover has never been a radical or a reactionary. In the 19th Century, he would have been regarded as a moderate liberal, of the order of John Stuart Mill; in the 20th Century, he would be called a conservative.

The 19th Century Liberal believed in the expansion of individual human rights and benefits. He put an end to child labor; he gained the vote for an increasing number of persons; he attacked the concept that women were chattel; he fought against slavery and abolished it in most places. His slogan was equality of opportunity for all of mankind.

But the 19th Century Liberal differed from the 20th Century Liberal in one basic essential: the 19th Century Liberal believed that by the expansion of the liberties of the individual, by increased access to education, by equality of economic opportunity, the individual would contribute his share to the perfection of society.

The 20th Century Liberal has found this process too slow. He has turned to government as the vehicle of achieving all good. He has expanded the powers and activities of government. He has reduced the possibility for equality of opportunity by burdening the individual with taxes which, in America, are bringing the economy to a standstill. He has made the government the benefactor of a large part of the population; thus, destroying ambition and initiative and lessening the impulse toward achievement. He has substituted a humanistic philosophy of life for the loving, God-fearing morality of the Judiac-Christian civilization.

In his anxiety to solve all human problems speedily, the 20th Century Liberal has lost the meaning of the family system. He has substituted for parental solicitudes, a pseudo-scientific sociological intervention in the family and a psychiatric supervision of morals. The evil results of this are statistical in increased divorces, broken homes and juvenile criminality.

In 1962, dissatisfaction with the product of 20th Century Liberalism is widespread. Young people do not like the world in which they find themselves. Many become Communists; others declare themselves to be various types of conservatives (some without definition); still others have joined various extremist rightist radical movements. Others, like the Beatniks, turn to sexual escapism as a way of life.

These are manifestations of youthful reaction to an unsatisfactory way of life.

In this changing and confusing world, Herbert Hoover stands as a monumental moral force, the solid representative in our land of the basic principles of 19th Century Liberalism. He has brought into the 20th Century the Quaker ideal of the goodness of man in the love of God. This concept is not Humanistic; it is Deistic, for man cannot stand alone in a changing world. He requires the strength of faith in a force outside himself, as Matthew Arnold put it, that makes for righteousness, and having that strength within himself, he does not need the power of government to control him.

Herbert Hoover's life is a Horatio Alger story. The orphaned son of a blacksmith and a seamstress, he became a great engineer, the feeder of the human race, Secretary of Commerce and President of the United States. He heads the Boys Clubs of America, perhaps to help give other boys what he missed as a boy. He is the author of many historical volumes and is now engaged in a great work on international relations.

He is America's great man.

★ The Doctor Says ★

Cautious Doctor Eyes 'Miracle' Drugs Carefully

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In almost every package of mail I receive there is a complaint from some reader to the effect that the family doctor is "old-fashioned" because he seems slow to prescribe or inject one or other of the newly introduced "miracle drugs" about which there have been enthusiastic reports in magazine articles.

Perhaps these complainants would be less critical of the wisely cautious practitioner if they had a better understanding of the reasoning that lies behind his reluctance to run at the head of the pack.

On the one hand, he is naturally and understandably skeptical about reports of positive results. For, all too often, these are issued in press releases that come from drug manufacturers on the basis of results reported by enthusiasts.

Perhaps the most frequent current examples are furnished by the reputed "break-throughs" in cancer as reported in breathless articles by the clinically inexperienced.

Although the writers of these articles may not be wholly aware of the complexities of the cancer problem, the experienced doctor has learned all too often (and all too regretfully) that animal cancer is not human cancer.

"Cancer cures" that are effective in the treatment of animal malignancy may not (and usually do not) work as effectively if they work at all, in the treatment of human malignancy.

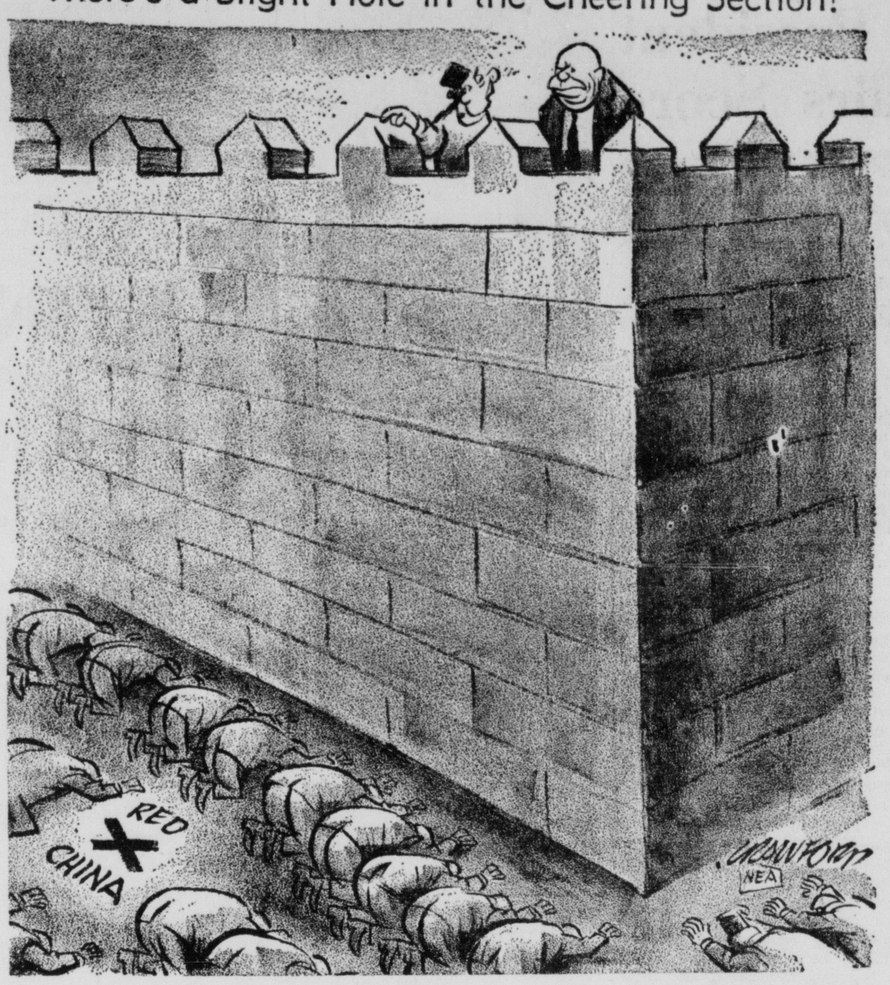
On the other hand, a new drug that has been administered with safety to an experimental animal may not, and often cannot, be given with equal safety to the human subject. Within recent months, for example, a sedative that appeared effective and safe under laboratory conditions caused the infants born of mother taking the drug in Europe to come into this difficult world with flippers instead of arms and legs.

A blood pressure reducer (antitensive) has just been recalled by the manufacturers because it caused previously unrecognized side effects such as hair loss and visual disturbances. And another manufacturer recalled a tranquilizer that proved damaging to the liver and other organs.

It may not be possible to repeat successes. And side effects, unobserved under laboratory or institutional conditions, may appear every so often in a peculiarly hypersensitive individual. These side effects become matters of prime significance when they result in serious incapacitation or even death in the case of a single human patient.

Thus, with all due reverence to those responsible for innovations and advances in medical treatment, the doctor you criticize as "old-fashioned" may merely be one who is unwilling to have the student barber learn his trade by "shaving on your face."

"There's a Slight Hole in the Cheering Section!"



Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Republican leaders are all kicking around a number of possibilities for a permanent head of the new National Republican Citizens Committee, but three names now lead all the rest. They are:

Neil McElroy of Cincinnati, president of Proctor & Gamble and former secretary of defense.

Arthur Summerfield of Flint, Mich., former GOP national chairman and postmaster general.

Thomas Pappas of Boston, an olive and olive oil importer with interests in Suffolk Downs and 20th Century-Fox.

McElroy has the national reputation and prestige, but probably doesn't have the time or inclination. Summerfield has the political know-how, but his health has not been as good as it used to be.

So by the process of elimination. Tom Pappas now has preferred position. But the job hasn't formally been offered to him and he may not take it.

He isn't too well known nationally, but he has been raising important money for the Republicans since 1952. He is of Greek descent, described as wealthy and handsome, with a warm smile that makes people love him and give.

He is also supposed to have the endorsement of Walter N. Thayer, President of New York Herald-Tribune and a principal organizer of National Republican Citizens.

FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT of a permanent head for NRCC may or may not be made before ex-President Dwight Eisenhower's scheduled return from Europe Aug. 30. "He might just send a cable," one Republican official explains.

Before Eisenhower went to Europe he did his best to straighten out what for a time threatened to become a major GOP tangle. Inadvertently, Eisenhower had contributed a little to party confusion by his own enthusiasm, political amateurism and naivete.

Plans for this new organization have been in the making for some months. Prime movers were a group headed by Thayer. He had been active in Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon and Nixon-Lodge campaigns. A principal purpose was to woo independents and Democrats to vote for Republicans—an essential to any GOP victory. It had Eisenhower's blessing.

A long, confidential memo on organization and objectives had been circulated to party leaders outside Washington before the All Republican Conference of 200 party leaders and candidates at Ike's farm on June 30.

GOP CHAIRMAN William E. Miller and Eisenhower both mentioned the citizens committee idea in vague terms at the farm. But the whole plan in full detail came out next day in Sunday's Herald-Tribune in an exclusive story by ace political reporter Earl Mazo.

It took Washington Republican leaders by complete surprise. Their assumption was that Thayer had given the story to his own paper on an exclusive basis.

But when Thayer hurried to Washington to make peace with Senators Everett M. Dirksen and Barry Goldwater, and Representatives Charlie Halleck and chairman Miller, the publisher said he didn't know his reporter had dug out the story and it was a complete surprise when it came out in his own newspaper.

SUBSEQUENTLY, Eisenhower called Miller to Gettysburg for a morning conference on July 13 to iron out ruffled feelings. Dirksen and Halleck went up that same evening for the same purpose.

The word passed out in Republican circles is that there has been a lot of kissing and making up since then.

The NRCC is said to be an accepted GOP auxiliary. Whether it can get organized to do much good in the 1962 congressional and gubernatorial campaigns is still a subject of debate.

Chairman Goldwater of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee says it could do some specific jobs. It could help pay off the Nixon-Lodge 1960 campaign debt. Or it could raise new money for candidates in tight races for key states.

GOP CHAIRMAN MILLER, congressional leaders Dirksen and Halleck have been given assurances that the new committee will not make policy, will not interfere with national headquarters. To that extent, Republican harmony has been restored.

But there is still a sneaky suspicion that the National Republican Citizens Committee is really an eastern conspiracy, organizing early to grease the way for nominating Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York as GOP Presidential candidate in 1964.

And on this there is violent conservative opposition, with no prospect of party peace.

ILGWU Business Agents: Power Drive Within Union

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—When a labor union speaks out forthrightly against any attempt by labor to monopolize power—even though it be inside a union—it becomes news of paramount importance. There seems to be a lesson in this for some unions which have gone even to the point of threatening strikes unless supervisory personnel are forced into joining the union.

It would appear to be a truism that no part of management should be integrated into a labor union or participate in shaping the policies of the union. But in a current controversy that's precisely what one group inside a national labor union has been trying to do.

The union involved is the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union of which David Dubinsky, one of the ablest of America's trade-union leaders, has long been president. In a public announcement, Mr. Dubinsky and other officers of the union declare that they are unwilling to grant recognition to a union of "business agents," even though they would be willing to recognize a union of organizers and all along have recognized unions of their own office employes. Mr. Dubinsky's statement says in part:

"The business agents are in a special position within the union to make union policy. They provide the leadership to the worker in the shop. To the rank and filer, the business agent is 'Mr. Union.' He is not only eligible to run for convention delegate and to run for union office, but is also in a specially favorable position to influence choice of convention delegations that elect top union officers and decide basic policy. It is obvious that if these same business agents were granted union recognition by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union they would be in the position of participating in the choice of the ILGWU officers with whom they would bargain. This is sitting on both sides of the bargaining table.

'We Know the Dangers'

"The ILGWU holds that a 'union' of business agents is not a union of employes: it is a faction of officers with all the elements of a dual union—trying to impose its policies from the outside and even hoping to seize control of the ILGWU.

"We know only too well the dangers of factionalism and dual unionism from our long and bitter experiences.

"For many years, the Communists in the ILGWU tried to capture the union through their faction. They were finally defeated by the responsible and democratic elements in the ILGWU, but only after a nine-year struggle —1925 to 1934— involving hunger and bloodshed. In this terrible struggle, the union was shattered; the industry was disorganized; the workers suffered. We now refuse, knowingly, to re-enter such a period of struggle with a new faction hiding behind the good name of 'unionism.' To us, the evils of factionalism are not a theory!

"It is for this reason—not at all because we will not deal with unions of our employees or even our organizers—that we oppose a 'union' of officers, known as business agents. It is for this reason that the AFL-CIO officially stands with us and actively supports our position."

The issue arises only sporadically, but it is none the less subject of considerable controversy. It does not often occur in the mass-production industries. It breaks out mainly in the printing and building trades, and in some other fields where craft unions are involved.

The Taft-Hartley act does not prevent foremen from being in unions, but it does not allow unions to compel employers to bargain with foremen. For they are not considered "employes" within the meaning of the law. Thus, the National Labor Relations Board will not hold an election to force an employer to bargain with a union of foremen.

Often Members

In the printing industry, foremen and even superintendents of composing rooms will often be members of the union. This is true also in the Government Printing Office here. In some instances, unions have tried to compel employers to force their foremen to join unions. The National Labor Relations Board has ruled that a union cannot force the employer to require supervisors to join a union. But the issue crops up just the same. Doubtless, the purpose is to weaken the disciplinary power of the foreman and to tend to make him acquiesce in "featherbedding" and other wasteful practices.

It seems strange that there should be any question as to where the foreman or the superintendent should sit at the bargaining table—with management or with the employes. It is even more puzzling as to why any union should insist on monopolizing the supervisory power and should seek to control the judgement of the foreman as he finds himself required by management to report constantly on what is going on in the shop. But this is the extreme to which monopolistic zeal has worked its way inside some powerful labor unions in America.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

No doubt this hot dry spell will be remembered for some time. The maple leaves, like Bob Browning says, are falling off, green as they are. I notice some maple leaves are turning yellow, much too early, and of course we like to see them turn red first. I notice the lawn in front of the City Hall looks like dry straw. Certain flowers seem to like it, like perhaps sunflowers. The ground has turned dry like after a sand storm, and watering does not seem to help. Every day it looks like rain, but doesn't. We need a nice quiet all night rain.

I notice that due to our hills, trees, river, and creeks, temperatures are different in various parts. The sun seems to leave downtown around 6 o'clock, but if you are driving up Broadway when you pass Delaware avenue, the sun is still there, good and hot and glares at you through the uptown section, while downtown has turned cool and pleasant. You ride toward the setting sun when you drive to Woodstock around show time. Eddyville and the Wilbur road is cool and pleasant during these hot dry days. The new topping on the Wilbur road makes it smooth sailing although I notice rocks have been dropped here and there as though off trucks making the "S" turns. They can be noticed because of their light color on the black top, and I hope they do not cut into the nice smooth road.

I notice those living near the Rondout Creek have nice flowers, and enjoy their porches, and many have row boats and motor boats and run across the road with their equipment. Some youngsters ran from their homes, with inner tubes for a swim. They say once you live near the water, you always want to live near it.

Several readers have spoken to me about The DeWaal Tavern which is going to be taken down, and the land black-topped for uptown parking. The picture of the building as it was can be seen in Picturesque Ulster, in Book 1, The City of Kingston. The entrance and windows have been changed in the last few years. As Mrs. Adam Porter of the DAR said to me, that there were two sets of steps leading to a small porch door entrance. I also spoke to Harry Rigby Jr. our city historian about it. The Dewaal Tavern is one of our old stone houses.

R. Lionel De Lisser, (graduate of The Royal Bavarian Academy of High Arts, Munich.) wrote in his Picturesque Ulster in 1896 about this famous Dewaal House or Inn, "celebrated in revolutionary times for its good cheer and hospitality, and later under the management of William Dewaal as the favorite terpsichorean resort of the old Kingstonians. The Dewaal Inn was burned in 1804, but rebuilt shortly afterwards."

Mrs. Porter read me an item which told about the Kingston Academy when it had its examinations and a big time was had over them in the entire Kingston with many strangers coming to Kingston. It wound up with a fancy social affair being held at the Dewaal Inn. Perhaps somehow, by someone, this historical structure, which is said to have had a spring floor can be saved, or preserved and the parking can be done around it. It would make an interesting local museum, or even some sort of recreation or rest place, or information building. I know it has been altered but it was one of the buildings from our Kingston's early history and I am sure is fascinating to strangers, just as it is. Remember the fascination of countries in Europe are their famous historic structures, for which Americans spend fabulous sums to see and brag that they saw them. Let us hold on to the little we have in our young country.

A teenage dance will be held at the park Tuesday 8:30 to 11 p. m. A hot dog and marshmallow roast will be held in conjunction with the dance.

Deadlock Ending Hopes Are Seen By Sen. Hatfield

Hopes of ending a deadlock between Poughkeepsie City and State Department of Public Works officials on which will pay the costs of lighting the north-south arterial highway in downtown Poughkeepsie, were seen Wednesday in a report from State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield.

Senator Hatfield said he would ask the State to accept an obligation to share with the City of Poughkeepsie the cost of providing lighting equipment and installation. The Senator noted that under the Hatfield law, the State Bridge Authority is assuming part of the city's share of costs of rights of way for the new highway.

Poughkeepsie's Common Council on recommendation of City Manager Kenneth Pearce has refused to approve a state-prepared resolution which would have obligated the city to install lights on poles put up by the state and to maintain the lighting system.

John D. Manning assistant district engineer of the State Department of Public Works, said it is standard practice for cities in which state arterial highways are built ot supply and maintain lighting fixtures and pay for electricity for the lights.

Inmates Give Blood As Favor to Deputy

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Inmates of Maricopa County jail came to the aid of a jailer when he received a $450 bill for blood transfusions.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Tweedy's son, Randall, 9, recently underwent successful surgery for repair of a leaky heart valve. Tweedy received a bill for 18 pints of blood.

Word went out through the jail grapevine and a petition signed by 165 inmates wanting to replace the blood so Tweedy wouldn't have to pay followed.

Nurses from the Southwest Blood Bank visited the jail and took the blood. They said three pints of blood were replaced for every one used.

IBM to Expand Kentucky Plant

Plans for a 154,000 square foot addition to its Lexington, Ky., plant were announced today by International Business Machines Corporation's electric typewriter division.

Construction will start immediately and will be completed in the fall of 1963. The main manufacturing and engineering facilities now contain approximately 731,000 square feet of floor space. The new addition will be used for production and engineering.

Among recent corporation promotions was the naming of John W. Hinchcliffe as manager of corporate promotion. He will be responsible for IBM's participation in the 1964-65 New York World's Fair and other corporate promotion activities.

Highland American Legion Sells Home

Lloyd Post, American Legion, has sold its home on Vineland Avenue, Highland, according to Commander Henry Gregorio.

Edwin J. Brown Inc., Hopewell Junction, purchased the Legion building and plans to convert it into an office for professional use. Work on the conversion will start immediately.

Filibuster Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh attacks by Sens. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., raised the threat today of another Senate filibuster against the communications satellite bill.

They spoke out as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee scheduled sessions to consider amendments tightening the bill's foreign policy controls before reporting the measure back to the Senate on Friday for resumption of formal debate.

HE LOST — Frank Duncan, son and lawyer of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, walks out of San Quentin Prison, Calif., after visiting his mother for the last time before her execution for the murder of her daughter-in-law. (NEA Telephoto).

Mother, Two She Hired to Kill, Die In Gas Chamber

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—A triple execution in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber Wednesday wrote the final chapter in a grotesque story of obsessive mother love.

Elizabeth (Ma) Duncan, 58, was executed for plotting and paying for the murder of her pregnant daughter-in-law four years ago so she could keep her youngest son to herself.

It was a futile killing. For Frank Duncan, now 33, married again.

Yet her love was reciprocated. Frank, with his present wife and law partner, Elinor Chandler Duncan, fought through the courts, trying to save her life, until two minutes before the execution.

But no tears were shed in San Quentin's little green-walled room when Ma Duncan died, shortly after 10 a.m., tight lipped and staring straight ahead into nothingness.

The tears came three hours later for one of the two small-time criminals who said Ma Duncan promised $6,000 and paid $360 for the November 1958 killing of Olga Duncan, 30, near Santa Barbara.

A half-brother wept when cyanide gas choked off the inaudible laughter of Augustine Baldonado, 28. Strapped beside Baldonado and talking with him was his fellow killer, Luis Moya, 23.

"It's all right," Baldonado had assured Daniel Ledesma, 35, of Port Hueneme, Calif., only moments before. But it didn't stop the tears.

Frank Duncan had met Olga Kupczyk, a Canadian-born nurse, when he took his mother to a Santa Barbara hospital suffering from an overdose of sedatives. They married June 24, 1958, against his mother's wishes.

Town Building May Be Finished By September 1st

The regular monthly meeting of the Rosendale Town Board was held Monday evening at the town clerk's office, Main Street, Rosendale.

Superintendent of Highways John Charlie Markle reported that work on the new town garage at Maple Hill was progressing satisfactorily and it is hoped that by Sept. 1 the building will be ready and become headquarters for the highway department.

Plans are being made to trade the Tillson Road which runs from the Tillson Post Office to Coons Garage to the county highway system and the town take over the county road which runs from Kallops Corners to Cornell Hill.

It is hoped that a new bridge may soon be built at the entrance to High Falls Park. It is planned that this bridge may be built by the county from surplus bridge money but the town will have to purchase the right of way.

All but two of the town constables have been fingerprinted and filed the proper oaths so that they may become full time peace officers.

A report was given that the state traffic commission is making a survey of all state roads and there is a possibility that the speed through Tillson may be increased to 50, miles per hour.

The following election inspectors for the Democratic Party were approved for the coming year: District one, Mrs. Veronica Gerber and Mrs. Hazel Kloepfer. District two, Mrs. Virginia Pradoni and Mrs. Sally Van Loan. District three, Mrs. Eva Born and Mrs. Catherine Foertsch. Mrs. Amelia Coddington, clerk.

A discussion was held in regard to the purchase of fuel oil and this will probably be purchased on annual bid contract.

Library Fair Is Slated Saturday

Preparations are being made for the fifth annual Rosendale Library Fair to be held on the library grounds Saturday from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Miss Beverley Pine, Miss Rosendale for 1962 will cut the ribbon for the opening of the fair.

The committee reports that donations for the different booths are now being accepted and it is hoped that donations may be increased for the candy fancy goods, produce, jewelry and antique departments.

Look Without a Window

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Hunter Look has this sign posted in his sporting goods store:

"Bat inspection free. Bat swinging, $33 per swing."

Look put up the sign after numerous customers broke his plate glass windows while trying out the feel of a baseball bat before buying it.

Scientific advances, contemporary problems and just plain everyday life add to our vocabulary words which were completely unknown to us as recently as five years ago. For example, a phrase, associated with the atomic age, became quite common in 1960, "atomic cemetery." Such a cemetery is a place where radioactive waste may be buried with the minimum danger of contamination.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Turn-Over Broiler Aids Mixed Grill

TURN-OVER broiler is ideal for easy preparation of mixed grill as well as for foods that need individual turning.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the quickest, easiest and most impressive party dinners is a mixed grill. All combinations include lamb chops. Plan to have everything cooked the same length of time instead of adding parts of the grill at different times throughout the cooking. To do this, use a modern turnover broiler.

Place the lamb chops, cooked sliced potatoes and sausages on the bottom rack of the turn-over broiler. Top rack is placed over the food and locked into place. When one side is cooked, you turn both racks and consequently turn the entire grill. This turn-over broiler is ideal for a mixed grill and also works well with hamburgers, hot dogs and other foods that require individual turning.

Mixed Grill
(Makes 4 servings or serves 2 generously)

4 loin lamb chops
8 small link sausages
2 medium - large potatoes, cooked
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Salt and pepper.

Arrange lamb chops and sausages on rack in broiler pan. Peel potatoes and slice each in half. Trim off rounded sides so potatoes will lay flat on rack. Brush both sides of each potato with melted butter or margarine; place on broiler rack. (If using turn-over broiler, place top rack over food and lock in place.) Place in preheated broiler with top of food 3 inches from source of heat. Broil 7 to 8 minutes. Turn foods and continue broiling 8 to 10 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A new comedy series about a pair of accident-prone carpenters will make its debut next month on ABC because a student of laughter believes slapstick is due for a revival.

Producer Leonard Stern, who has served under such generals as Jackie Gleason, Steve Allen and Phil Silvers, finds that comedy moves in a broad cycle.

"And big comedy—broad comedy — abdicated about three or four years ago," he remarked, blandly ignoring last season's slapstick disaster called "Oh, Those Bells."

His forthcoming "I'm Dickens He's Fenster" will frankly go after those big, unrestrained guffaws after a period of concentrating on more sophisticated humor, which Stern calls pallid because it elicits at best an amused chuckle.

"But with all the television they see, audiences won't accept a comic who comes out and trips for no reason or slides on a banana peel," said Stern. "We're going after the big laugh, but we're going to motivate it logically."

His main characters are skilled craftsmen. After all, there's no sense in outraging the nation's building tradesmen. Those boffo situations emerge in each weekly episode because one character is a worrier, and his mishaps are psychosomatic. That way it becomes a personality defect and no reflection on an industry or trade.

Stern apparently has been doing some practical observing. He has teamed up in the starring roles a stand-up comic named Marty Ingels with an all-around actor with a flair for comedy roles named John Astin. That formula worked out very well last season with "Car 54," which matched up comic Joe E. Ross and actor Fred Gwynne. It wasn't too bad, either, when Jackie Gleason and Art Carney did "The Honeymooners."

The Well-Known Face

MEMPHIS (AP)—A political candidate with headquarters in a hotel found himself short of cash. So, standing beneath the huge photographs that display his likeness all over the lobby, he asked a clerk if he could cash a check.

"Why yes," said the clerk, examining his signature. "Do you have any identification?"

Tartar Sauce Made Quickly

Tartar sauce, the perennial for fried or broiled scallops, may be made quickly by mixing mayonnaise with pickle relish plus minced onion and parsley. If there's a jar of olives in the refrigerator, mince some of these too and add.

56 Beauties Entered

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Fifty-six curvaceous contestants assembled here today for the Miss International Beauty Congress.

The young women will be greeted by city officials and later will be measured for playsuits they will wear in the contest.

The final judging is set for Aug. 18.

Thousands Held Up as Two Cars Derailed Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Derailment of two cars of a 43-car freight train delayed thousands of commuters from Hudson River points for 40 minutes to an hour today in reaching Grand Central Terminal.

The freight train, bound from Selkirk, N.Y., near Albany, blocked two of four tracks near the New York Central's Marble Hill station in the Bronx at 6:40 a.m., just before the morning rush hour. No one was hurt.

A New York Central spokesman said the tie-up delayed 19 inbound commuter trains.

Outbound schedules also were disrupted.

FHA Announces Appointment of State Director

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The Federal Housing Administration announced today appointment of Fred J. Martin as its New York State director.

FHA Commissioner Neal J. Hardy said that under a new organizational pattern the agency's insuring offices in Albany, Buffalo and Jamaica will be under Martin's control.

Martin's headquarters will be in Albany. He is a 49-year-old Long Island real estate executive.

Finnish Reindeer

Finland's reindeer, which are mostly domesticated, provide the Finnish people with food, clothing, household utensils, cash income and transportation. The animals can pull sleds up to 20 miles an hour on short hauls.

No Personal Injuries

Highland state police Wednesday afternoon investigated a traffic accident which occurred on Route 299, Town of Lloyd and reported no personal injuries. Troopers said a truck operated by David Edward Hughes Jr., 24, of 38 Boulder Avenue, this city, was attempting a left turn when it was involved in a collision with a car driven by Adrian Verdier, 33, of New Paltz.

Hyde Park Trooper Gets Post in Greene

Small Gifts Aids Changing Ways In Old Bekondo

WEST CAMEROON—A bag of nails costing $5.60 has helped change the lives of villagers in Old Bekondo, here in this newly-independent African republic. The nails made it possible for 30 latrines to be built—the first in the area.

They also put the proud seal of approval on self-help. For the latrines were dug and enclosed by the villagers themselves—after the bag of needed nails was provided by the Community Development Foundation, whose New York office is at 46th Street and United Nations Plaza.

This project is typical of the way this foundation operates: helping to provide large dividends in community development from small investments. The foundation is currently aiding some 265 self-help projects around the world that uproot the causes of low standards of living. It is particularly interested in projects where the beneficiaries are children, and where the self-help aspect is demonstrated by the recipients contributing, in the form of their own labor and materials, at least 10 times the equivalent monetary contribution from the Foundation.

In Old Bekondo, the health-improving latrine project rose out of the discovery that 49 out of 87 village children had died in five years—a 56 per cent loss. It was a UN advisor who led the community to this tabulation. From much communal talk with him, on why this had happened, flowed group decisions to do something about improving the chance of the remaining children, and those still to come.

The advisor, Willie Begert, is a social welfare expert who was supplied to this former UN trust territory under the UN technical aid program. To take advantage of his skill, the Community Development Foundation made available to him a small allotment to spark pilot projects which, in his expert judgment, might prove pace-setters for other communities.

What followed capsules the process by which a completely new community development program has been launched in the Federated Republic of Cameroon.

In his study of the villagers' problems, Begert used a group of 28 mothers as a sample cross-section. It was they who had borne the 87 children in 5 years, out of which 49 had died. In addition to this startling discovery, he noted many health conditions that needed improving if the community was to take its place in the modern world of progress.

Here are the highlights of what the villagers determined to do to help themselves as they came to understand the causes of their problems:

They would dig the 30 pit latrines and cover them. Begert had constructed two models, in the course of his meetings with the villagers, and they declared they could do the job themselves—if they had nails. It was at this point that the advisor advanced the $5.60 from the Community Development Foundation.

They would fence in their pigs, which were running free and constituting a clear health hazard.

They would build a fish pond so they could add fish (healthful protein) to their meager diet.

This is another instance in which the provision of a small missing link made the difference between a good idea and action to implement it. The villagers of Old Bekondo were eager to contribute all the unskilled labor that was necessary. But they also needed pipe and cement they had no money for.

The UN advisor was eager for this project to materialize too, for he knew from experience in other countries that success in Old Bekondo would start a chain reaction in other communities, and that the government would be nudged into helping where necessary.

After making sure that the villagers understood the responsibilities they were undertaking, he told the Community Development Foundation that a $70 outlay would meet all its criteria for a contribution; and they approved it. Now, the Cameroon Government has agreed to contribute the stock of fish.

To further improve their diet, the villagers decided to add to their plantings vegetables and fruits that were new to them. And the Foundation has invested another $14 for otherwise unobtainable seeds and seedlings.

Total contribution of the Community Development Foundation — $89.60.

The Community Development Foundation, whose international headquarters is at United Nations Plaza and 46 Street, New York City, is a non-profit, nonsectarian organization operating self-help projects in Greece, France, Lebanon, Korea, Egypt, Ethiopia, Morocco, the Cameroons, Tanganyika, in the Southern Mountain area of the United States, and among American Indians.

Could Be Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter W. Heller, President Kennedy's chief economic adviser, says present economic trends are "perplexing and inconclusive cross-currents" but they do not "sum up to a crisis."

But there is a possibility, he added, that the recent slowdown "represents advance warning of an economic decline."

And decline, he told a Senate-house Economic Committee on Wednesday, was another way of saying recession.

CHEMICAL COMPANY HONORED—Men of the 380th Chemical Company, honored Wednesday at the Staff Sgt. Robert H. Dietz, USAR Center, Flatbush Avenue, for their recent time in service, heard Gen. Sherman V. Hasbrouck, of Stone Ridge (center) U. S. Army (retired), tell of his early experiences in the military service. Arrangements for the occasion were made through Mayor John J. Schwenk (left center) who praised the men of the company for the time they spent in the service in this time of the cold war. Others who spoke included Senator Ernest I. Hatfied, Mayor Victor C. Waryas, of Poughkeepsie; Mayor Stanley F. O'Dell, of Beacon; Col. Russell B. Smith, of Camp Kilmer, N. J., Commander Frank Roedell, Kingston Legion Post; Tom Hughes, national aide de camp, VFW Post 1386; Herman O. Dietz, father of Robert H. Dietz, who won the Congressional Medal of Honor; Capt. M. Zdradowski, commanding officer of the 380th Chemical Company, and Jesse McHugh, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors. Senator E. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson were unable to attend. The 380th was the only company of reservists in the Central Hudson Valley to be activated in recent years. (Freeman photo).

Federal Action Gives Hope to Georgia Negroes

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Federal intervention in Albany's long and bitter integration fight renewed the hopes of Negro leaders today after city officials again slammed the door on biracial talks.

Clergymen from other states continued a pilgrimage to Albany, joining local Negroes and about a dozen outside organizations in the sustained desegregation thrust.

The first demonstration in three days came Wednesday in the form of a lunch counter sit-in, resulting in the arrest of two Negroes. There have been more than 1,200 arrests since last December, with 403 during the past month.

Long-sought federal help materialized Wednesday in the closing hours of a seven-day hearing on the city's effort to outlaw marches, boycotting, picketing and other protest activities.

Justice Department attorneys argued against the injunction in a brief filed with U.S. Dist. Judge J. Robert Elliott.

The attorneys questioned Elliott's jurisdiction and said even if he had authority to proceed, injunctive action "would still be precluded by fundamental principles of equity."

Water rose one foot a second during the Galveston, Tex., flood of 1900 in which 6,000 persons were drowned.

Hasbrouck and Block Parks Meet Today

Boys from Hasbrouck and Block Parks will be in competition today as a part of the Mayor's Physical Fitness Program. This is the first of a scheduled series of such competition and will take place at 7 p. m. in Block Park.

Competition is open to boys and girls between the ages of eight and 16 and includes push ups, sit ups, pull ups, squat jump, squat thrust, broad jump, hop-skip-and-jump, weightlifting, 100-yard dash, and the 220-yard dash. Prizes will be awarded in the various events according to three different age groups.

Apartment House Reported Planned By Insurance Co.

Reports today in the uptown area indicated interest in the selection of a site between Linderman Avenue and Pearl Street for the building of an apartment house.

One report from a reliable source said that an insurance company is interested in acquiring several acres of land for the project.

The city has an ordinance prohibiting apartment developments in residential districts composed of single-family homes or smaller type multiple dwellings, and it is expected that an amendment would be required if such a development is permitted in the uptown area.

An apartment house project discussed during the administration of former Mayor Edwin F. Radel was rejected. It was proposed for an adjacent uptown area.

City Court Cases

Arthur Gamble, 31, of 75 Hasbrouck Avenue, charged Wednesday with third degree assault, was sentenced to 60 days in jail today in city court. Police listed Virigina Hammock, whose address was not given as the complainant. Wayne Grant, 23, of 672 Broadway, also charged with third degree assault was given a suspended sentence of 60 days and placed on probation. The charge was lodged by Marie Grant. Hearing on a third degree assault charge against Louis Black, 25, of 169 Hasbrouck Avenue, was put over to Friday. It was lodged by his wife, Joyce, police said.

Rocket Explodes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An advanced model of the Minuteman intercontinental range rocket exploded in flight today about 40 seconds after it was launched from an underground silo.

The 58-foot, three stage rocket darted from the 85-foot deep hole and appeared to be flying smoothly when it suddenly erupted, raining hunks of fiery debris into the Atlantic Ocean several miles off shore.

Gotham Police Say Jersey Man In Dutchess Job

Apprehended by a patrolman following a candy store holdup in New York City Wednesday, Frank E. McCarthur, 32, formerly of Midland Park, N. J., reportedly admitted participation in a $35 holdup on August 9 at Pride Cleaners, 430 Main Street, Poughkeepsie.

Acting Police Chief McManus, Poughkeepsie, told The Freeman today that McCarthur's accomplice, Walter M. Jacobs, 50, formerly of Newark, Calif., wanted in connection with the Poughkeepie holdup, escaped capture last night.

Same Technique

McManus said New York authorities informed Poughkeepsie police officials, that McCarthur and the other man used the same technique used in the Pride Cleaner laundry, where they brandished a toy gun and robbed the store manager of $35.

Warrants were taken to New York City by Detective Francis Doerr, who expected to take statements from McCarthur regarding the cleaner's store holdup. McCarthur has admitted he was one of the two men involved in that job.

Chief McManus stated that McCarthur is held in New York City on robbery charges developing from the candy store holdup last night. "We hope to have first claim on McCarthur when he is released in New York," McManus said.

The acting police chief said the identity of McCarthur and Jacobs was learned after police found in a broken down getaway car after the Poughkeepsie robbery a registration certificate from California showing the car was owned by Jacobs. Also found in the car were syringes, insulin medicine and shirts reportedly stolen by McCarthur and Jacobs in an Albany robbery.

Albany police also want custody of the two men, McManus said. He stated that Mrs. Theresa Ahearn, manager of the Poughkeepsie store who was robbed more than a week ago, positively identified a photograph showing the two men. The picture of the two suspects was obtained from Connecticut authorities.

Wenzel Still Critical

Donald Wenzel, 8, son of former Alderman and Mrs. Joseph Wenzel, of 122 Hasbrouck Avenue, who was injured Tuesday in a traffic mishap at Hasbrouck Avenue and Theresa Lane, was reported still in critical condition at the Benedictine Hospital today. He is under treatment for internal, head and face injuries. A police report said the boy, carrying an umbrella, apparently ran across the street into the path of a car driven by Donald Gunzelmann, 19, of 18 Elmendorf Street. Gunzelmann was treated at Kingston Hospital for shock.

Harold Wilkins

The funeral of Harold Wilkins of Shokan, well known Phoenicia businessman who died Aug. 4 at Albany Hospital, was held Wednesday 9 a. m. from the Gormley Funeral Home, Phoenicia, thence to Our Lady of LaSalette Church, Boiceville where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul. The Rev. John S. Gorman, pastor, was celebrant. Sisters of the Convent of St. Ursula sang the Mass. The color guard of Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, Kingston and Saugerties Councils, formed an honor guard. During the repose, many called at the funeral home and numerous floral and spiritual tributes were received. Tuesday 8 p. m. Father Gorman called and led those assembled in the recitation of the Holy Rosary. At 8:15 p. m. the Rev. Richard J. Stewart of St. John's Church, West Hurley called and led the Altar Society in the recitation of the Rosary. The Phoenicia Rotary Club of which Mr. Wilkins was a past president called in a group. Burial was in St. Francis de Sales Cemetery, Allaben. Bearers were all members of the Knights of Columbus, Father Ginet Council of Phoenicia. Mr. Wilkins was a former Grand Knight of the council and had served as district deputy.

Memoriam

In loving memory of mother, Beverly C. Lowe, who passed away August 9, 1961.

Safe in the arms of Jesus,
Safe in His gentle breast;
There by His love o'ershadowed,
Sweetly her soul does rest.
We shall meet and know each other
When the trials of life are o'er;
We shall meet and know each other,
As we did in days of yore.

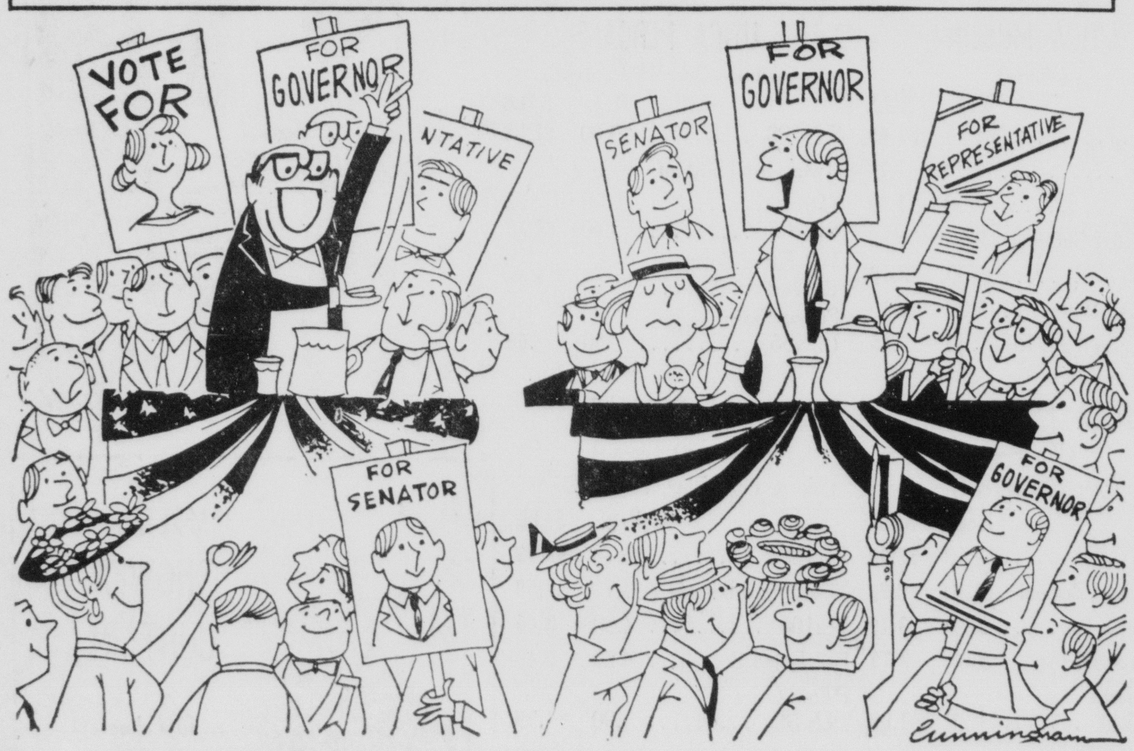
"POLITICS 1962"



"POLITICS 1962," a vital story that can affect the life of every American, is being told in daily dispatches to this newspaper by the experienced political writers of The Associated Press.

These dispatches are being filed from the nation's political nerve center in Washington, from state capitals, and from the campaign trails as they wind through the nation's big cities and way stops. They are carrying all sides of campaign debates to American voters, told fairly and clearly in the tradition of the world's greatest news service.

"Politics 1962" will rise in tempo. It will reach its climax Election Day, Nov. 6, when 38 U. S. Senators, 435 members of the U. S. House of Representatives, 35 state governors and many other officials will be chosen.

And as the millions of ballots are counted, AP's famous election returns system will gather results accurately and swiftly.

Watch for these stories of the political campaigns and the election results in

Two Are Injured In Auto Accident

Two persons were injured at 10:30 p. m. Wednesday when the 1957 sports car in which they were riding struck loose gravel off Witch Tree Road, east of Route 275, Town of Hurley and overturned after hitting a tree.

John W. King, 23, of Woodstock, owner and operator of the vehicle, was taken to Benedictine Hospital by the West Hurley Rescue Squad. He was treated for a possible fracture of the left arm and multiple abrasions and bruises. His condition today was described as fair.

David Bolster, 23, also of Woodstock, a passenger in the car complained of injuries of the left arm.

Trooper W. E. Wiedemann of Phoenicia reported the car was traveling north when the driver apparently swung too wide of a left curve causing the car to hit the tree and overturn.

Halley's Comet last appeared in 1910.

Reds Hand Algeria 6,500 Tons of Wheat

ALGIERS (AP)—Soviet Charged-Affaires Sergei Gaverin formally handed over to Algerian authorities today 6,500 tons of wheat. It was brought to Algiers in the grain ship Ugleuralsk, first Soviet vessel to dock in Algeria since the nation became independent.

There was a small mystery about the cargo of the Ugleuralsk, a ship of 11,800-ton displacement. She was lying as low as possible in the water and clearly carrying full capacity cargo of 8,000 metric tons. But the captain said he carried no cargo other than the gift of 6,500 tons of wheat.

34 Counties Eligible

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The number of counties eligible for federal drought-disaster aid stood at 34 with the addition of Schenectady county to the list.

Gov. Rockefeller announced Wednesday that U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman had declared Schenectady County a drought-disaster area.

3-Cornered Race For Assemblyman Looms in Greene

A three-cornered contest for the Assembly post loomed today as the result of petitions filed in Greene County by three candidates, Clarence Lane, Windham; Joseph Pavlak, Catskill; and William Freese, Cairo.

Greene County Undersheriff Pavlak was the first to declare himself a candidate for the Assembly seat to be vacated by William Brady, Coxsackie, a veteran of more than 20 years in the office.

Lane was the choice of delegates at the unofficial Republican convention last month, when he received 75 out of 148 votes.

Pavlak filed 765 signatures, Lane 771 and Freese 305. Only 205 valid signatures are required to designate a candidate for the primary, according to Greene County Attorney Charles G. Clay.

Lawrence C. Smith Jr., of Norton Hill, filed a petition with 554 names as the Democratic candidate for Assembly.

The primary is scheduled for Sept. 6 from noon until 9 p. m. for enrolled Republicans.

Police Still Seeking Trail of Road Thieves

Kingston State Police said today there were no new developments in the investigation of a complaint that a High Falls woman was assaulted and robbed early Wednesday as she drove along Mohonk Road over the Shawangunk Mountains.

Mrs. Mary Lou McKenna, of 12 Valley Road, High Falls, notified troopers that her car was forced to the side of the road by two men, who struck her on the head and took about $40 from her pocketbook.

Mrs. McKenna said she was on her way home from Walker Valley at the time of the incident.

Pictures Shown Of Space Object

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Space agency officials released photographs of a mysterious hand-sized object seen tumbling above the X15 rocket plane as it streaked to a record 314,750-foot altitude last July 17.

They said they could not identify or explain the object's presence in space.

The pictures were released after Air Force Maj. Robert Rushworth completed a routine X15 flight to 90,000 feet Wednesday and told newsmen he saw bits of insulation floating between the twin panes of the rocket plane's windshield.

The photographs, taken by a movie camera in the tail of the X15, show a gray-white object. They were taken as the plane, piloted by Air Force Maj. Robert White, roared up at 270,000 feet on his way to the record.

Officials said they could not positively identify the photographed object. Rushworth added that he did not believe the particles he saw were the same as the one White reported seeing.

One of the goals of Wednesday's flight was to build up heat on the steel-skinned X15. Temperatures rose to 900 degrees Fahrenheit, well below the 1,200 degrees plus the craft has undergone.

Retired Chief Dies

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — John A. Kinney, chief of police here for nine years, died yesterday at his home. He was 72.

Kinney joined the Syracuse Police Department in 1913. He was chief from 1945 to 1954, when he retired.

Bees Route Firemen From Burning House

BUDD LAKE, N.J. (AP)—Firemen dashed into a burning farmhouse Tuesday night—and dashed back out again.

A swarm of bees, angered by smoke and flames, routed the firemen.

"They were going down our necks, through our coats and into our trousers," said Fire Chief George D. Smith. About 20 firemen were stung.

The chief said the bees apparently had built a hive in the unoccupied building. The fire burned out the interior of the house.

Putnam Group Is Expected to Get Site Near Here

Negotiations for a portion of an 80-acre tract of land just outside of Kingston on Route 209 are expected to be closed in the near future it was announced today by a spokesman for Golf Course Properties Inc. This tract of land was discussed as a possible site for the Ulster County Community College.

Indications are that several persons in Putnam County are interested in acquiring the former Wiltwyck Golf Course property for the operation of an exposition involving the showing of business, industrial and trade products and merchandise, according to the spokesman.

Close to Closing

"Negotiations with the exposition people have been underway for the past 60 days and are close to becoming satisfactory to all parties concerned," he said. As of this date they continue as pending but the possibility of a deal with the exposition people was given as "imminent."

It was disclosed that an unofficial representative from the Ulster County Community College approached the corporation and discussed the possible use of the site for the college.

No Serious Consideration

A spokesman from the college explained that the site had been looked at but that it was not being given any serious consideration as a possible site.

He went on to explain that the college officials had looked at 25 different sites and that the sale or rental of this tract of land would not interrupt any present plans.

The land is also adjacent to another portion of the former golf course property mentioned in the past as a possible site of the Catholic High School.

Kingston's Own Circus Due to PlayHereMonday

Sunday morning the gaily-painted trucks and vans of the Hunt Bros. Circus will move into Dietz Stadium, and the following day the "magical wonders" of the world's "second oldest circus" will be presented for the enjoyment of the people of this area.

Monday, August 13, is the date for the annual showing of Hunt Bros. Circus, organized in Kingston almost a century ago by the late Charles T. Hunt.

Following the precedent of its founder, the show will arrive here on Sunday to allow show personnel to renew acquaintances with friends in the vicinity. Visitors to the show grounds on Sunday are welcome.

The 1962 version of the American institution known as the circus is billed as a "gay, glorious, glittering galaxy of Spangleland's brightest stars," and the famous Hunt Bros. herd of performing elephants will lead the day's program. Advance publicity notes that the circus will present an enlarged animal section, many aerialists and acrobats, and the usual laugh-provoking bevy of clowns.

Two performances will be given on Monday, at 2 and 8 p. m., with doors opening one hour earlier.

Seeking Burglary Clue

Investigation continued today with Kingston state police seeking some clue that might lead to solution of a burglary at Polkanettes drive-in restaurant on Route 28, Stony Hollow. Troopers said entrance was gained to the establishment by smashing a rear window. Vending machines were emptied of contents.

Medical Service Outlines Increased Rates, Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — On the eve of a joint legislative committee hearing, the United Medical Service (U.M.S.) has outlined the increased benefits offered in expanded New York Blue Shield (surgical-medical) contracts that also carry higher contributions from members.

The Joint Legislative Committee on Health, Hospital and Accident Insurance Plans holds a public hearing today on changes proposed in the Blue Shield plan, which is administered by the U.M.S.

At a news conference Wednesday, Dr. Leonard J. Raider, president of the U.M.S., defended the proposed changes and clarified the Blue Shield's intention to discontinue its so-called $2,500-$4,000 contract.

Some Contracts at Same Rate

Raider said the Blue Shield was not asking higher rates on some contracts to which members may transfer. He also said that it was some years since any increase in the rates for various coverages.

Noting that U.M.S has 11 major classes of differing contracts at varying rates, Raider explained: "We think there is a point at which we have to go to our people and say, 'you know this thing you've had since 1950, it's no good any more.' "

Plans to discontinue an old form of contract that gives paid-in-full allowances to individuals with a $2,500 income or a family with $4,000, and partial reimbursement to those of higher income, were called by Raider "an effort to raise the minimum level of medical care benefits."

Offers Three New Plans

U.M.S. offers three "new expanded" contracts at these paid-in-full levels, as well as three "expanded" $4,000-$6,000 contracts and two special indemnity contracts, it was noted.

As of June 30, U.M.S. counted 1,100,307 "old" $2,500-$4,000 surgical-medical contract holders, in a plan originated 12 years ago, and 710,887 holders of "expanded" $4,000-$6,000 surgical - medical contracts, it was said. All its contracts totaled 2,325,815.

Raiders reported that rates had remained the same since 1952 for the old $2,500-$4,000 contracts, while U.M.S. added benefits.

Likewise, he said the $4,000 $6,000 contract benefits had been increased without a rate increase since the expanded plan began six years ago.

Comparing the new expanded $4,000-$6.000 paid-in-full contract with the old $2,500-$4,000 contract, the individual monthly cost will be $1.68 instead of 88 cents; a couple pays $4.48, compared with $2 previously, and the family contract is $5.88 instead of $3.40, it was noted.

Slattery Leaves Conductor's Job After 49 Years

After nearly a half century of railroading, James J. Slattery, 21 Hammersley Avenue, Poughkeepsie, a native of Kingston, has retired as conductor on the New York Central Railroad. He recently made his last run as conductor on The Pacemaker.

One of Slattery's last passengers he assisted aboard the train at Poughkeepsie, was his wife, the former Mary Leahy.

Born in this city July 28, 1892, Slattery turned to railroading as a career in 1913, with the West Shore Railroad going from Kingston, Weehawken and Ravena. In 1916 he transferred to the Hudson division.

"I never thought I would see the day the railroad would stop passenger service on the West Shore," Slattery told a Freeman reporter.

Favorite Was No. 166

Slattery has worked as conductor on such trains as the Pacemaker, Lake Shore Limited and the Wolverine. He admitted his favorite train was No. 166, a commuter train which for years made up at Poughkeepsie at 5:40 a. m. and pulled into the Grand Central Terminal at 7:30 a. m.

"The commuters always were pleased with this train," Slattery said. "It seems courtesy was everybody's business and everyone had good manners. There was no shoving or pushing on getting on or off the train. Each commuter depended on the other.

The last three years, Slattery had been conductor aboard the Pacemaker, running between New York and Buffalo. Since 1935 he was conductor aboard various passenger trains and for the previous 12 years he was a freight conductor.

On his last run Slattery had as passengers in addition to his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Russell Schryver and many friends.

Golden Wedding Next Year

A large cake inscribed "Happy Retirement" had been sent to the conductor from Chicago. Throughout the years he was with railroads, Slattery's trains were not involved in a wreck.

Asked what his plans are for retirement, Slattery said, "I plan to catch up on my fishing and golf, and look forward to a visit with my son, Frank J., who is associated with the New York Central as assistant freight sales manager, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo."

"My wife and I are looking forward to next year, to observe our golden wedding anniversary," he added.

Concluding an interview, Slattery said, "I never thought I would see the day when Poughkeepsie runs on the Central would be replaced with Beeliners."

Samuels Is . . .

"that this same group gave the then Sen. Kennedy his first big boost in New York State in his quest for the presidential nomination.

Samuels, in his speech at Rochester, said the State Commission for human rights was established on a bipartisan basis "but has lost that character through political appointment."

Samuels, who addressed the Monroe County Non - Partisan Political League, said New York State was once a pioneer in civil rights but is lagging under the Rockefeller administration.

Library Fair Adds Features

Final arrangements for the Rosendale Library Fair which will be held Saturday from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. on the Library grounds in Rosendale are now being made.

Two new booths have been added this year. The booth of Edward Samuels, the artist who will do silhouette drawings in charcoal is exepcted to be a large attraction.

A new booth called Just for You, of which Mrs. Peter Mathews is chairman, will be a booth where any article which anyone wishes to sell may be brought. For information about this booth Mrs. Mathews may be contacted.

Donations are still needed for all the booths.

Priest's Slayer

Kruegler and the late Francis A. Kruegler of Troy, N.Y. Two of his sisters are in religious orders.

The young missionary, ordained in 1957, had served most of his five years as a priest in central Bolivia.

Father Kruegler's mission at Montero was only about 100 yards from a saloon. On Monday night he went to the saloon to complain of the noise and appeal to Saravia to stop selling drinks to minors. The priest also went to the police.

The bartender, in a drunken rage, got a gun and sought out the priest and shot him five times.

An uncle, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Anthony Kruegler, is pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Gloversville.

Financial and Commercial

By RICHARD HOENIG
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices held steady in an irregular pattern early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks showed a .2 gain at 217.9 with the entire advance centered in the industrials. Rails and utilities were unchanged.

Changes throughout the list were narrow with only a relatively small number of key issues moving as much as a full point.

The market seemed to reflect the latest reading of the economic indicators. The President's chief economic adviser called them perplexing and inconclusive, although he said they do not add up to a crisis.

Oils, aircrafts and mail order firms showed a slightly higher trend while steels, motors, electronics and utilities were off fractions. Falling into the mixed category were rubbers, metals, chemicals, tobaccos and rails.

Drug issues also failed to show a clear trend. They have been lower in recent weeks, partly because of adverse publicity. New regulations to strengthen government control of new drug testing were proposed early in the day. Merck showed a 1-point loss while Sterling was up about 1½.

U.S. Treasury bonds were higher in over the counter dealings while corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange were mixed.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall Street, New York City, branch office, 52 Main Street. Matthew F. Hasbrouck Jr., manager.

FOUR EYES—Eye glasses developed by the Bell Helicopter Co., permit wearer to see things as they are but with a superimposed second scene over the real view, to produce a controlled double exposure similar to a motion picture title appearing over a movie background. This is accomplished by projecting an image onto the surface of the lenses by optical or electronic methods. Device enables pilot to watch his instruments as he scans flight path.

Light District

be incurred by IBM, it was reported.

Supervisor Banyo reported that at a previous meeting the board had asked residents of the Town of Ulster Water District to restrict the use of water for lawn sprinkling and other unnecessary uses. The board discussed the findings of Harry Edinger, sanitation engineer, who with Superintendent of the Water District Albert Cross and Fred Wadnola, assistant engineer, had made quantity studies of the water supply in wells and recovery cycles.

The Board last night decided it is advisable to continue to follow the restrictions in the uses of water. The Board expressed appreciation to the people of the town for following the restrictions and noted that for the first time in three months the pumps had recovered sufficiently and a full supply of water is in the tank, with periods in the evening when the pumps shut down.

The board unanimously approved a finance resolution authorizing Supervisor Banyo to arrange for a 5-year note for the purchase of a new Reo dump truck and snow plow combination at a total cost of $10,672.

The supervisor was authorized to have the Pace Communication Co., make installation of one citizens band to a radio for test purposes, and if it proves satisfactory the purchase of four will be made.

In conjunction with the Common Council's discussion Tuesday night of complaints that noxious odors and dust were being diffused in the area apparantly from industrial plants, it was reported that Supervisor Banyo had communicated with the State Department of Health and requested that representatives come to the East Kingston area and make an inspection as soon as arrangments can be made.

The Common Council requested an investigation by and a report from Fire Chief James M. Brett, after complaints by Alderman Frank C. Adams (D-Fifth Ward) and other spokesmen for residents of the Ponckhockie section, that noxious odors and dust were being diffused from industrial plants in the area.

Wants Union Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—An AFL-CIO leader, whose union is an organizing target of the rival Teamsters Union, said today it is time all AFL-CIO unions combined in an open membership war against the teamsters.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America, said he plans to propose at the quarterly meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council beginning Monday in Chicago the formation by the federation of a Teamsters organizing committee.

Hurley GOP Club To Hear Wharton Aide August 14

Town of Hurley Republican Club will meet at the Hurley Reformed Church at 8 p. m. Tuesday, August 14 instead of at the Fire Hall in Hurley.

Peter Weider, of Glenford, club president, announced today, the guest speaker will be Bernhardt S. Kramer, assistant to Congressman J. Ernest Wharton and assistant Republican city chairman of Kingston.

Kramer, former Kingston city clerk and former Republican candidate for mayor here, has been the local representative of Congressman Wharton the last two years. He served as the Congressman's campaign chairman during the last election when Congressman Wharton defeated Gore Vidal, Barrytown playwright and author, Democratic candidate.

Rally Late Next Month

Weider said Kramer will discuss Congressman Wharton's record in Washington the last two years, and discuss current legislation pending before the House of Representatives and the stand taken by the Congressman on many vital matters now up for House action.

The club president also stated that preliminary plans for a major Republican rally and picnic have been discussed and final plans will be made at the Tuesday night meeting. According to present plans the rally will be held late next month at a place to be selected later in the Old Hurley area.

The committee in charge of the rally hopes to have a state Republican candidate for office in the November election, as principal speaker. Refreshments will be served after next week's meeting.

British Press Critical

LONDON (AP) — The British government came under mounting fire from its home press today as the deadlock continued over the fate of Dr. Robert A. Soblen, the runaway spy.

Several newspapers questioned Home Secretary Henry Brooke's insistence that the Israeli El Al Airline fly the psychiatrist back to the United States to serve a life sentence for spying for the Soviet Union.

Plate on Crypt

Lawford heard of Marilyn's death, she flew from the summer White House at Hyannis Port, Mass., to attend the funeral.

No Movie Stars Invited

But when she got here she found that neither she nor Peter was invited.

Marilyn's half sister, Bernice Meracle, and DiMaggio handled the guest list. No movie stars were invited — and none showed up.

Those in charge of the arrangements explained that if they invited one star, they would have to invite many, and to have a big crowd would mean a circus-like funeral.

Hurley Dental Clinic Slated on Aug. 15th

A series of dental clinics for preschool children ages four and five will be conducted at the Hurley Firehouse Wednesday, Aug. 15, Dr. E. Franklin Hall, commissioner of health of Ulster County, has announced.

Children participating in these clinics will have their teeth inspected, cleaned and will have an opportunity to participate in the program of decay prevention.

The children will be able to see dental equipment and have a chance to learn and understand the importance of dental health. In this way, they will become interested and look forward to future visits to the dentist.

Appointments for those interested may be made by calling: The Ulster County Health Department.

NAMED AFTER BEER: This choice cut of beef got its name from the place where it was traditionally served. In the early days of New York this cut of beefsteak was quite often served in taverns where porter (a very dark-brown beer) was sold.

Tobacco Shares Affected By British Smoke Report

Q) "I am concerned about our Reynolds Tobacco stock which seems to have declined more severely than the other tobaccos. Can you tell me why this should be?"—J. C.

A) Yes indeed, and very simply. Reynolds has declined more than other cigarette makers because it went up much faster and higher. Of the entire group, your company has for several years been considered the leader in marketing and in growth. Reflecting these factors, Reynolds got up to a level in 1961 where its yield was only 1½ per cent and its price-to-earnings ratio became 30, unprecedented for a tobacco stock.

The subsequent decline has been a correction of that overvaluation. It has been sharpened by the Britsh health scare on cigarettes which has affected all makers. Reynolds still sells at a lower yield than any other in its group and at a higher earnings multiple. I would certainly hold my shares.

Q) "I am 18 years old with a small savings account, 10 shares of American Telephone and 40 shares of Transitron. I know the latter is speculative but I won't need the money for many years. Do you think Transitron has good long-term growth prospects?"—S. B.

A) It is very comforting occasionally to encounter a young man like yourself who is capable of taking the long view. I am sorry to say that I am not impressed with the outlook for Transitron and I see little attraction in holding these shares. The company is a big and efficient maker of semiconductors, a business which has been hurt badly by intense competition.

In addition, four mutual funds have brought suit against the directors of Transitron for substantial damages, alleging that registration statements filed with the SEC in 1959 and 1960 contained false and misleading statements. The people who run Transitron are very able, but they've got a big job ahead of them to rebuild the company's earnings and public image.

Pomeroy Urges Pledge

Assemblyman R. Watson Pomeroy (R-Dutchess) on Wednesday urged the Republican State Platform Advisory Committee at an Albany session to include in the platform a pledge "to uphold and enforce the constitutional safeguards that surround our state's unmatched forest preserves." Pomeroy is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Natural Resources.

PSC Refuses 4 Firms To Run Bus Service

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission refused today to permit four Upstate bus companies to operate joint service between Buffalo and Albany, mostly via the Thruway.

F. Leonard Titus, a PSC examiner, said the companies had failed to show that the services of existing carriers on the route were insufficient.

Greyhound and New York Central, which now provide such services, had opposed the petition of the four companies—Western New York Motor Lines Inc. of Batavia, Central New York Coach Lines Inc. of Utica, Mohawk Valley Transit Inc. of Amsterdam, and Schenectady Transportation Corp. of Schenectady.

In other actions, the commission:

1. Authorized the Elmira-Watkins Glens Transit Corp. of Montour Falls to increase its 30 per cent discount for 10-trip, 10-day commutation tickets to 40 per cent, effective tomorrow.

2. Made permanent the temporary operating rights held by Central New York Coach Lines Inc. of Utica for a bus route between Little Falls and Fonda.

Drivers Get Applications

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Department reported Wednesday it had begun mailing renewal applications to about 1.9 million motorists whose drivers' licenses expire Sept. 30.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A candidate for mealtime variety this weekend is scallops, featured at many groceries over the country.

One national chain is featuring them at 59 cents a pound in its New York area outlets.

For those who insist on red meat, there is a wide selection of beef and pork cuts.

Ribs of beef (offered at 59 cents a pound by one chain) and round steaks are popular in the Northeast. Southeastern stores highlight rib and cube steaks and ground beef.

Midwestern markets are featuring chuck roasts and ground beef.

Pork features include smoked hams, picnics and smoked butts.

Poultry features are turkeys and fryers, with some shops highlighting rock cornish hens.

Garden production continues to generate a wide spectrum of seasonally priced fresh vegetables.

Lettuce, kale, escarole, endive, romaine, chard and okra are regional attractions. Carrots, radishes, celery, cucumbers and cabbage are also featured.

Other vegetable specials include artichokes, onions, tomatoes, sweet potatoes and peas.

Drowns in Old Canal

WATERFORD, N.Y. (AP) — David Ronson, 8, of Waterford, drowned yesterday in the old Champlain Canal in this Saratoga County village.

State police said the boy, son of Mrs. James Alston, apparently had gone for a swim. His bicycle and shoes were found on the canal bank. No witnesses to the drowning had been reported, troopers said.

PEACE IN THE PACIFIC—Two threatening situations in the Pacific have been eased by negotiation and compromise. Most serious problem was Netherlands New Guinea, where 1,000 to 2,000 Indonesian paratroopers had been dropped over the last three months to fight the Dutch. Indonesians wanted to make the area, which they call West Irian, part of their far-flung island nation. Under the settlement, it will be placed under United Nations stewardship for nine months. Dutch authorities will phase out their administration during the first half of the period, then Indonesians will begin moving in. Strong guarantees were made to insure the right of self-determination to the 700,000 native Papuans. To the northwest, Britain and Malaya have agreed to create a new federation formed of Malaya and, 450 miles across the sea, Sarawak, North Borneo and Brunei, former bastions of the British Empire. It will contain 10 million people. Britain will retain use of its huge Singapore naval base.

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A lady politician came to town this week with some startling news for the Captiol corps — women are more concerned than men with how the government spends our money.

This intelligence was startling because those who have attended the hearings, the marches, the debates and the other public events that take place here had evolved the following generalization:

—The flinty-eyed persons who pound the table and shout, "Cut spending before socialism overtakes us," generally are men. The soft-eyed persons who plead for more spending for the public schools, for day-nurseries, for the retarded children, generally are women.

From this generalization arose the political cliche — the men want to hear about balanced budgets and billions for highways. The women want to hear about schools, children, consumer protection, the arts, and see your smile.

The generalization and the cliche were thrown down by Sen. Janet Hill Gordon, who came to town to file her designating petition with the secretary of state and talk politics. Mrs. Gordon and Assemblyman Robert M. Quigley are in a hot race for the Republican nomination for the House of Representatives in the 35th congressional district.

She has been soliciting votes for 16 years so should know her subject. She said that the men are "more for or against a program which ties into an area in which they are interested."

"The gals seem to be quicker to want to know how much it would cost. That's understandable because they make out the budget at home," she said.

She was asked whether she encountered much bias for or against women politicians.

Women who had something to do with winning the vote for their sex are inclined to favor a woman candidate and men who are having domestic difficulties sometimes are hostile to a woman, she answered. But, she said, these are the only two situations in which votes are influenced by the fact a candidate is a woman.

WORDS TO STIR THE MASSES WITH — Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, in a magazine article, says that one of the major functions of political leadership is "to maximize the potential of one's fellowership."

Jumps, Is Drowned

MASONVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Charles Anderson, 10, of Jamaica, L.I., apparently became frightened when the boat he was in drifted from the shore of a pond, police said. He jumped from the boat and was drowned.

The accident occurrrd a few hours after he arrived at the pond near this Delaware County community Wednesday with his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Phipps, for a vacation.

The pre-emptive bid is a two-edged sword and can cut both ways. Thus, if East had failed to open with three clubs South would not have been crowded into a three spade bid and North and South would probably never have reached game.

Furthermore, information given by the pre-empt helped South so much that he was able to bring home his doubtful contract.

South won the first club trick and played ace and another trump. West was back in the lead and played the jack of hearts. Dummy's queen held the trick and South played the ace and another heart, ruffing in his hand.

By this time South had a pretty good count. West had almost surely started with six diamonds, four hearts, two spades and a club. Also, it was most unlikely that his six diamonds included both the king and queen.

If such were the case, East held a singleton honor. South laid down the ace of diamonds. Sure enough, East produced the king. Then South went to dummy with its last trump, played the fourth heart and discarded his losing club.

West was in and had to lead a diamond whereupon South was able to make his tenth trick with the jack of that suit.

Ida Cantor, Wife Of Comedian Dies In Sleep, Was 70

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ida Cantor, wife of comedian Eddie Cantor and the one for whom he sang his song "Ida" for many years, died of a heart attack in her sleep Wednesday. She was 70.

Cantor, also 70, suffering from a heart ailment himself for several years, collapsed in a state of shock when his wife was pronounced dead. He was placed under sedation in their Beverly Hills home. A nurse remained at his bedside.

The couple, childhood sweethearts on the streets of New York, married 48 years ago while Cantor was a struggling vaudeville comedian.

They had five daughters who with Mrs. Cantor figured prominently in much of the banjo-eyed comedian's humor. The eldest daughter, Marjorie, died of cancer in 1959.

Mrs. Cantor died in the family home where she had been suffering for some time with a heart ailment.

Her maiden name was Ida Tobias. Her father tried to get Cantor to quit show business and to go into the clothing business with him.

But the orphaned Cantor's widowed grandmother, Esther Cantor, put her foot down. Being a comedian, she said, was just as important as selling suits.

Cantor has been largely retired in recent years, spending his time writing books and articles reminiscing on his long career.

Survivors in addition to Cantor include the four daughters, Natalia, Edna, Marilyn, Janet and five grandchildren.

The woman who became known to millions as "Ida, sweet as apple cider, traveled thousands of miles with Cantor on his personal appearance tours.

She suffered a heart attack eight years ago while in Miami, Fla., for a Cantor benefit performance. She had a second heart attack four years ago and spent three months in a hospital in Los Angeles.

Man Fatally Injured

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Richard Burchfield, 36, of nearby Hamlin was injured fatally Wednesday night in a two-car collision at the intersection of Route 104 and a country road a mile west of here.

FLOATING HELIPORT—Sikorsky S-55 helicopter takes off from floating heliport moored on the north bank of the Monongahela River in downtown Pittsburgh, Pa., the only such structure in the United States. Heliport, measuring 160 feet in length, provides a landing area of 54 x 90 feet and connects downtown Pittsburgh with two major air terminals. A ticket office and waiting room for passengers are provided at left.

Heart Aid Apparatus In Pa. Police Cars

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said today it has equipped 94 state police cars with mouth-to-mouth apparatus to aid heart attack and other accident victims.

The units consist of an eight-inch plastic tube and mouth guard with an air passage into which an officer can breathe fresh air to victims.

Dairy Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department report today pointed up the growing seriousness of dairy product surpluses.

The report showed that the government held nearly two and a half times as much of these surpluses on Aug. 1 this year than a year earlier. Acquired under price support programs, the surplus stocks included 366 million pounds of butter, 105 million pounds of cheese and 556 million pounds of nonfat dry milk.

Typhoon Opel Kills 2 Japanese, Hurts 9

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Opel slashes across southern Hokkaido today, killing two persons and injuring nine.

About 2,500 miles to the southwest, Typhoon Patsy moved across the South China Sea toward the Red Chinese island of Hainan. It plowed through the Philippine Islands of Cebu and Samar, leaving hundreds homeless.

IZMIR, Turkey (AP)—Clutching a picture of Marilyn Monroe, a Turk jumped into the Aegean Sea Wednesday. Passersby rescued him.

The man was identified as Bayram Kandemir, 36, married and with three children. Friends said he had been in an acute state of depression and had been drinking since reading of Miss Monroe's

Approval Expected For Wheat Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers will vote—undoubtedly favorably—in a referendum Aug. 30 to reinstate a control program for wheat. The program was in effect until this year's crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman set this date for the referendum in giving up hope for congressional enactment of a new program in time for the 1963 crop.

Planting time is at hand for winter wheat, which makes up about three-fourths of the total production.

The referendum offers growers little choice other than acceptance of the program. If they approve the old program, they will be offered government price supports at a base rate of $1.82 a bushel. Should they reject it, the support rate would drop to $1.21 — and then it would be available only to those farmers who planted within acreage allotments given them under the rejected program.

Father of Judge Found Innocent In Extortion Case

COHOES, N.Y. (AP) — The father of a State Supreme Court justice has been found innocent of a charge of attempted extortion brought by a building contractor.

Harry Soden, 80, of Cohoes, father of Justice Harold R. Soden of Lake Placid, was exonerated Wednesday by Police Court Justice Frank L. Brandt, who ruled the evidence insufficient.

The misdemeanor charge had been placed aainst Soden, a real estate agent, by Ralph Moore of Cohoes. Moore charged that Soden had threatened to make public Moore's arrest record unless Moore permitted Soden to handle the sale of homes Moore built.

Hearing Slated Today in Lawson Trooper Transfer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Lines were drawn today for a court battle in which a veteran State Police officer is seeking to rescind his demotion and transfer by the State Police superintendent.

Justice Lawrence H. Cooke of State Supreme Court scheduled a hearing (2 p.m.) on a temporary court order staying the demotion and transfer of State Police Capt. John J. Lawson.

Lawson, commander of Troop K at Hawthorne since 1955, was ordered transferred to Troop A, Batavia, and demoted to his permanent rank of lieutenant.

That order was issued by Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr. in what a State Police spokesman called "an internal management problem."

The court order demanded that Cornelius show cause why the Cornelius action should not be set aside.

Gov. Rockefeller has supported Cornelius.

Lawson has been a member of the state police since 1929.

Woodstock Fire Co. 3 Auxiliary Officers

Mrs. Ann Stone was elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Woodstock Fire Department Company 3 at the auxiliary's regular meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were:

Catherine Ostrander, vice president; Teresa O'Brien, recording secretary; Greta Kaftan, correspondence secretary; Vaughn Hofele, treasurer (re-elected), Jacqueline Peters, sunshine secretary and Dorothy Wilbur, publicity chairman (re-elected).

The Executive Committee was retained and is composed of the president, vice president, correspondence secretary, Mrs. Wilbur, 1st member and Lenetta Lapo, 2nd member.

Greta Kaftan and Phyllis Howland served refreshments following the meeting.

Foundry Workers End Strike in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Four hundred employes of the Pratt & Letchworth Steel Foundry have ended a 16-day strike by accepting a new one-year contract that provides a four-cent hourly pay raise and increased fringe benefits.

The workers, members of Local 316 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, voted in favor of the contract, 154-96 Wednesday.

Senate Passes Bill On Ferry Sale in U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a bill that would permit sale in the United States of three ferry boats that once operated between Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Prescott, Ont.

The measure now goes to the House.

The boats were replaced in 1960 by a bridge between Ogdensburg and Johnstown, Ont. Because they were built and registered in Canada, the boats could not be sold to American interests for use in domestic trade.

Under the bill approved in the Senate Wednesday, the boats would be admitted to American registry and could be used in domestic coastal trade.

The boats were owned by the Prescott Ogdensburg Ferry Co. Ltd., a Canadian corporation wholly owned by the Ogdensburg Bridge Authority. They are the Fort Town, the Maple City and the Windmill Point.

Whiteface Mountain To Be Project Site

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Whiteface Mountain has been selected as the site of a summer project to develop quality standards for air pollution control, the State Health Department announced today.

Engineers and scientists of the Health Department, the Whiteface Mountain Authority and the State Research Center will conduct the study.

A department spokesman said the project's primary purpose will be to investigate possible use of Whiteface, one of the highest peaks in the Adirondack Mountains, as a control station for air sampling.

Jewish Camp Facilities Offer Swimming Pool

The second largest swimming pool in Ulster County has been a busy place during the first half of the summer at the Kingston Jewish Comunity Center Recreation Area, located high on Old Hurley Mountain.

Just three miles from the center of Kingston, the swimming pool and other recreation facilities on the 124 acre site are used five days per week from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. by the Jay Cee Cee Day Camp which has an enrollment of 128 children. From 4 p. m. until 8 p. m. family members of the Jewish Community Center and their guests may use the facilities on weekdays, and from noon to 8 p. m. on weekends.

American National Red Cross trained lifeguards and water safety instructors are on constant duty at the swimming pool, and the Camp Ranger, Joseph R. Moreau of Waterbury, Conn. is a trained first aider and a competant woodsman. In addition, a staff of 21 professional teachers and college students work as counselors and specialists with the day camp on a daily basis. Robert A. Kurland, egecutive director of the Kingston Jewish Community Center acts as camp director and supervisor of the family recreation department.

According to Kurland, the program and facilities offered to members of the Jewish Center could not be possible if it were not for the devoted volunteers who make up the center's board of directors, the camp committee and the family campsite committee. Attorney Seymour Werbalowsky is president of the Jewish Community Center Board, Mrs. Edward Weisman, chairman of the Camp Jay Cee Cee Committee, and Samuel Berger is chairman of the family campsite committee. Former City Judge Aaron E. Klein, who has been chairman of all these committees at one time or another during the past several years is president of the Jewish Community Council of Kingston, Inc. which is the parent body that supports and coordinates all of these activities.

Membership in the Jewish Community Center is open to any resident of Kingston and the surrounding area. The Center is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest. Membership information may be obtained by telephoning Center Director Robert Kurland at the camp between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. on weekdays, or by visiting the campsite.

Gives Up License

ALBANY—About to reach his 85th birthday on August 28, John S. Schouten of 103 South Third Street, Olean, has voluntarily taken himself off the highway by surrendering his driver's license to the State Motor Vehicle Department. He said he no longer wished to risk injuring others in possible traffic accidents.

Phoenicia

PHOENICIA — The James M. Cole three-ring circus is coming to town Aug. 14 under the sponsorship of the Father Ginet Council, Knights of Columbus. Two performances will be given at 2:30 and 8 p. m. on the recreational grounds behind the parish house. The circus will feature daring lady aerialists, the famed Jessie's one finger stand, clowns at their funniest, a great chimpanzee troup and the sensational Alfonzo in his death-defying balancing act.

The proceeds will be used to seal the community skating rink. This will practically insure foolproof ice skating next winter when the temperature is favorable. The Council urges local residents to buy tickets in advance since the local share of the proceeds will be greater on all such purchases. The tickets may be obtained from council members, the Columbian Squires, the Ladies Sodality, the Junior Sodality and at the rectory of St. Francis de Sales Church.

Phoenicia residents are looking forward with more than passing interest to the public opening of the Museum of the Catskills Saturday, Aug. 11, at Camp Woodland.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington P. Lasher of Poughkeepsie visited friends here over the weekend.

Plans are nearing completion for the book and cake sale being sponsored by the Phoenicia Library Association. It will be held Saturday in the McGrath Ski Shop beginning at 10 a. m. Browsers, buyers or both will find many books in many categories offered at low prices. All proceeds will go toward maintaining and furthering the work of the library.

Prominent business man, church and civic leader, Harold J. Wilkins, a resident of Shokan who conducted the Phoenicia Electric store here, died Saturday at the Albany Hospital. In respect to his memory the Father Ginet Council, Knights of Columbus indefinitely cancelled their picinic scheduled for the past Sunday. Mr. Wilkins was a member of the Council and former Grand Knight.

Accuses Kennedy Of Trying to Run One-Man Show

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y. (AP)—A Republican women's leader said today President Kennedy is trying to run a one-man show with his requests for increased delegations of power.

Mrs. Clare B. Williams, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, said in a speech prepared for a GOP women's club:

"The American people are becoming daily more aware of the dangers of the Kennedy system of government — particularly his efforts to run a one-man show.

"Already this year President Kennedy has asked the congress for 27 new delegations of power and made 74 requests for spending programs. The fate of our republic could well rest on this issue alone. . ."

Dairy Exhibits Planned by 4-H Clubs at Fair

READY FOR FAIR—Lucille and Anne Marie Sabino of the Lake Katrine 4-H Club groom their Holstein calves in preparation for the Ulster County Fair Aug. 15 and 16 at Forsyth Park. Cattle show will begin Wednesday 9 a. m. with 4-H showmanship. Dairy members exhibiting at the fair will participate in the dairy judging contest 1 p. m. Wednesday. (Freeman photo).

Dairy cattle make up the major exhibits of livestock shown at the Ulster County Fair. About 60 head of dairy cattle will be shown by 4-H members at this year's fair with every breed being represented.

The cattle and other livestock will arrive Tuesday night, Aug. 14 and will remain in place until Thursday afternoon. The cattle show will begin Wednesday morning at 9 a. m. The show will start with 4-H showmanship. This is a contest where the 4-H member is judged on the appearance of themselves, their animal and their ability to show and lead their calf. This class will be divided into three sections according to member's age and will be judged by Robert Kelder of Kripplebush, Wayne Kelder of Accord and David Mollenhauer of Rosendale, all experienced showmen and former 4-H Club members.

The judging of the dairy classes will start 10 a. m. Wednesday, Aug. 15 and will continue for most of the day. The judge this year will be Donald Wagner, a graduate student from Cornell University. He will judge both the 4-H and open class show.

The dairy members exhibiting at the fair may also participate in the dairy judging contest at 1 p. m. Wednesday. Each member will judge one or two classes of cattle and older members will be asked to give oral reasons for their placings. From this contest, high scoring individuals may be selected for further training in preparation for the New York State Exposition in late August at Syracuse.

The 4-H members enrolled in dairy projects receive instruction in feeding, fitting, management, judging and record keeping at local 4-H Club meetings and at county-wide training schools held throughout the year. Frank Coddington of Stone Ridge is the 4-H dairy leader in Ulster County.

Other Livestock

Other livestock to be exhibited at the fair are sheep, goats, rabbits and horses. Sheep, goats and rabbits will be in place on Wednesday, Aug. 15. The sheep and goat show will be held Wednesday beginning at 6 p. m. Donald Wagner will also judge this show.

Another big event which draws interest and attention is the 4-H and open class horse show. This show will be held on Thursday, Aug. 16 with the 4-H horse show starting at 8:30 a. m.

There will be approximately 25 4-H members entering their horses this year at the fair. The judge for the 4-H event will be Miss Ann Bentzen of Woodstock. The first class will be 4-H fitting and showmanship. This class is judged on: appearance or grooming of the horse; appearance of exhibitor and how well he or she seems to understand the job, and the presentation of the animal in the ring. Other classes will be conformation; pony, western and English horsemanship; western stock horse and English using pleasure horse.

The open class horse show will begin at 11 a. m. Larry Burgess of Cobleskill will be the judge.

Lions Hear About Bees and Honey

"Polination of agricultural crops is the greatest contribution of honeybees to our economy." This was brought out at a talk presented by Edward C. Rowe of Kingston at the weekly Lions Club luncheon Tuesday. Rowe, who has been a beekeeper for some 35 years, also pointed out that honey and beeswax production are also important.

He presented slides of his beekeeping operation, explaining the management needed in raising apiaries to produce honey and to provide for pollination. The importance of a good queen bee in raising a colony of bees was explained. He pointed out that a colony of bees normally consists of one queen (the mother of the hive), thousands of worker bees (sexually undeveloped females) which do all the work in the field and hive, and some drones (males) which mate with young queens. Since the one queen lays all the eggs in the hive, the growth and productivity of the colony is entirely dependent on her.

"The spring management practices involved," he noted, "are strengthening weak colonies and checking the food supply of the overwintering colonies." When necessary a sugar solution mixture of one part sugar to one part of water is supplied to the hives.

Proper Feeding

In explaining the summer management necessary, the importance of proper feeding conditions for bees was brought out. Important factors shown were: closeness and availability of food (nectar and pollen-bearing plants), weather conditions and landscape or topography. These conditions will determine the strength and health and quantity of bees, which in turn will effect the total bee population and honey production.

The food getting activity of bees was discussed as Mr. Rowe pointed out that "a bee will cover a radius of three miles in securing food and will always return to its original hive or colony."

In the fall after the honey and beeswax has been produced, it is processed and extracted at his plant. The quantity of honey produced by a hive may vary but one group of 25 hives that he processed yielded a ton and a half of honey.

For the winter months the colonies are packed (covered with tarpaper) and an adequate feed supply (honey) is made available to each hive. Bees can withstand cold weather as it was brought out that a temperature of not less than 57 degrees is maintained inside the bee hive.

That agricultural people are dependent on honeybees is indicated by the fact that many colonies of bees are rented to orchards for the blossoming period or season.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If tax rates stay at present levels—as Washington dispatches say is likely for the rest of this year at least—how else can the economy get the desired added umph?

A faster pace is held needed if jobs for all are to be found, or if a feared but still highly speculative recession is to be averted.

Tax cut advocates say their prescription would do the trick. Others see this doing as much harm as good because of the greater Treasury deficit a tax cut might bring.

Labor leaders urge higher consumer spending power as the answer—increased take home pay, either through less tax withholding, or higher wage scales, or both.

The battle over the need for tax cuts now or next year is just part of the basic conflict between labor and management over what would really make the economy spurt. The goal is to soak up present unemployment and find enough new jobs to take care of a hoard of newcomers to the labor force in the next few years, and also to improve the United States' position in international trade and financial markets.

Labor leaders stress the need for more purchasing power in the lower-income brackets where any increase in take home pay usually finds its way quickly into market place. Union leaders hold that management is primarily intent on increasing profits. They are skeptical that this will produce many, if any, jobs. A tax cut by adding to spending power would increase retail sales, and thus industrial output, and hence jobs, union spokesmen say.

Business would welcome a tax cut, too, as improving its net income. But tax rates are applied to gross earnings—and these are dependent upon sales, prices and operating costs. And many businessmen charge that this mix is growing much too thin.

High tax rates cut into net profits. But so do rising operating costs when they mean that even increasing sales volume results in no more, and perhaps even less, profits for those who take the risk—so says the NAM.

That's why some hold that tax cuts by themselves won't do the trick of getting the economy rolling as fast as the planners would like.

Outdoor Concert Is Scheduled Sunday By West Point Band

WEST POINT, N. Y. — The U. S. Military Academy Band will present the seventh in its series of Sunday concerts this Sunday at 7 p. m. in the Trophy Point Amphitheatre, West Point. The featured soloist will be SP5 Thomas Stevens playing J. Ed. Barat's trumpet solo, Andante et Scherzo.

The Band, under the baton of Lieut. Colonel William H. Schempf, will play the Overture to Leonard Bernstein's Candide, the Second Suite in F for Military Band by Gustav Holst, and Carl Friedemann's Slavonic Rhapsody No. 1; and a medley of selections from the Lerner and Loewe musical My Fair Lady will be performed. Colonel Schempf will conclude the program with Jerry Bilik's arrangement of service songs entitled, Salute to the Services.

All are cordially invited to attend.

Brooks - Voerg Nuptials Announced

Miss Dolores Mae Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brooks of Saugerties, wed William Voerg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Voerg, Saugerties, in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, July 14 at St. Mary's Church in Saugerties.

Officiating was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Plover, pastor. Barbara Genther was organist and Mrs. John Nau was the soloist.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

Mr. Brooks gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white gown of pure silk organza over summer taffeta. It was designed with a circlet neckline, fitted bodice, abbreviated sleeves and a bouffant, hooped skirt in chapel length. Her silk illusion veil was gathered to a seed pearl crown and she carried white stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Carolyn, was maid of honor. She wore a pale orchid nylon mist over taffeta styled with abbreviated sleeves, scoop neckline, pleated bodice, and full ballerina length skirt. A large silk rose held a chapel veil. She carried orchid rosebuds.

The birdesmaids were Dorothy Oliveri, Alice Brooks, and Arlene Voerg, sister of the bridegroom. The girls wore gowns of canary yellow identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried arrangements of yellow rosebuds.

The bridegroom's niece, Bonnie Voerg, served as flower girl in a pale aqua gown styled with very bouffant skirt, fitted bodice and circular neckline. She carried a princess basket of mixed rosebuds.

The bridegroom's best man was his brother, Donald Voerg of Saugerties. Ushering were Vincent Voerg, another brother, John Sheeley of Kingston. Eugene Oliveri was ringbearer for his aunt.

Approximately 130 guests were received at a reception given in the Mt. Marion Inn. Afterwards, the couple left on a wedding trip to Cape Cod. For traveling the bride wore a gray and white pin-stripped suit with contrasting accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Voerg is a graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed by Ferroxcube Corporation. Her husband, an alumnus of Saugerties High also, is attending the Albany Pharmacy College.

Mr. and Mrs. Voerg will reside on Virginia Avenue in Saugerties.

CHURCH SOCIETY MAKES FALL PLANS —Meeting to discuss details of the fall schedule for members of the St. Joseph's Altar-Rosary Society are the new officers (l-r) Mrs. Walter Dougherty, secretary; Mrs. Donald Sweeney, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Decker, president; and Mrs. Joseph Misasi, treasurer. Plans include a Day of Recollection, bake sales and card parties. Official activities for the group will resume on Monday, Sept. 17 when the membership will meet in the basement of St. Joseph's School at 8 p. m. (Freeman photo).

Art Exhibit Is Planned by County Association Here

The 15th annual outdoor exhibit of the Ulster County Art Association will be held on Academy Green on Saturday, Aug. 18 and Sunday, Aug. 19 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. At least 40 exhibitors are expected to participate and members are planning on making it the best show in their 15 years of existence.

All members who wish to have their names and pictures listed in the printed program are urged to contact Miss Margaret Finn of Kingston by telephone any day at 12:30 but not later than Monday, Aug. 13.

The Ulster County Savings Institution is again inviting us to select pictures for showing in the bank the week following the outdoor exhibit. These pictures, as heretofore, will be voted on by patrons and the ones receiving the largest number of votes will be awarded cash prizes.

Phoenicia Offers Play

Phoenicia Playhouse re-opened last night with John Osborne's play, LOOK BACK IN ANGER. The drama is responsible for placing its author at the vanguard of the "angry young men" movement. LOOK BACK IN ANGER is considered the manifesto of the angry young men and the play never fails to provoke debate as to the merits or demerits of their cause.

The central role of Jimmy Porter was taken by Jim Stark, who was featured earlier this year as Geoffrey in "A Taste of Honey." Mr. Porter was the Broadway understudy in A TASTE OF HONEY and spent time in England with the author of last night's play.

Also appearing in the production are Tina Mandas, who starred as Serafina in THE ROSE TATTOO and Lynn Kevin and Walter McGinn.

I do not doubt for a minute these youthful artists have a great deal of talent. Their training and ability shine through their lines and I would fully expect to see these actors and actresses on Broadway some day. They have a tremendous potential.

Last night's production, however, lagged so terribly, the second act was just finishing at 11:10 p. m. Although the curtain didn't go up until almost 9 p. m., action on stage just crept too slowly.

For me, the play created not an atmosphere of surging undercurrents, unrest and anger, but one of calm, silent retreat. I venture to say the author intended his characters to convey a feeling of inner torment, not just resignation. I think Walter McGinn came closest to this feeling even without speaking a word.

Phoenicia Playhouse has a possible hit if inner fires of emotion can be lit by the director in each of his actors. A play with a message, good talent, excellent set and lighting, SHOULD add up to a top box office attraction. Weekend theatre-goers, I am sure, will see a polished performance.

Mt. Cathalia Playhouse

Mt. Cathalia Playhouse brought off-Broadway to Ellenville this week with Esther Kaufman's hilarious comedy hit "A Worm in Horseradish." The management has been fortunate in securing this outstanding play for presentation as a venture into the off-Broadway field of endeavor. Off-Broadway theaters in New York started several years ago with an experimental group, and have in a relatively short time become an outstanding phase of show business, giving both playwright and actor a showcase.

"A Worm in Horseradish" opened a successful run at the Maidman Theater in New York City on March 13, 1961, having in the cast at that time such outstanding stars as Eli Mintz (Uncle David of the Goldberg series), and Celia Adler.

The story revolves around a family living on the lower east side of New York City in 1906. Their poor but pleasant home is a haven for strays, friends and relatives. One of the strays is a lost immigrant who asks to stay overnight and remains for several months. The friction that arises between him and a hypersensitive aunt results in some of the funniest comedy scenes ever written.

Like most families of that period, they have a boarder who has been living with them for many years. He is a young doctor and is urged to marry a rich girl. What the father does not know is that his own daughter is in love with the young man. His joy is touching when he learns of their engagement and the guffaws are plentiful when he plans to keep them apart until the wedding.

An all-Broadway cast, including Sigmund Revlis, Miriam Kassell, Bonne Benov, Richard Cataldi, Phillip Benson, Karl Freedman and Suzanne Barr, has been assembled for the production.

"Worm in Horseradish" will be presented thru Friday at 8:30 and Sunday evening at 7:30. There will be two performances on Saturday evening at 7:30 and 10:30.

The delightful Broadway favorite "Wedding Breakfast" will succeed "A Worm in Horseradish" the week of August 14 to be followed by "Two for the Seesaw", August 21-26, and "The Champagne Complex," August 28-September 2nd.

Mrs. Maude Stratton Feted

The Mature Parent

The Adventures of Maya the Bee

(EXCERPT 4: "THE ADVENTURES OF MAYA THE BEE")
BY WALDEMAR BONSELS

"And yet," said Hannibal the daddy-long-legs," "it was my undoing. The man grabbed me. He lifted me by one of my legs, dangled me in front of his huge eyes, and said, 'See, what's here, just see what's here'. And he grinned — the brute! — he grinned with his whole face as though it were a laughing matter."

Maya kept quite still. Her head was in a whir. "Have human beings such immense eyes?" she asked at last.

Please think of me in the position I was in," cried Hannibal, vexed. "Try to imagine how I felt. Who'd like to be hanging by the legs in front of eyes twenty times as big as his own body and a mouth full of gleaming teeth each fully twice as big as himself? Well, what do you think?"

Awful! perfectly awful!"

"Thank the Lord, my leg broke off," said Hannibal. "There's no telling what might have happened if my leg had not broken off. I fell to the table and then I ran as fast as my remaining legs would take me and hurled threats of violence at the man. They saved me my threats did, the man was afraid to run after me. I saw him lay my leg on the white paper and I watched how it wanted to escape—which it can't do without me."

"Was it still moving?" asked Maya, prickling at the thought.

"Yes. Our legs always do move when they're pulled out."

"Impossible," said the little bee, quite scared, "an offen leg can't move."

"An offen leg? What is an offen leg?"

"A leg that has come off," explained Maya, staring at him.

"Don't you know? At home we children used the word offen for anything that had come off."

"You should drop your nursery slang when you're out in the world and in the presence of cultured people," said Hannibal severely. "I see you're not a fit person to associate with. . ."

"It isn't altogether easy to get along with strangers," Maya thought. "They don't think the way we do and don't see that we mean no harm."

Martino-Gaddis Wedding Announced

Miss Laura Elizabeth Martino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Martino of Saugerties, wed Harold I. Gaddis of Ruby on Sunday, Aug. 5 at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston.

Officiating at the 2 p. m. ceremony was the Rev. James V. Keating. Angelo Altomarie was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of chiffon over taffeta. The bodice was styled in circular lines and was accented with appliques of lace with seed pearls and sequins. Sleeves were three quarter length and the skirt was very bouffant. A cap of sequins held a fingertip veil of silk illusion.

The bride's sister, Marie M. Perpetua, was the matron of honor. She wore a violet ballerina length gown with satin cummerbund, and a leaf cap trimmed with seed pearls and flirtation veil.

Cosmo Perpetua, the bride's brother-in-law, was best man. Ushering were Cosmo Perpetua Jr., the bride's nephew, William Gaddis, the bridegroom's nephew.

Approximately 125 guests were entertained at a reception given in Aiello's Restaurant.

For her wedding trip to Canada, the bride wore a beige suit with matching accessories and an orchid.

The bride was graduated from St. Patrick's in Catskill. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High, is a plumber.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaddis will reside in Ruby, N. Y.

LT. GOVERNOR CHATS WITH DELEGATE—Discussing the possibility of his speaking at a future meeting of the Town of Hurley Republicans Club, is Lt. Governor Malcolm Wilson, at left. With him is Mrs. Raymond LeFever, county vice chairman and chairman of the Speakers Bureau for the Ulster county campaign; and the Hon. Verner Ingram of St. Lawrence County and member of the Assembly for the past six years. (Podgurski photo).

Women's Federated GOP Clubs Hold Summer Conference; Area Delegates Attend Sessions

The summer conference of the Federation of Women's Republican Clubs of New York State, Inc., was held last week in Massena. Attending as delegates from Ulster County were Mrs. Raymond LeFever, third judicial district director and vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee; Mrs. John Schomer, president of the Ulster County Women's' Republican Club; the Mmes. William A. Krum and Josef Knubbin, and the Misses Alice Scardefield and Cordelia Feltman.

One of the highlights of the conference was a section entitled: "Campaign Rockets," led by Mrs. Ronald Buchner, chairman. The term "rockets" was used to refer to the 10 judicial district directors. Mrs. LeFever, who represents the third district, gave a progress report covering this area. In her address, she also discussed the rehabilitation of Albany as contained in a report made by the Temporary State Commission; the acquisition of property for state purposes in downtown Albany; proposed plans for the Albany Riverfront Arterial Project; the improvement and uplifting of the state capitol; removal of slum areas and building programs.

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller addressed the delegates at a luncheon the second day of the conference. His topic was "Republican Women and the Future of the Republican Party."

PUTTING END TO HEATED POLITICAL ARGUMENT

Q: What can a hostess do when guests in her house get into a heated argument on politics? The other evening after dinner this very thing happened in my house and I was really at a loss as to know what to do. I tried several times to change the subject, but to no avail—instead the argument grew more heated and I thought they were going to come to blows. I would appreciate any help you have to offer in handling a situation of this kind.

A: After your attempts to change the subject had failed, you would have been fully justified in telling your guests in language as forceful as necessary that you are not interested in politics and will they please stop arguing about them in your house.

Asking Guests Not to Send Presents

Q: My husband and I will soon be celebrating our golden wedding anniversary with a small dinner party for our family and a few close friends. I plan to call the guests on the telephone and invite them verbally. I do not want them to send us presents. Will you please tell me how I can let this fact be known?

A: When you telephone your friends and relatives simply say that you would love to have them come to dinner on such and such a date to help you and your husband celebrate your golden wedding anniversary, and add that you are requesting everyone please not to send presents.

A Letter to the Pope

Q: I would like to write to the Pope but do not know how to properly address him. Will you please be good enough to give me the correct form of address, salutation and close?

A: You address the envelope to, His Holiness, Pope John XXIII, Vatican City, Rome, Italy. You begin your letter, "Your Holiness" or "Most Holy Father" and close, "Your Holiness' most humble servant."

Area Residents May Compete in Dutchess Fair

Residents of this area are invited to compete in most sections of the Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck, Aug. 21 through 26, and two sections are particularly attractive for the home gardener and homemaker. They are the flower shows and the arts and crafts show.

Details may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Joseph Bruyette, superintendent of entries, Rhinebeck. Flower show entry blanks must be mailed by Aug. 19, while arts and crafts entries are to be on file by next Tuesday.

There will be competitive flower shows on Tuesday and Thursday of fair week—with a wide selection of horticultural and artistic classes for both shows. On the last two days of the fair, Saturday and Sunday, a special invitational show is scheduled, with leading artists of the valley to display their arrangements. There also will be competitive classes for junior gardeners.

Section for Amateurs

There are two sections to the arts and crafts—fine arts, and household arts and crafts.

There is a section in the fine arts show for professionals only, with classes for portraits in any media, oil, water colors, pastels and prints. Ribbons only are to be awarded in this.

There also is a section for amateurs, including all of the classes and others for ceramics, a miscellaneous class, and commendable exhibits for children eight to 12 years, and children in the 12-16 year group. Cash awards are offered.

The household crafts include classes for table linens and luncheon cloths, bed linens, pillow cases, towels, centerpieces, modern rugs, needlepoint, wall hangings, sewing, knitting and crocheting, miscellaneous articles, antiques, a junior group, many culinary classes and special awards for furniture refinishing.

Six candidates for the title "Centennial Farm Queen" at the 117th Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck will wear dresses popular to the era of 1862, during the first three days of the fair. While the fair runs from Aug. 21 through 26, the queen will be judged during the first three days with the crowning to take place on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock before the grandstand.

Secret Until Friday

If you attend the fair Tuesday through Thusday, you will have an opportunity to cast your ballot for one of the six candidates. At least one of the princesses will be in a special booth in the Centennial Farm center tent near the Administration building at all times on those first three days.

The results of the voting will be kept secret until Friday night when the queen is actually crowned. Albert Cole, Red Hook, will present the six candidates to the audience at the grandstand and Lee L. Leachman, Rhinebeck, president of the fair, will crown the queen.

On Saturday and Sunday, the queen will attend several functions on the fairgrounds, but will wear a new "country" dress instead of her antique costume.

The princesses seeking the title are Mrs. Norman Benson, Dover Plains; Mrs. Morgan Culver Jr., Stanfordville; Miss Jeane E. Hahn, Pleasant Valley; Miss Patricia Hedges, Pine Plains; Mrs. Andrew Skidmore, LaGrangeville; and Miss Joyce M. Sleight, LaGrangeville.

Girl, 4, Drowns

WILLSBORO, N.Y. (AP) — Elaine Mary Weiskotten, 4, of Syracuse, fell from a boat dock into Lake Champlain Wednesday and drowned while playing with a friend.

The girl had been vacationing here with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Frank Weiskotten, police said.

ArgentineLeaders Vie for Control Of Ground Forces

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Rival army leaders engaged today in a new struggle for leadership of the nation's ground forces and the commanding voice in President Jose Maria Guido's military-dominated regime.

A rumored intra-army feud broke into the open Wednesday when dissident commanders rebelled at the leadership of Gen. Juan Bautista Loza, war minister and army commander in chief.

Loza quit both posts Wednesday night, and the dissidents said they were satisfied the crisis would not erupt into open conflict. The roots of the crisis—deeply divergent views within the army on the future course of the nation—remained.

Defense Minister Jose Luis Cantilo took over temporary command of the war ministry and summoned top army commanders to a conciliation meeting today.

Man Fatally Hurt Holstering Pistol

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP) — Russell Alvin French, 26, of Canajoharie, was injured fatally Wednesday night when, police said, a pistol discharged as he put it into a holster.

The bullet struck him in the abdomen.

Police said French had been showing the pistol to his brother, William, 23, at his home.

He died at a hospital here.

Vassar Willed 75G By Illinois Woman

GENEVA, Ill. (AP) — Vassar Collage in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., receives $75,000 under terms of the will of Mrs. Stella S. Sencenbaugh, heiress to the merchandising and industrial fortunes.

Mrs. Sencenbaugh died at her home in Aurora July 23 at the age of 80.

Her will, filed yesterday in Kane County Probate Court, showed she left an estate of more than $6 million.

DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION
WATER RESOURCES COMMISSION

In the Matter of the Application of HILLSIDE ACRES WATER COMPANY (William Zang)

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to Section 451 of the Conservation Law, the Water Resources Commission will meet in the Grange Hall at Lake Katrine in the town of Ulster on the 22nd day of August, 1962, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day for the purpose of hearing all persons, waterworks corporations, municipal corporations or other civil divisions of the State of New York that may be affected by the execution of the plans of William Zang, doing business as Hillside Acres Water Company for the taking of a source of water supply for distribution in a real estate subdivision, known as the Hillside Acres subdivision in the town of Ulster, Ulster County, by the purchase of such supply from the facilities of the City of Kingston and for the construction proposed in connection therewith, plans for which have been filed with the Water Resources Commission, at its office in Albany, N. Y., where the same are open for public inspection; and for the purpose of determining whether said plans are justified by public necessity, whether they provide for the proper and safe construction of all work connected therewith, whether they provide for the proper protection of the supply and watershed from contamination or provide for the proper filtration of such additional supply, whether they are just and equitable to the other municipalities and civil divisions of the State of New York and to the inhabitants thereof affected thereby, and whether they make fair and equitable provisions for the determination and payment of any and all legal damages to persons and property, both direct and indirect, which will result from the execution thereof.

All persons, waterworks corporations, municipal corporations, or other civil divisions of the State of New York, who have objections to the execution of said plans, in order to be heard thereon, must file such objections thereto in writing and in duplicate in the office of the Water Resources Commission in the city of Albany, New York, on or before the 21st day of August, 1962. Every objection so filed must particularly specify the grounds thereof.

No persons, waterworks or municipal corporation or local authority can be heard in opposition thereto except on objection so filed.

Finigan Resigns OCS Post; Accepts Position at Dryden

The resignation of George D. Finigan of West Hurley, business manager of the Onteora Central Schools District, has been accepted by the Onteora Board of Education.

The resignation becomes effective Oct. 1, following a 30-day vacation terminal leave.

The board has named George Smith of Gloversville as successor to Deming.

Finigan has accepted the position of business manager in the Dryden Central School system near Ithaca. William H. Deming, former supervising principal at Onteora, now holds that post at Dryden.

In a letter to the board of Education, Finigan said his resignation was prompted by a desire "to further my education."

"The time has arrived Finigan wrote, "when it has become impossible to remain here and at the same time continue my work in the Doctoral program."

Finigan will pursue his doctorate in education at Cornell University, which is located only seven miles from Dryden. He presently holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Hartwick College in Oneonta and studied in the doctoral program at Albany State College.

Finigan has been in the Onteora Central school system for five years and during the 1961-62 school year held the positions of assistant to the District Principal in charge of business, Adult Education director and District Clerk. He started in the OCS system as a teacher in the business department.

The Dryden Central School system has a current enrollment of 1,800 pupils but an expansion program now in progress is expected to hike the enrollment to 2,500.

Native of Oneonta

A native of Oneonta, Finigan graduated from Oneonta High and Hartwick College. He was a member of the golf varsity at Oneonta High. He served three years with the U. S. Marine Corps during World War II and saw foreign duty in Japan. Finigan is married to the former Judith Gaffney of North Abington, Mass. and they have two sons; Michael, 3, and Jim, 1.

Following the reading of Finigan's letter of resignation, Trustee Anne Larys moved that it be accepted with regret and Finigan be granted a 30-day vacation terminal leave and that a letter of appreciation for services rendred be forwarded to him. The motion was seconded by Trustee Arthur P. Knight.

Finigan's letter, addressed to Philip Gordon, president of the Board of Education, read as follows:

"I wish to tender my resignation as assistant to the District Principal in charge of business for the Onteora Central Schools, effective Oct. 1, 1962, with my one-month annual vacation being taken in September, 1962.

"Leaving Onteora after five enjoyable years is a difficult move, indeed. If it were not for my desire to further my education, I would no doubt remain here for many years to come. The time has arrived, however, when it has become impossible to remain here and at the same time continue my work in the Doctoral program.

"I have decided, therefore, to accept the position that will enable me to continue in this program.

"My association with the Board of Education and co-workers at every level has been a most pleasant one. Onteora offers one of the finest education programs in the country. This program is certainly a credit to a far-sighted, educationally determined Board of Education and to the excellent staff it has provided. I am proud to have been a member of this staff.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Board of Education for the many courtesies it has shown me and to extend my best wishes for success in the building program for which we have all worked so hard."

Maverick Trio's Concert Pleases Music Critic

The Trio combination of John Wummer, David Sackson and Joseph Wolman — flute, violin and piano, respectively—through the high standards of their performances and the variety and interest of their program, has become a popular ensemble both in New York and Woodstock.

Their program, presented last Sunday, ranged from the 18th century Trio Sonata by Teleman to the 20th century Vaughn Williams and Martinau. Also included were the Variations on "Ihr Blue Mein Alle" for flute and piano by Schubert and the Six Miniatures for flute and violin by Louis Haber, which was dedicated to the performers.

This rich and varied program offered an opportunity for each of the performers to display his skills and insight into the works, so different in style, structure and content. The Piano-Violin Sonata by the late English Senior composer Ralph Vaughan Williams, who wrote this work at the age of 83, is rarely performed. It impresses as a substantial, well constructed sonata of big proportions. On first hearing, the two first two movements seem stronger than the last, where the inspiration appears to have run out and a rather repetitious pattern of model harmony (elsewhere well integrated) culminates in monotony.

Charming Numbers

Louis Haber's Six Miniatures in Duet form for flute and violin is an effective set of short numbers, charming and spiced with sardonic humor, although somewhat reminiscent of Prokofief and Shostakovich. The audience response to it was frankly happy and they laughed, giggled and chuckled. The presence of the composer added a feeling of intimacy.

Martinau's Madrigal Sonata for Flute, Violin and Piano, although written in a strictly tonal idiom has nevertheless contemporary flavor. It radiates an iridescent bouyancy. The "magic flute" of John Wummer, deservedly famous, interpreted with delicacy and sensitive musicianship each work.

David Sackson's playing had authority and interest, especially in the Vaughan Williams opus. The familiar and popular Joseph William, proved not only that he is a fine pianist, but that he can meet with admirable flexibility the demands of a highly varied program. . . . SALVADOR LEY.

Taxpayers Set Annual Election

The annual election meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association will be held Saturday, Aug. 11, 8 p. m., at Deanie's upstairs.

The nominating committee will make its report at this time. Other important business items are on the agenda.

Meanwhile, reservations are being accepted for the Association's annual dinner on Saturday, Aug. 18 at 8 p. m.

Fred G. Freitag, past president and dinner chairman, has announced that Richard Knauf, president of the New York State Taxpayers Association, will be the princial speaker.

Axel Announces Committees for Costume Ball

Committee chairmen for the costume ball which the Woodstock Artists Association will hold at the Aty Students League on Saturday, Sept. 1, have been announced by Milton (Mutzy) Axel, general chairman of the gala which is titled "An Autumn Happening" Costume Ball.

Tickets for the affair which will benefit the Woodstock Artists Association and the Woodstock Artists Welfare Fund are available and may be obtained at the Association Gallery or from any member of the committee.

Committees which are in process of formation include these chairmen: Tickets, Gladys Plate; entertainment and decoration, Tom Doyle, Mary Robinson and Tommy Beere; music, Robin Wettereau; tables, Sara Mulligan; food, Eugene Ludins; publicity, Cecile Forman and James Bird; murals, Arnold Blanch and Reginald Wilson; security, Kenneth Downer. Richard Crist is serving as treasurer for the event.

A feature of the decorations which are expected to be very unusual will be eight murals which will be painted by Woodstock's top artists. During the ball these murals will be auctioned off to the highest bidders. This was a dramatic point in last year's entertainment.

Woodstock artists and their frends are already at work designing imaginative costumes for "An Autumn Happening" Cosume Ball. Special prizes by well known artists will be awarded to those whose costumes are judged the best.

Turnau's Final Double Bill Is Top Drawer

In its final week of summer repertory, Woodstock's Turnau Opera Company is offering two modern operas — Leonard Bernstein's Trouble in Tahiti and Ravel's L'Heure Espagnole. These works make an ideal pair for they are both essentially comedies and readily accessible but startlingly different in style and content. Both were thoroughly entertaining in Monday evening's performance.

Trouble in Tahiti is a terse and moving portrayal of a man and wife, assailed at every turn with banal amusements but unable to communicate with each other. Words and music, both by Bernstein, are effectively united in a combination of humor and pathos. For humor, we liked the wife's number in the hat shop with its delightfully irrelevant Latin American refrain and the husband's cynical aria in the shower about winners and losers. Barbara Owens' staging of these scenes had a lot to do with their success. For pathos, take the tender duet, Can't We Be Kind, and the wife's "soliloquy" on the psychiatrist's couch, There Is a Garden.

The music is in Bernstein's best musical comedy style, sometimes biting and dry and a little jazzy. His academic training is betrayed by his use of canonic imitation in the duets—this is almost a mannerism but nonetheless effective. Phyliss Rappeport's piano accompaniment was on a high level both technically and stylistically.

Rodgers Outstanding

Lou Rodgers as the wife was outstanding. This is her best role to date for it gives her an opportunity to demonstrate her talents as a comedienne and as a serious actress—the part calls for both. Her voice quality and intonation were excellent. Eugene Green, who played the husband, has a big ringing baritone although the role gave him little chance to show it off. Nevertheless we enjoyed hearing it and his acting was superb.

The TV Trio—William Appel, Alan Baker and Carolyn Chrisman were very good with their forced smiles—particularly Miss Chrisman who offered a crooning "commercial" sound instead of her usual operatic soprano.

Clever Music

The Ravel opera is completely frivolous—a good example of French sophistication although the subject is Spanish. The music is extraordinary clever, full of Spanish rhythms and other allusions — such as the Chopinesque touches which were admirably played by Yehudi Wyner, the pianist and director. In place of set numbers, Ravel offers a supple declamation of the words above a fluid and deceptively inconspicuous accompaniment. The high point musically is the final quintet with its simultaneous trills and some real counterpoint in the best Mozartian tradition.

Among the singers, L'Heure Espagnole was undoubtedly Carolyn Chrisman's show. She played the flirtatious wife of watchmaker Alan Baker in true Spanish "spitfire" fashion. Her acting and dancing were brilliant and her voice presented some new resources—dark and sultry low tones a la Carmen. Baritones Alan Baker and Eugene Green, bass Rolland Hurst and tenor William Appel were excellent in character roles. Appel has the right kind of lyric tenor for the part of the poetry-spouting would-be lover.

Credit is due Elaine Summers, the dramatic director, who skillfully injected Spanish dance movements in the action.

—VICTOR LANDAU.

Fire Company No. 1 Purchases Improve Emergency Services

Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 has voted to purchase two large oxygen tanks to improve emergency service, especially the administration of oxygen.

Action on this vital matter was taken at the monthly meeting this week. The company also authorized purchase of the necessary equipment for local refilling of the tanks of the resuscitator and the inhalator when they become empty.

At the present time, these two pieces of equipment have to be taken out of town for re-filling, thereby causing the loss of several hours of their use.

Under the new system this loss of valuable time will be avoided. The tanks will be filled in the fire house from the new tanks. This will insure that the supply of oxygen will be constantly maintained at full capacity, ready for use at all times.

In the absence of Fire Chief George Haythorne, who is on vacation, Captain Chet Wolven reported there were 12 alarms during the month of July. They were classified as follows: 5 brush fires, one building, one car, one false alarm, one cooking utensil on stove, two still alarms. The company also responded to the alarm for the lost boy in Napanoch.

It was voted to have the annual picnic on Sept. 9 at the Woodstock Estates.

Edward Varncy was elected a member of the company.

Legion Carnival Friday-Saturday

Woodstock's Annual Carnival will be held for two days this week on the grounds of American Legion Post 1026. Starting at 6 p. m. on Friday, Aug. 19 the Carnival will resume at 3 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 11.

Post Commander Bob Bartlett of Lake Hill said today that this year's presentation is lavish with entertainment and booths offering prizes and refreshments for all ages.

Annual Fair Is Set by Rebekahs

The annual fair and roast beef dinner of Agapae Rebekah Lodge, Bearsville, will be held on Thursday, August 23, at the Bearsville Lodge Hall.

The fair will open at 2 p. m. There will be a home baked goods table, miscellaneous table, jewelry and other tables. Dinner will be served at 5:30 p. m.

The Post Auxiliary will hold a cake sale.

Rios Loses No-Hitter In Seventh

Gene Rios of the 35 Club was just one out away from a Babe Ruth League no-hitter against the Vols Wednesday evening at the Athletic Field.

Then, boom, he was fighting for his life.

John Eccleston broke up Rios bid for the 0-hitter with a single. Dick Koyon walked. Rios uncorked a wild pitch and both runners moved up a base. Rod De Veau singled and a 5-1 ball game was now 5-3

But Rios' troubles weren't finished—not yet. Dan Fiore scratched an infield hit and the game ended when DeVeau tried to reach third base on the hit and was out Ken Heppner to Paul Hopper.

Rios walked seven and struck out 12 to get the verdict over George Dall, who whiffed nine. Vince Crantz had a single-double combination and Joe Amendola crashed two singles for the winners.

Mrs. MacFadden Leading in Gross Division on 69

Mrs. William D. (Chris) Harris of Twaalfskill leads the Ulster County Women's Golf Association championship by four strokes at the end of the first round and there are strong indications she may be about to terminate Wiggie de Lisio's three-year reign as Queen of county women golfers.

The brilliant Port Ewen shotmaker rebounded from an outgoing 45 Wednesday at Wiltwyck Country Club to carve out a spectacular 37 on the incoming nine for gross 82 which put her four shots ahead of the defending champion, Mrs. de Lisio, and Mrs. Roland Riegel of Shawangunk, who carded 86s.

The net leader at the halfway mark is Mrs. Elbert MacFadden of Twaalfskill, a 26-handicap golfer, who fired a 69 with a neat 48-47-95—gross to go with her 26 stroke allowance.

Two superbly played 9-iron shots for birdies on the back nine, while Mrs. de Lisio climbed to 45, secured Mrs. Harris' lead. Mrs. de Lisio made the turn in 41 but a "9" on the par-5 seventeenth hole ruined her day.

Mrs. Harris' first birdie was a 9-iron shot that landed lesss than 2 feet from the cup on par-3 eleventh hole. On the par-four 15th, another beautiful 9-iron planted her ball almost stiff to the pin.

Never Over Five

While she had three 6s on her front nine card, Mrs. Harris, who once swept three consecutive county Invitations, never went over a "5" on the home nine. It was touch and go with Mrs. de Lisoi until the treacherous 17th, where Mrs. Harris got safely down in 5.

Mrs. de Lisio's third shot took a crazy bounce into the cavernous trap fronting the 17th green and she needed four shots to get out. With two putts she finished with "9." On the front nine, Mrs. de Lisio birdied the long par-5 seventh.

Mrs. Riegel, the Shawangunk Country Club champion, meanwhile, toured the exacting Wiltwyck layout in two 43s. With the tournament concluding on her home course next Tuesday, she must be conceded a good chance of winning the brass ring.

Mrs. Harris led the 1960 tournament by two strokes at the halfway mark but finished second to Mrs. de Lisio. But yesterday she displayed a bouyancy and confidence in the back nine which indicated she will be hard to overcome.

In fourth place in the net division is Mrs. Gerald Gruberg with 103-28-75. Mrs. Prescott Newell, Wiltwyck, is all alone at 97-21-76. Four players are tied with 77s: Mrs. George Rifenbary, Wiltwyck, 96-19; Mrs. Inger Walker, Woodstock, 95-18; Mrs. Arthur London, Wiltwyck, 117-40; and Mrs. Charlotte Lapine, Wiltwyck, 95-18.

Fifty nine players competed in yesterday's first round in hot, humid weather. Two players dropped out from the original field of 60 and another was added.

Gilda Himes Leads

Gilda Himes' 468, with 157, 158, 153, was No. 1 series in the Summerettes league; team results: Woodstock Lanes 2, Safeway School System 1; Woodstock Pharmacy 0, Ted's Service Center 3; Woodstock Packing 3, P. J. Weider 0; Deanie's Dillies 1, Mower's Market 2.

VanAken's 5-Under 135 Paces WCC Qualifiers

Five-time champion Bill Van Aken fired a sparkling 5-under-par, 36-hole score of 135 to capture medalist honors in the club championship qualifying round at Woodstock Country Club.

The veteran Hurley shotmaker carved out rounds of 69 and 66. In the second round, he toured the village links in 34-32, carding five birdies, a bogie and 12 pars. On his first swing around the course he bagged birdies on the second and seventh hole and picked up his only bogie on the No. 8 hole.

On the second nine, Van Aken collected birdies on No. 3, 5 and 6 to go with six pars. He will meet Jay Van Wagenen, who qualified with 77-77-154 in his first round match.

Defending champion Herb Waterous was automatically qualified and posted 73-68-141 in quest of the medal.

Other qualifiers in the championship flight included:

Greg Rios Pitches Second Consecutive LL No-Hitter

Ladies and gentlemen, please step up and meet the Wonder Boy of the area Little League baseball!

Take this Greg Rios lad of Sickler's Delivery in the American Little League.

Not only did he achieve a Johhny Vandermeer job (two consecutive no-hitters) on the Lions Club Wednesday evening. But at the plate, he was a mere "3 for 3" with two doubles and a home run. Even Mel Allen would be tempted to bellow his famous "How about that?" about Rios' performance.

Young Greg allowed only one base on balls, struck out 14, and lost a shutout when the Lions sneaked across a run in the first inning.

The Sicklers, meanwhile, parlayed 9 hits and two walks into nine runs, with a big 5 cluster in the fourth, Mike Kelly slugged a single and triple and Mike Bailey had two singletons for the winners.

McCullen Bags Ace at Wiltwyck

William (Bill) McCullen, one of Wiltwyck Country Club's top ranking golfers, fired a hole-in-one on the 177-yard, par-three 8th hole Wednesday evening.

The IBM executive aced the hole with a beautiful 6-iron shot that cut through a slight breeze, landed on the green and skipped into the cup on the first short hop.

Lloyd Findhold, who was playing a twosome with McCullen, followed with a shot that rolled to within 2 feet of the cup.

Davis Pitches JCC 3-Hitter

Glenn Davis hurled a 3-hitter and fanned 8, as the Hawks scored in every inning to rout the Eagles, 11-2, in the Jaycee Little League Wednesday in a five-inning contest.

Home runs by Bruce Gilligan in the first and Al Mitchell in the second enabled the Hawks to jump to an early 5-0 lead. Eagle relief pitcher Mike Hawkins collected the only hits for the losers, a pair of singles and a double.

Ken Gilligan played a sparkling shortstop and hammered out a single-double combination. Bruce Gilligan and Mitchell each had a single in addition to their circuit clout. Jay Kenik, who was chased from the box in the third, was charged with the loss.

Staten Island Post Eliminates Kingston in Legion Play

State Champions Score 6-1 Win At New Rochelle

History has a way of repeating itself, even in sports, but the Kingston American Legion nine would just as soon forget about it.

The defending champion Huttner-Pasqualini Post of Staten Island eliminated the Old Capitol Motors-sponsored squad, 6 to 1 Wednesday in New York State competition at New Rochelle. They did the same thing a year ago.

The Staten Island tossers now head for the state finals against Buffalo's Plewacki Post at Cooperstown Saturday. The Buffalo team downed Henry C. Smith Post of Rome in the other semi-final game, 4 to 0, at Geneva.

Stan Matuslowski and Tom Edwards limited Kingston to four hits, three of them for extra bases, but were untouchable except in the sixth inning when Dom Berardi, who had pinch hit a triple scored Kingston's lone run.

Broberg Triples

Eric Broberg slammed a triple and George Tomson hit a double. Vince Smedes' single accounted for the other Kingston safety.

Staten Island greeted Lonnie McAndrew with three runs in the first inning and picked up three more off Ted Bream in the fifth. Wayne Johnson pitched a perfect seventh inning.

Joe Sollozzo and John Woodman collected two singles each for the defending champions.

In the other semi-final, Buffalo hurler Ken Stuhlmiller held Rome to four hits and drove in his team's' first run with a bases-loaded bunt in the second inning. John Buczkowski drove in two more runs with a triple in the inning.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Bob Gibson, Cardinals, blanked Pittsburgh 2-0 on three hits for fourth shutout, striking out 10 while walking only two.

BATTING — Felix Torres, Angels, stroked five hits—three singles, double and triple—in 5-1, 7-5 doubleheader sweep over Chicago White Sox that moved Angels back into second place in American League.

LA Angels Are Still Up There

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

These Los Angeles Angels just won't cooperate at all. Just keep doing things their own way.

"They'll never last," said experts as Bill Rigney somehow placed his oddly assorted crew of heroes hot on the heels of the American League-leading Yankees. But they clung there, week after week.

"See," chortled the pundits late last month when the Angels went into a mild slump, the Yankees got hot and Los Angeles quietly slipped back to third.

"Be lucky if they can hold third," the line went.

But now, all of a sudden, the Angels are back in second place, trail New York by 4½ games and once again have to be considered a major factor in the race.

They regained second by sweeping a doubleheader at Chicago, 5-1 and 7-5 while Kansas City chalked up its sixth straight victory, a 4-3 triumph over Minnesota. The Yanks split a pair with Baltimore, winning the first 3-2 and losing the nightcap 4-3. Boston beat Cleveland 6-0 while Detroit took a pair from Washington, 6-5 and 10-3.

Killerbrew Raps 30th

At Kansas City, Ed Charles stole home with the winning run with two out in the ninth inning as the A's dropped Minnesota to third. Hermon Killebrew's 30th homer of the season had tied it for the Twins in the top of the ninth.

Bill Skowron's two-out single in the ninth drove in Roger Maris with the winning run as the Yanks won the first against Baltimore. Marshall Bridges (5-0) got credit for the victory after taking over in relief in the ninth.

Baltimore won the nightcap on a four-run fifth inning and four innings of no-hit relief pitching by veteran lefty Billy Hoeft.

Gene Conley (10-10) struck out six, walked only two and retired 13 men in order over one stretch in pitching Boston past Cleveland. Gary Geiger led the Red Sox attack.

Detroit rushed in four runs in the first inning, built around Vic Wertz' homer, then got two more on Norm Cash's 31st homer in the fourth in the first-game victory over Washington.

A 15-hit attack made it easy for Phil Regan (6-8) to go the distance for the Tiger triumph in the second game.

Trotter Dies in Roosevelt Race

A two-year-old filly dropped dead in a stretch drive Wednesday night jarring the tension that has been mounting for two $50,000 races scheduled at Roosevelt Raceway this month.

Merrydell Damsel fell to the ground while leading the field in a "Baby Race." Driver Vernon Dancer was thrown from the sulky uninjured.

A track veterinarian said the filly, owned by the Merrydell Farm, Richboro, Pa., probably died of a heart attack.

Tension has been growing the last few weeks as Roosevelt Raceway prepared to stage the $50,000 American Trotting Championship Saturday and the $50,000 Roosevelt International Trot Aug. 18.

Harness results Wednesday night:

Vernon — April Maid ($7.60) raced hard in the stretch to win a Class A-B1 handicap pace by a length in 2:01 4-5. Levi Harner drove.

Saratoga—Freight Prince ($10) won his second straight by taking the $3,000 North Creek Trot with Bill Current in the sulky. Time for the mile was 2:06 3-5.

Roosevelt—Truly Rainbow ($10.60) registered an impressive 2:01 4-5 to win a $3,600 Class A-3 pace. Walter Welch drove.

Batavia — Lucky Layne ($5.10) led all the way to win the $1,500 Class B-2 pace with Tom Dufford driving.

Joe Nuxhall Is Still Good After 19 Years

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

At age 15 Joe Nuxhall exchanged his knickers for a major league uniform. Now, 19 years and some gray hairs later, the knuckleballing left-hander has turned into somewhat of a phenom again for the Cincinnati Reds.

The 34-year-old veteran, reclaimed from the minors recently, hurled 7 1-3 innings of shutout ball before giving way to relief ace Jim Brosnan as the third-place Reds made it three consecutive whitewash jobs against Houston with a 4-0 triumph.

The National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers moved 5½ games in front by making the most of four hits for a 3-1 triumph over Philadelphia while the New York Mets used the home-run weapon to subdue second-place San Francisco 5-2.

Elsewhere in the NL, Bob Gibson's fourth shutout, a three-hitter, gave St. Louis a 2-0 triumph over Pittsburgh, and the Chicago Cubs belted Milwaukee 12-4.

Roseboro Homers

The Dodgers went ahead to stay in the second when Johnny Roseboro homered after a single by Frank Howard and closed out the scoring when Maury Wills singled, stole second and eventually scored on a sacrifice fly by Willie Davis. Stan Williams (11-7) won it. Jack Hamilton (6-10) was the loser.

Frank Thomas and Felix Mantilla each hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning, and that was enough for the Mets as Roger Craig (7-17) went the distance and checked the Giants on seven hits. It was Thomas' 27th homer. Orlando Cepeda hit his 22nd for San Francisco and Harvey Kuenn hit his sixth but it wasn't enough for Bob Bolin (6-2).

Gibson (14-8) walked only two while striking out 10 in beating the Pirates and Al McBean (11-8). McBean lost it when the Cardinals pushed across the game's runs on an error in the sixth.

A 14-hit attack, including home runs by Ernie Banks, No. 28, and Ron Santo did the damage for the Cubs while Glen Hobbie (4-11) limited the Braves to seven hits. The loser was Bob Hendley (8-8).

Annual Washburn 500 Sweeps At Rhinebeck Track Saturday

Twenty-four of the top stock car drivers in the area will be in action Saturday at the Rhinebeck Speedway when the annual running of the 250-lap Washburn Memorial Sweepstakes is held.

The race, open only to Non-Ford stock cars, is limited to members of Mutual Racing Associates with three races in competition during the current season. Prize money to the winner will be in the neighborhood of $1,000. The race is named after Charles "Duke" Washburn, a former driver and officer in Mutual Racing Associates, who died of a heart seizure in 1954.

Four cars have already qualified for the big test. Harry Brazee of Highland will be on the pole. Second position will be held by Bill Boo of Pawling and third goes to Hoppy Jensen of Bristol, Conn. In the fourth position will be Dick Hansen of Red Hook. Others will qualify from six to eight o'clock the night of the big race.

On the same program will be a drum corps exhibition and the smashing sedans in an exhibition of fender bending.

Gates will open at 6:30 with the first program slated to get underway at 8:15 p. m. sharp.

Pros Would Have Beaten Us Says Packer's Hornung

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Green Bay beat the College All-Stars 42-20 in Chicago last week, Paul Hornung of the Packers said, "A pro team would have beaten us by five touchdowns."

The National Football League champion Packers get their first pro test in a pre-season game with the Dallas Cowboys Friday night at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

Vin Lombardi, coach of the Packers, was not too happy about the failure of his running game to make dents in the All-Star line. However, the Packers have a long way to go before the NFL season opens Sept. 16. They most certainly have been working on their running game during the past week. Both Hornung and Jim Taylor will be sharper with a week's work.

The Packers may find Dallas more vulnerable in pass defense, however, for coach Tom Landry has two seasoned backs on the sidelines due to injuries. To man the defensive backfield spots Landry will use two rookies, Mike Gaechter of Oregon and John Chaisson of Tulane, both signed as free agents.

Don Meredith, ready for the big test in his third year as a pro, will direct the Cowboys from the quarterback spot, passing to Billy Howton, Dick Bielski and Frank Clarke.

EL Giants Make Nice Comback

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Giants, the defending Eastern League champions, have come back strong after a dismal start and are bent on earning a spot in the first division even though first place appears out of reach.

The Giants, who hovered around in the cellar most of the first half of the season, increased their fourth place lead over Charleston by a full game by whipping league-leading Williamsport twice Wednesday night, 8-4 and 6-2.

That sliced the Grays lead to 18½ games over second place Elmira which whipped Binghamton 7-2. In the only other game Charleston beat York 8-5.

Jack Blehm got the victory for Springfield in the opener by pitching 5 1-3 innings of scoreless relief after Williamsport had taken a 4-0 lead in the first inning.

Paul Collacecchi pitched a five-hitter for the nightcap victory, getting a big lift from Jerry Kusner's three-run homer in the seventh.

Elmira scored six runs in the first two innings. Binghamton gave the Pioneers a pair of unearned runs. Dick Tetrault pitched a four-hitter for the victory. He struck out 12 and retired the last 14 men he faced.

A five-run outburst in the eighth won it for Charleston. Pinchhitter Duke Sims provided the key blow with a grand slam homer over the right field wall.

Leafs in Rut Despite Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs must be wondering today what they have to do to gain on the Jacksonville Suns. The faster the Leafs race, the faster their treadmill spins.

The Leafs have won six games in a row, including Wednesday night's 3-1 decision over the Columbus Jets, but they still trail the International League leading Suns by nine games.

The Suns edged the Syracuse Chiefs, 8-7, in 10 innings. Elsewhere, the Buffalo Bisons shut out the Richmond Virginians, 4-0, and the Atlanta Crackers whipped the Rochester Red Wings, 7-3.

Left-hander Jim Constable went all the way for the Leafs and had a shutout until the ninth inning when Red Johnston doubled and Buddy Pritchard singled him home.

Bob Lipski hit a homer with one on and Jim Frey hit one with the bases empty to account for three of the Bison runs.

Bostic Cards 150 In Qualify Play

Harvey Bostic leads early qualifiers for Wiltwyck Country Club's championship flight with a 36-hole total of 78-72—150.

Tied at 151 are Bill Kaufman, Inivtational champion, and William (Buzzy) Costello. Kaufman carded rounds of 77-74 and Costello shot 76-75.

Other early scores are: Charles J. Turck, 77-78—155; Ronnie Marks, 81-75—156; Harold Van Aken, 78-79—157; George Cosenza, 84-83—167.

World's Fastest Swimmers Ready For AAU Events

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP) —Some of the world's fastest swimmers will defend their laurels against stiff international competition at the men's National AAU outdoor swimming championships opening here Friday.

Gerhard Hetz and Ted Stickles, who have been trading record times across the Atlantic Ocean for the 400-meter individual medley, will clash in that event on the opening day of the three-day meet.

Stickles, the Indiana University student from San Mateo, Calif., went under 5 minutes for the 400-meter medley for the first time here last year. But Hetz, 20, West German aquatic ace, bettered Stickles' record last spring with a time of 4:53.8. Stickles has twice since beaten that time and has been clocked at 4:51.8.

In the freestyle events two simmers who have won top honors will be trying to show the youngsters that they are still to be taken seriously. They are Murray Rose, 22, an Australian who lost to Roy Saari in the 200, 400 and 1500-meter events in the indoor championships last spring, and another Aussie, Jon Konrads, who holds world records in the 400 and 1500-meter freestyle events.

Saari, 17, from El Segundo, Calif., has bettered Konrads' 1500-meter record, but Saari's time last spring is not considered a record.

Wills Needs 21 For New Record In Base Thefts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Maury Wills, the nation's largest independent steal producer, predicted today he will break the National League record for stolen bases.

Last year, when he led the league with 35 steals, the little Dodger shortstop was permitted to run only when he got an okay from his bench. This season Dodger Manager Walt Alston granted Wills independence.

Now, 60 stolen bases later, Wills needs only 21 more steals to surpass the league record established 51 years ago by Bob Bescher of Cincinnati.

"I think I can make it now," Wills said. "I'm not going to run to hurt the club, but I'm not going to stop running just because the club happens to be way ahead in a game and we don't need the extra base.

"I'm so close. And I don't think I'll ever have this chance again."

How about Ty Cobb's major league record of 96 stolen bases?

"I'll let you know how I feel about that," Wills said, "when I get to 80."

He stole two bases against the Phils Wednesday night as the Dodgers won 3-1.

BARBS

By HAL COCHRAN

A person who too easily gives up doesn't wind up with much to give.

* * *

Constant long arguments can easily shorten married life.

* * *

In the old days when an auto stalled it sometimes took two cranks to start it.

* * *

Some girls get tanned at the beach, others son-struck.

* * *

OFFICE CAT

By Junius
Trade Mark Reg.

Customer (in drugstore) A mustard plaster.

Drugstore Clerk (force of habit) —We're out of mustard; how about mayonnaise?

* * *

OPPORTUNITY —A favorable occasion for grasping a disappointment.

* * *

One of the attractions of the church fete was a fortune teller's tent. A lady took her ten year old, redhaired, freckled son inside. The woman of wisdom bent over the crystal ball.

Fortuneteller —Your son will be a very distinguished man if he lives long enough!

Mother—Oh, how nice. And what well he be distinguished for?

Fortuneteller (slowly)—For old age if he lives long enough.

* * *

A failure is a man who has blundered but is not able to cash in the experience.

* * *

If a man have a strong faith he can indulge in the luxury of scepticism.

* * *

STAGE—It's full of people who became actors because they liked to sleep late.

* * *

One of the first things a child learns when he gets a drum is that he isn't gonna get another one.

* * *

RESORT—A place where the tired grow more tired.

* * *

Restaurateur Art Murray hired a new waitress, a well-built and very attractive blonde. A male patron walked in at noon and got his first glimpse of this new dish, whereupon he immediately got down on his hands and knees and began pawing the carpet. Art rushed up to him with.

Art Murray—What's the matter?

Man—My contact lenses popped out.

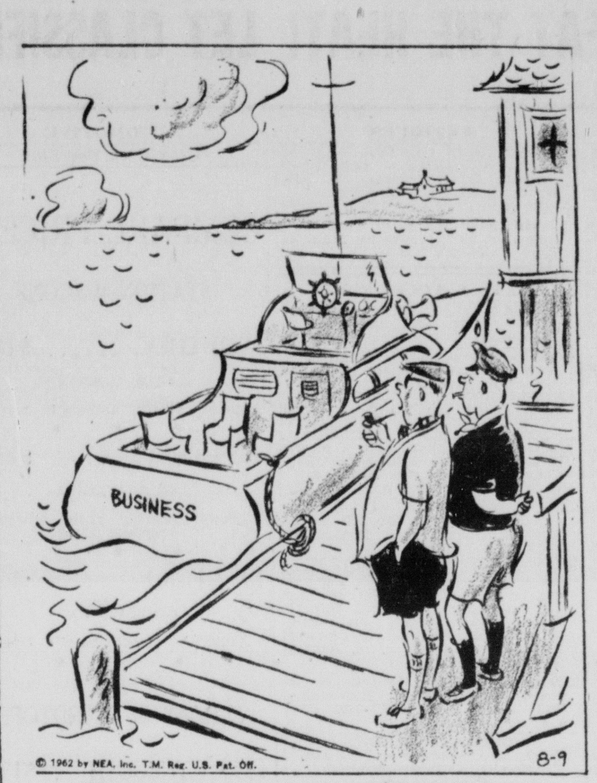
TIZZY — By KATE OSANN

"Herbie wants me to go steady. But I can't afford to pay my own way all the time!"

Stay Settled

Adult oysters do not move about in the water. About three weeks after the eggs hatch, they settle to the bottom and attach their left sides to some firm base where they thereafter remain fixed.

SIDE GLANCES — By GALBRAITH



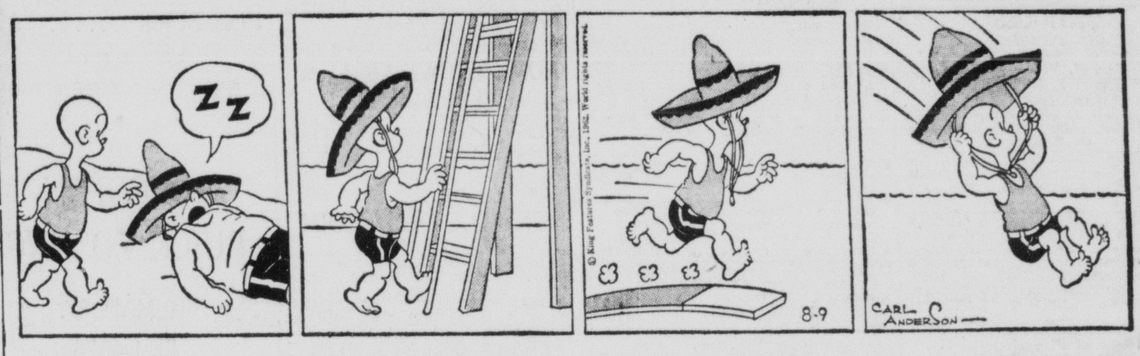
"So this is where you are when you're out on 'business'?"

CARNIVAL — By DICK TURNER

"Well, what'll it be tonight? Cowboys against Indians, cops against robbers, or doctors against patients?"

BUGS BUNNY

HENRY — By CARL ANDERSON



LI'L ABNER — By AL CAPP

CAPTAIN EASY — By LESLIE TURNER

ALLEY OOP — By V. T. HAMLIN

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

Falls Claim Big Share of Lives Lost in Mishaps

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Public accidents other than motor vehicle mishaps account for one fifth of all fatal injuries each year in the United States. Four out of every five victims in such public accidents are males, statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company reported.

Falls, the leading cause of fatal injuries in public places, claimed 4,900 of the nearly 18,000 lives lost in public accidents during 1959. Most of the falls occurred among older people.

As much as one fifth of all the fatal falls happened on streets and highways, statisticians said.

Drownings, mainly among child and young adult bathers ranked a close second with about 4,300 deaths during the year, while water transportation claimed an additional 1,600 lives.

Accidents involving aircraft, railways, firearms and fire and burns by other means followed in decreasing numerical importance as major causes of public accidental deaths.

The statisticians said that a great many of the deaths in public accidents are associated with sports and other recreational activities. In a study made by the company of its policyholders, it was found that more than two-fifths of such fatalities resulted from water sports, exclusive of boating. Pleasure boating caused one-sixth of all the deaths sustained in sports and recreation. Many of these stemmed from overloading of boats, occupants shifting positions, and the use of small boats in rough waters.

2 Cars Collide On Thruway, No Injuries Listed

Occupants of two vehicles escaped injury at 4:15 p. m. Wednesday when the cars collided on the State Thruway about one mile south of the Kingston interchange.

Thruway troopers said the cars were operated by Donald Kelly, 51, of Syracuse, and Alphonse Desaulniers, 73, of Baltimore, Md. Kelly was driving south when he saw the other vehicle crossing the center mall, and as he swerved after applying his brakes his car was involved in a crash with Desaulniers vehicle.

Desaulniers, troopers said, had stopped his car on the southbond lane because of a flat tire on a left wheel. Because of the closeness of traffic, the Baltimore man crossed the mall to fix the flat and the crash occurred.

Venturesome Boy From Utah Rides Bike 2,781 Miles

Freckle faced Dean Millman, 13-year-old youngster from Sunset, Utah, has traveled some 2,781 miles by bicycle since June 2.

Young Millman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Millman of Sunset, Utah, made the trip to his former home in Williamstown, Mass., where he spent three weeks visiting his former pals. He then cycled to Albany, left there at 12 noon Wednesday and arrived here in Kingston at 7 p. m. He plans to visit his grandparents in Staten Island then head back to Utah in time to start school the last week in August.

Dean spent the night in the Governor Clinton Hotel through the courtesy of the Kingston Paid Fire Fighters Benevolent Association. They also reoutfitted him before sending him on his way.

One Minor Accident

The adventuresome youth has encountered everything from four-foot rattlesnakes to baking tropical temperatures to frigid, drenching downpours during his expedition.

An expert cyclist he experienced only one minor accident.

He collided with another bicyclist in the remote hinderlands of Pennsylvania and suffered a scraped knee.

Robert Ouellette of Williamstown, Mass., took off for Binghamton to meet his pal first and accompany him back to Williamstown. Unfortunately, however, the boy eventually met young Millman but his bike finally burned out for good and he telephoned to his parents, who drove to Schenectady to escort him home in an automobile. The Millman boy would have nothing to do with cars, however, and finished the last lap of the trip to Williamstown by bike.

"My legs and feet aren't sore," Millman pointed out. "But look at this" he added hastily, showing the soles of his sneakers where his bike pedals had ground half-inch deep weals, "I guess I've been doing some pedalling."

Only 500 Next Summer

Next year, he plans a trip to Canada and a few more "small side-trips" to midwestern states. "I'm not gonna try anything more than 500 miles next summer," he said, explaining that his schoolwork and other hometown activities don't allow him enough time to do all the traveling he pleases.

Millman has been entertained and honored by a host of fire stations and police departments during his trip. In fact, he has stirred up more hoopla in some sleepy midwestern towns than the residents had known for years.

"I saw a couple of rattlesnakes too," he said, expanding his arms to indicate the length of the reptiles. "But I didn't have the time to be scared or lonely. I had too many other things to worry about."

Trip Cost $80

He has been interviewed on the road by scores of radio and television stations, has been given tours of everything from oil refineries to the home of Mickey Mantle's cousin, has received his first airplane ride and has been made honorary sheriff of Cass County, Nebraska.

"That wasn't so much, though," he said wearily. "Those hot deserts and icy rainstorms are what stick in my memory."

The reasons for his trip? "I guess I wanted to see America and be the youngest boy to travel across the country by bike.

So far, his trip has cost him $80. Since he is running behind schedule he will return to Utah by bus after visiting with his grandparents in Staten Island.

STATES' INCOME—A state's main source of income is received through the taxes it levies. The $19 billion in taxes collected by the 50 states of the nation in fiscal 1961 averages out to $106 per person. Per capita amounts collected by individual states varied from more than $200 in Hawaii to $63 in New Jersey. Kentucky showed the greatest per capita increase in the last 10 years. All 50 states impose sales and gross receipts taxes; 34, individual income; 37, corporation net income; 45, property; 40, death and gift; 10, poll; and 29, severance on the removal of oil, gas, etc. Sales and gross receipts taxes account for almost 58 per per cent of all of the state taxes collected in fiscal 1961.

Town Republican Committee Will Caucus Sept. 8

Members of the Town of Kingston Republican Committee will attend a party caucus at the Town Hall on Saturday, Sept. 8 starting at 8 p. m., for the purpose of selecting a candidate for town highway superintendent for one year term.

Candidates seeking nomination for the post are asked to notify Committeemen John Kloepping or Robert Vinson, both of Sweet Meadows, Sawkill. Nominations also will be received the night of the caucus.

At a regular monthly meeting of the Town Board of the Town of Kingston, permission was granted the Republican committeemen for use of the town hall for the caucus.

Councilman Kloepping reported at the Board session that a form signed by the town clerk and highway department superintendent, is being forwarded to the State Traffic Commission seeking a speed limit through the town.

Mrs. Margaret Stauble, town welfare officer reported no welfare cases on town rolls.

The September meeting of the town board will be held Tuesday, Sept. 4, 8 p. m., due to Labor Day falling on Monday the regular meeting night.

Low Bid Announced

Hall & Company, Inc. of Delmar bid low at $3,461.50 to drive a well for the superintendent's residence at the Highland Training School for Boys, the state public works department, Albany reported today. The bid was one of 23 received on six projects for construction, alterations and repairs involving state-owned facilities in several counties.

GOP Aims At JFK's Ban Plan

Leaders Contend They See Retreat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have closed ranks for a politically significant attack on President Kennedy's modified proposals for a nuclear test ban.

In language so similar as to indicate a prior meeting of the minds, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York contended Wednesday that Kennedy is retreating toward the Soviet position.

Faults In Dealing

Dirksen and Halleck charged in a news conference that Kennedy had sent U.S. negotiators to Geneva "hat in hand" with concessions to the Soviets that were promptly rejected. They added that the nation now was witnessing "another example by the Kennedy administration of how not to deal with the Russians."

A few hours later Rockefeller said in a statement the Kennedy administration had "moved steadily toward the Soviet position" in efforts to get a treaty on nuclear weapons testing and controls.

He said that what he called weakening of the U.S. proposals "made in March 1961 by the Kennedy administration even further seems to me to run a high risk of endangering our national security."

Would Like to Know

Rockefeller, who might become Kennedy's Republican opponent in 1964 if he wins re-election as governor this year, went on to say the Democratic President appeared to be making decisions without the public's knowing what proposals were being made.

There was no White House comment on the Republicans' remarks.

At Geneva Wednesday, U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean was reported to have told the 17-nation disarmament panel that his country is willing to reduce controls posts to 80, less than half the number previously proposed.

Britain Deports American Nazi

LONDON (AP) — American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell gave a defiant Hitler salute today as Britian deported him to the United States.

Bareheaded and wearing a brown suede jacket and sun glasses, the fuehrer of the American Nazi party was escorted by Scotland Yard detectives to the steps of a Pan American jetliner bound for Boston.

Shortly before takeoff time, several persons with muffled voices called the airport to say bombs were aboard the plane.

"I advise you to search that plane," said one, "or Rockwell is going to have an unpleasant surprise."

The bomb threat delayed the plane's departure only 12 minutes. "They appeared to be cranks," said a Pan American spokesman of the callers.

A quick check was made of the plane but no trace of a bomb was found. The airliner had been under guard since it arrived early this morning.

He was seated in the economy section of the plane, ahead of the other 38 passengers. The Home Office said he paid for his own ticket, which cost $270.06.

Rockwell was arrested Wednesday night in London after a nationwide hunt.

He slipped into England by way of Ireland and spoke last weekend at a Nazi camp in the Cotswold Hills. The government, perturbed at mob attacks on recent fascist meetings, issued a deportation order for him, but by then he had disappeared.

A telephone call to Scotland Yard Wednesday night sent four detectives racing to a street corner in the heart of London.

Rockwell was taken into custody as he stepped from a car.

Breaks Silence on National Issues

Rocky Says JFK Is Weaker on Test Ban

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says the Kennedy administration has "moved steadily toward the Soviet position" on testing and control of nuclear weapons.

He charges that a "continual weakening" of this country's position "has been accompanied by a growing Soviet intransigence which has seen the Soviets withdraw many points already agreed to."

Rockefeller listed changes he said have been made in the U.S. position since President Kennedy took office in January, 1961. He also referred to reports that a new U.S. proposal embodying concessions is contemplated.

"In short," he said,"weakening the proposals of March, 1961, by the Kennedy administration even further seems to me to run a high risk of endangering our national security."

Speaks Out

Rockefeller, a possible Republican presidential contender in 1964, made the charges in a written statement issued by his office here Wednesday as he was campaigning upstate for election to a second four-year term in November. He broke a self-imposed moratorium on commenting on national issues during the state campaign.

Rockefeller said he was "compelled by conscience and a sense of responsibility" to speak out because of the Soviet resumption of nuclear tests last week and the completion of the U.S. nuclear test series "except for two or three high-altitude tests which could not be carried out because of the failure of equipment."

Answer to President

Rockefeller's criticism came after Kennedy told a news conference last week he and his aides had been attempting to bring the U.S. position into line with new scientific data on the detection of underground tests that became available only last June. Kennedy said the U.S. proposals included on-site inspections of suspicious seismic occurenences and international control of inspection stations.

Arthur H. Dean, U.S. delegate at the 17-nation disarmament panel at Geneva, was reported to have told the conference Wednesday that the United States is willing to reduce control posts to 80—less than half the number previously proposed.

Light District Accepted, Date For Hearing Set

A petition for the proposed Albany Avenue Extension lighting district was unanimously accepted Wednesday night at a meeting of the Town of Ulster Town Board, and a date for a public hearing to discuss the proposal was set.

The board also approved a request from International Business Machines Corp to relocate the traffic light at the Intersection of Route 9W and Neighborhood Road, in the Township.

Public Hearing Aug. 22

Attached to the petition for the lighting district was a report of the assessor which showed that more than 50 per cent of the resident owners of property and 50 per cent of nonresident owners had signed for the district. A public hearing to discuss the proposal was set for Wednesday, Aug. 22 at 7:30 p. m. at Lake Katrine Grange Hall. At that session owners of property in the township will be heard whether they approve the project or oppose it, according to Town Supervisor A. J. Banyo.

The proposed district, the supervisor noted, would encompass Albany Avenue Extension, Route 9W to the new traffic circle at Neighborhood Road, Morton Boulevard off Albany Avenue Extension, Boice's Lane around the IBM property back to Route 9W.

The board unanimously approved a request from IBM Corp. for relocation of the traffic light from the intersection of Route 9W and Neighborhood Road to Boice's Lane at the north end of the IBM parking lot exit. The relocation expense of the installation and any modification of the traffic light would

Samuels Is Backed By Orange

Unit Rule Means 11 Votes for Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Prospective Orange County delegates to the Democratic State Convention backed Howard J. Samuels, Upstate industralist, today for the party's nomination for governor.

They said former Gov. W. Averell Harriman would be honorary chairman of the delegation, but Harriman said in Washington he is not announcing at this time a preference for the nomination.

Harriman, an Orange County resident, left the door open, however, by noting that "they (Orange County delegates) have the unit rule."

Can Swing All

Under the unit rule, a majority vote swings all of the delegation's 11 votes to one candidate.

"I haven't taken a personal position and I don't intend to at the present time," said Harriman, now undersecretary of state for far eastern affairs.

He said he expected to attend the convention Sept. 17-19 in Syracuse but that he had not been consulted about the Orange County endorsement of Samuels.

B. Sears Hunter, Orange County democratic chairman, announced the county committee's backing of Samuels and the naming of Harriman as honorary chairman of the delegation.

Two Rivals for Post

Announced rivals of Samuels for the nomination are Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady and Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor.

The Orange County boost for Samuels came on top of these other Democratic campaign developments:

1. A special nine-member steering committee of Democratic leaders dropped the idea of a preconvention meeting to settle on a candidate for governor.

The idea had been projected by Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon to give the prospective candidate a longer time to campaign against Republican Gov. Rockefeller, who is seeking reelection.

2. Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York was selected as the state convention keynote speaker.

This would appear to reinforce Wagner's repeated declarations that he will not seek the governorship. Keynote speakers traditionally are not nominated for public office, although there is no hard and fast rule against it.

3. Samuels, speaking at Rochester, said Gov. Rockefeller has been "playing politics" with the State Commission for Human Rights and hampering its progress.

Means Lot to Him

Samuels, notified in Rochester by telephone, said the Orange County endorsement meant "much more than just added political support."

"It is well known," he said,

Priest's Slayer. Lynched by Angry Mob in LaPaz

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — An angry mob lynched a drunken bartender for slaying a young American missionary priest who had tried to stop him from serving drinks to minors.

The Rev. William Kruegler, 32, was shot to death Monday night in the patio of his parish house in the Andean village of Montero.

Over the protests of other priests, a mob seized the gunman, Manglio Saravia, dragged him through the streets to the village square and hanged him.

Services were held today for Father Kruegler in Montero and he will be buried at the Maryknoll Roman Catholic mission where he had served for two years.

Father Kruegler, one of 11 children, was a son of Katherine

Plate on Crypt Tells Little of Monroe Legend

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Marilyn Monroe 1926-1962." The plate on the crypt reads simply, but it tells little of a Hollywood legend —or of her funeral, unique for such a personality.

For instance, there was former baseball great, Joe DiMaggio who married the sex goddess — the second of her three husbands.

Before Marilyn, who was found dead in bed Sunday from an overdose of sleeping pills, went to her final resting place Wednesday, the famed New York Yankee slugger bent over her coffin.

Repeats His Love

Tearfully, he kissed her and poured out from his heart:

"I love you. I love you. I love you."

It was out of character for the reticent DiMaggio, but perhaps that made it all the more sincere.

Later he drove through Westwood Memorial Park, stopped once more at her crypt and then drove on.

Then there were the fans. During the simple, non-denominational rites they were orderly, dignified, even sentimental.

But as soon as the funeral was over, a couple hundred of them climbed over a concrete wall, trampled the grass and flowers around the crypt that entombed the movie queen.

Take Flowers Along

When the fans departed, most of the flowers went with them.

Then there were the Hollywood stars who weren't invited to the funeral.

Arthur Jacobs, Marilyn's longtime publicity representative, said of the 31 invited guests: "About half of the people in there would not even be there if Marilyn had had anything to do with the invitations—and a lot more of her friends would have been there."

Among these would have been actor Peter Lawford and his wife Pat, brother-in-law and sister of President Kennedy. When Mrs.

Despite Kremlin Secrecy—

Believe Many Know Tests Are Resumed

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities said today they believe that despite Kremlin secrecy, millions of Soviets know their government has resumed nuclear testing.

The authorities based their views in part on Western efforts to get word of the tests through the iron curtain.

But many Soviets would know about the tests anyway, regardless of Moscow's refusal to announce officially the nuclear explosions so far.

Featured on Voice Program

The Voice of America, the U.S. government short-wave radio, figures that more than 10 million of the 220 million Soviets tune in on its broadcasts. The Voice featured the Soviet resumption of testing as a lead news item for nearly three days after the huge Novaya Zemlya high altitude blast last Sunday.

The Soviets have been jamming those portions of the Voice's Russian language newscasts reporting the Soviet tests, but Voice officials say the U.S. signal can still get through to much of the Soviet Union despite the deliberate radio interference. And the Soviets do not jam the Voice's English-language programs, which give the news, too.

In addition, the word is beamed at the Soviet Union by Radio Liberty, the British Broadcasting Corp., and others. Visitors also bring in news.

Other Means of Knowing

A large number of Soviet civilians also must have witnessed the atomic testing, since it has been seen in neighboring Norway.

Still unexplained is why the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission delayed for days its announcement of the new Soviet test resumption.

Water Line Break Repaired, All Is Back to Normal

A break in a main city water conduit in the Zena area has been repaired and "everything is back to normal," Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, reported this morning.

The break, discovered early Tuesday, was about 400 yards west of the filter plant at Zena, he said. It was on an 18-inch line, extended about four feet and was 16 inches wide. Cause of the break is undetermined.

Ahrens, Crew Praised

Cloonan asked residents of the city to conserve water pending repair of the break which was discovered at about 2 a. m. Tuesday when pressure gauges indicated trouble. Water was fed to the city through another conduit.

Water department men stayed on the job for many hours after the break was discovered, Cloonan said, and he commended Fred Ahrens, department foreman and his men for their work.

The city's water supply has been holding up well despite the extended drouth. It was reported slightly over seven feet below spillway level this morning.

Motorist Is Uninjured

A Newburgh motorist escaped injury at 4:45 a. m. today when an unidentified vehicle forced his car off Route 9W, Town of Lloyd. Highland state police reported Frank David Cardiner Newburgh, told authorities he was traveling south when a northbound vehicle forced him off the right side of the highway. The second car was not identified.

Check Is About Use And Tests

Present Laws Are Lacking in Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze has proposed new regulations which would give the government a watchdog role in investigational use of new drugs from start to finish, and power to call off the trials if safety doubts arise.

His Proposals

Acting against the background of public and official concern over the sedative thalidomide, Celebrezze proposed today:

1. That the Food and Drug Administration be put on notice and given the full details about the distribution of drugs to doctors for investigational use on humans.

2. That clinical investigations, or use on humans, be based on adequate preclinical studies to assure safety.

3. That the clinical investigations themselves be properly planned, executed by qualified investigators, and that the Food and Drug Administration be kept fully informed during the progress of the investigations.

4. That if a substantial doubt develops as to the safety of the drug, the Food and Drug Administration and all physician-investigators using the drug be notified immediately. If necessary, the use could be halted by FDA.

Current Laws Weaker

Current regulations have no such provisions.

The secretary said interested persons will have 60 days in which to comment on the proposed regulations and final regulations will not be issued until any comments have been considered.

The proposals followed a promise by Celebrezze last week that tighter regulations would come soon.

While the proposals are a direct outgrowth of the furore over thalidomide, Celebrezze did not mention that German-developed drug in his announcement.

Never Cleared

The sedative never was cleared by FDA for general use in this country but the American licensee for its manufacture distributed the pills to 1,231 American doctors for possible experimental use before it was associated with the birth of deformed babies in Europe.

There have been no reports of malformed babies in this country from that investigational use, but there have been some cases of deformity in which the mothers had obtained the drug otherwise from abroad during pregnancy.

Present regulations, however, do not require either an initial notice to FDA of a clinical trial of a new drug or subsequent reports on such use.

Could Stop Use

Regulations would not require advance government approval of the preclinical investigation, the qualifications of the investigators, or the plan of the clinical investigation. The commissioner of food and drugs, now George P. Larrick, would be authorized however, to terminate any investigational use if the new requirements were not being met.

As to investigations of new drugs already under way, the proposed regulations would require prompt reporting to FDA of information showing that the investigation may be safely continued. Failure to submit such a report would automatically terminate the authority under which clinical investigations are now conducted.

President Kennedy has said "we ought to be tougher" in regulating distribution of drugs to doctors for experimental use. He and the Food and Drug Administration take the position this could be done without further legislation.

However, Kennedy also has said full protection of consumers will require action by the Congress.

This week Kennedy made several recommendations to the Senate Judiciary Committee for strengthening the drug industry control bill now in its hands.

Wednesday the committee decided to require that official or generic name of a drug be printed prominently on the label and in type at least half as large as the brand name.

The administration bill in the House goes further, meeting the Kennedy recommendation that the official name be printed in type as large as that used for the brand name and that it be given precedence in position.

Existing law requires only that official names of drugs appear with prominence and conspicuousness on the label.

Lack of Reports on 30 Bats Is Seen as Indication None Rabid

Lack of immediate reports from Albany after laboratory tests to determine if bats which have entered area homes are rabid is an indication that none was found to be "positive," Dr. E. Franklin Hall, Ulster County Health Commissioner, said today.

The carcasses of some 30 bats forwarded from the city and various county areas were due for the tests within the past two weeks.

Concern over the potential danger of the mammals remained here after a report earlier in the summer that one found on St. James Street was rabid. The public responded well to the warning that all discovered in or near homes should be reported and that health authorities should be notified of any incident of strange behavior of an animal.

Kingston police and the health department, since late July have logged an historic record of calls from persons who have found bats in homes or other buildings, and they continued to be received this week.

Rats have also been reported concentrating in some areas and this form of concentration so early in the year, like that of the bats, it is believed could be due to the dry weather, with movement in groups for both water and food.

Bats, in their pursuit of insects, have been known to be attracted to the swarming flights around city street lights, and this summer, judging by reports, is a special one for that kind of action, plus their errant flights into homes.

Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation in the health department, said that in his 25 years of service he recalls nothing of similar record.

Of all calls received from city and county areas during the past two weeks only one involved a person being bitten and it was found through immediate test that the bat involved was not rabid.

Dr. Hall said that if any of the bats sent to Albany had been found rabid, the health department would be notified immediately. It is posisble, he said that all of the bats sent from various areas, have not been tested, but many have received tests.

The experience of the last two weeks with bats is a new one both for health and police officials. Both the police and health departments have received a record number of calls reporting bats entering homes.

Wilson Asks Light At Lloyd Crossing

In a letter to the Director of the State Traffic Commission in Albany, Ulster County Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson has requested that at least a Caution Light be placed where old 299 crosses new 299 in the Town of Lloyd. This crossing is near the scene of the recent tragic accident that took 7 lives.

Assemblyman Wilson contends that the blinker light may tend to slow down traffic and perhaps alleviate to some degree the hazardous situation along this highway.

A copy of the assemblyman's letter to the Traffic Commission was read at a recent meeting of the Town of Lloyd Republican Club. Dominick Martorana of Highland had received the letter from Assemblyman Wilson in reply to a suggestion that some corrective action be taken.

Last year Lloyd Post of the American Legion had also contacted Assemblyman Wilson seeking his assistant to make road travel safer on this hazardous highway. The assemblyman contacted both the State Traffic Commission and the superintendent of Public Works in Albany and some corrective measures were taken. Speed limit signs on the new road and full stop signs on some of the intersecting roads were installed and other improvements were made.

In his recent letter Wilson expresses a deep concern in this matter because of the heavy use of this road by school buses transporting children to the Highland schools. The assemblyman expresses hope that his request for a light will receive favorable consideration.

Panel Is Named To Advise About Affairs of World

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A panel o' four specialists in international affairs has been created by the state education commissioner as part of a program to improve foreign-area studies in the state's colleges and universities.

Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. said Wednesday that members of the panel would serve as consultants to the institutions on problems of library development, curricula, and related matters.

Establishment of the panel, he said, is another step in efforts of the State Education Department to strengthen opportunities and resources for the study, especially by teachers, of Asia, Africa, Latin America, and the Soviet Union.

The panel members:

Channing Richardson, professor of international affairs at Hamilton College and a specialist in African affairs.

Hyman Kublin, professor of history at Brooklyn College and author of books and articles on Asia.

Charles Griffin, professor of history at Vassar College and a specialist in Latin American affairs.

Warren Walsh, chairman of the board of Russian studies and professor of history at Syracuse University.

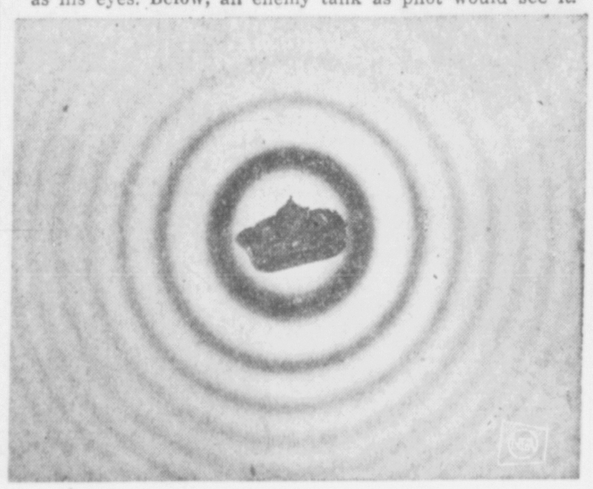
Litchfield Is Named To Drug Commission

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. John Litchfield, director of the experimental therapeutic research section of Lederle Laboratories Inc. in Pearl River, N.Y., is one of 13 scientists who have been named to the prescription drug industry's new commission on drug safety.

The commission was established last month to study and predict the reaction of humans to drugs.

Names of commission members were announced here Wednesday by Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall, commissioner chairman and vice president of the University of Chicago.

THE HUNTER AND THE PREY—Army helicopter pilots of the future will be able to aim their weapons at a target simply by looking at it. Using a new system developed by Sperry Gyroscope Co., pilot above centers his target in bull's-eye sight attached to his helmet visor and presses firing button on the control stick. The helicopter's guns or missiles are linked mechanically to the pilot so that they automatically wheel around to face in the same direction as his eyes. Below, an enemy tank as pilot would see it.



Alleged Resnick Killers Start Life Term Today

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Four young men who admitted strangling Samuel L. Resnick of Albany, N.Y., began serving life in prison today.

Judge George M. Sterling pronounced the sentence Wednesday after rejecting a two-hour plea for a new trial. The sentence had been fixed by the jury.

Sentenced for the kill-for-hire murder were R. E. Jackson, 20; Ernest Spurlock, 20; Jesse Tillis, 19, and John Henry Lewis Jones, 21. All are Phoenix area Negroes and all but Spurlock are husky laborers.

Tall and round - shouldered, Spurlock wore a mask in the courtroom because he is believed to have tuberculosis.

None denied pulling on the rope that killed Resnick, 61-year-old jeweler, but each insisted Resnick hired them to do it. They testified Resnick told them he had incurable cancer.

Resnick's body was found on the desert about 10 miles north of Phoenix last March 4. He had been dead for three days.

As White House Term Nears Half-Way Point

AP Reporter Goes Over President Kennedy's Foreign Affairs Score

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — During the conference between President Kennedy and Nikita S. Khrushchev in Vienna last year, the Soviet premier suddenly grated out:

"If you want war over Berlin, you'll get war."

History does not record a more blunt, bull-dozing threat thrown at one head of state by another.

Khrushchev's design may have been to shock Kennedy off-balance. The President replied:

"It looks like a cold winter."

The two men, having measured each other, went their separate ways.

Holds Firm on Berlin

Kennedy held firm on Berlin. Khrushchev set no new deadlines for signing a treaty with East Germany. He told a delegation of American newspaper editors last July 18 he still intends to sign such a treaty, but he said:

"When shall we do it? I will not set any time limit."

Some observers consider this a plus on the administration's credit-and-debit ledger for foreign affairs. For the moment, it may be.

But Kennedy, who says "Berlin is our big interest," does not expect Khrushchev to remain quiet indefinitely about this problem. No new formula for solving it is in sight. So Berlin is an X-factor, an uncertain quantity, in the foreign equation.

What are the plusses and minuses? Few developments in foreign affairs fit completely into this clear-cut definition.

Cuba A Disaster

Cuba, to be sure, was a disaster for the administration.

The Berlin Wall was a shocker. At home and abroad, people asked why the Western Allies were not prepared for such a contingency. Some Americans criticize Kennedy for not having ordered American tanks to knock down the wall at the moment the Communists began erecting it. Whether the other Allied governments would have supported such a move, is, of course, still another question.

The Congo is still snarled. The United States, with money and other support, backs the United Nations effort to force Katanga Province into the Leopoldville government. Some Americans bitterly criticize this policy. Only last week, the U.N. secretary-general termed the situation "particularly critical."

Problem With France

The problem with France, a hold-over from 1959, remains unsolved. The French are determined to develop their own nuclear weapons. The Kennedy administration refuses to provide technical assistance. Time alone will tell whether the policy was the right one.

No formulas have been found for an agreement to disarm or to stop nuclear tests. When Kennedy decided the United States must resume nuclear testing, picket lines formed in front of the White House in protest.

On the other hand, developments in Southeast Asia appear to warrant at least some cautious optimism.

An agreement was hammered out for a tripod coalition government in Laos. The question is whether it will hold.

Before this agreement, Kennedy ordered American forces, including nearly 3,000 Marines, to Thailand to forestall a Communist guerrilla move out of Laos. The Marines were withdrawn as the tension lessened.

Government forces in South Vietnam, using weapons and new tactics stamped "Made in America," seized the initiative from the Communist Viet Cong. The picture appears much better than it did a year ago when this correspondent toured the country. The issue, however, is likely to remain touch-and-go for a long time. It took 12 years to extinguish a smaller and more manageable Communist fire in Malaya.

American diplomats worked out the formula for settling the dispute between the Netherlands and Indonesia over West New Guinea. It contains guarantees to insure the right of self-determination for 700,000 Papuans living there.

Objectives Outlined

Finally, in Latin America, the Alliance for Progress has been launched. Its objectives:

1. To foster economic growth at a minimum annual rate of 2½ per cent.
2. Tax reform.
3. Land reform to increase productivity.
4. Improved public health, housing and education. American aid entails $10 billion over a 10-year period and assistance in obtaining an additional $10 billion from other sources in Europe and Japan.

Last week, on the first anniversary of the Alliance, Kennedy was asked whether he was satisfied with the progress. He replied:

"Measured by what has to be done, I think we have to do much better."

Defense Listed

Meanwhile, the administration says American military power—the vital factor behind foreign policy—is being beefed up steadily. In May, Secretary of Defense McNamara reported some of the details of the build-up to the White House conference on national economic issues. Among other things, he listed:

1. A 50 per cent increase (from 19 to 29 submarines) in the Polaris force scheduled for deployment in late 1964 or soon after.
2. A similar increase in the portion of the strategic bomber force to be maintained on 15-minute ground alert.
3. A "Significant increase" in the number of land-based Minuteman missiles, and doubling of the production capacity.
4. "An accelerated program to develop an effective, protected command and control system so that at all times, before, during and after an enemy attack, the constituted authorities, from the President on down, will have full command of our military forces."

McNamara said non-nuclear forces also were increased.

While building up the military strength of the United States, McNamara also launched a program to cut the costs of it. He expects to economize by $1.15 billion by fiscal year 1963, and to reduce expenditures $2 billion more by 1967.

Mental Health Clinic Is Topic At Rotary Club

Mrs. Virginia Robinson, psychiatric social worker with the Ulster County Mental Health Center, discussed mental health and the operation of the local clinic at the Kingston Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday.

Work of the psychiatrist, psychologist and the psychiatrist social worker in the treatment of the disturbed was outlined by the speaker. Types and the care given those in the various age groups also were described in the interesting and enlightening talk.

Dr. Edward F. Shea was a special guest. Edwin B. Bolz, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker.

Preceding the program, committee chairmen reported on the annual chicken barbecue to be held at the Beatty Farm on Hurley Avenue Saturday, August 11 from 4 to 7:30. Preparations are being made to serve a record attendance.

Butter, a pinch of sugar and lots of minced parsley add interest to cooked carrots.

Judges Are Named For Essays That Court Is Asking

A committee of three men has been named by Justice of the Peace C. Allerton Morey, Town of Washington, Dutchess County, to judge essays by four youths convicted of malicious mischief at Millbrook's Tribute Garden in June.

The youths were accused of taking a cement eagle from the garden entrance and dropping it in the Mill Factory Creek off Stanford Road, Millbrook. The eagle weighed 300 to 350 pounds.

Named to judge the essays, ordered by Judge Morey on the subject, "What the American Eagle Stands for" and "Respect for Other People's Property," were the Rev. Michael B. Dibble, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Millbrook; Dr. William P. Mahoney, a dentist of that community, and Dr. George H. Hopson, a district sales manager for the DeLaval Separator Co.

The defendants are, Richard C. Kocot, Poughkeepsie; who has already submitted his essay; Vincent Hayes, Bruce Conklin and Francisco Forte.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 9, 1962

THE GALS, BLESS 'EM

The nation's women, now reputed to control something like three-quarters of the nation's wealth, apparently aren't satisfied.

They dropped a hot potato into Congress' hand in the form of a bill requiring that women in industry and business doing the same jobs as men be paid the same wages.

There are about 24 million women now in the working force which, from any angle, is a lot of votes. On that score alone, no congressman could buck the proposal.

Fair-minded legislators hesitate to oppose such a measure. They believe this kind of equality is only just and long overdue. Arguments about economic hardships it might cause in some areas to employers and male workers, while valid, are akin to warnings a century ago that freeing the slaves would wreck the nation's economy.

One thing the gals should bear in mind, however, as they advance toward equality on all fronts: They can't have all the rights of men and those of women, too.

Feminine prerogatives range from unwritten rules of courtesy that say men should remove their hats in elevators or give their bus seats to women to a more serious imbalance in laws that allow women to divorce men and yet remain a financial millstone around their necks for the rest of their lives.

There was a time when it was indeed a man's world and women were almost possessions. On the legal side, this is no longer so. But now certain age-old conventions that were, and are, due to women because of their peculiar sex, and which compensated a little for the legal inequality, are being endangered by the women themselves in their drive for economic parity.

If they expect to compete on equal terms in the workaday world, they should not be surprised if men demand equal rights to bus seats.

Most women don't want an "equality" that would turn them into merely unbearded men. Men sure don't want them that way. Women may go into space, but they can't hope to be spacemen.

Fortunately, it seems impossible that absolute equality can ever happen. It won't come in business, no matter how "unfair" it is, if only because of the well-known fact that women as a rule don't get along with women bosses.

And any other way you look at it, Mother Nature seems to have decreed otherwise.

PLAY ON WORDS

A recent poll on the favorite pastimes of Americans came up with a surprising result: Most popular leisure time occupation was doing crossword puzzles. It even beat out such things as bowling, bingo and poker.

Devotion to this intellectual sport apparently isn't confined to this country, judging from a report which says that the Communists in the Soviet Union and its satellites are moving into the field to make ideological hay.

Sample questions from puzzles in Communist papers include:

"Four-letter word for the street in which the warmongers dwell." The answer is "Wall."

"Three-letter word for the man who rescued the Chinese workers from slave labor." Answer: "Mao."

There's nothing like a little propaganda while having fun, is there?

THE TIME OF TRIAL

For the army of home gardeners, the time of severest trial is at hand. Those who leaped to their tasks with a will last spring, and survived the testing of early summer, must now run the final gauntlet until autumn brings respite.

So it seems, anyway, to the weary householder as he girds himself once again to mow that lawn, weed that flower bed, trim that burgeoning hedge. Duties that seemed pleasant, though bone-tiring, after the long winter months now are merely jobs to be gotten through with the minimum of effort.

This is not to say that all relish in the task is gone—that there is on longer any satisfaction in the nurture of growing things. The flowers of August are as beautiful as those of May. But there's no denying that the enthusiasms of May wane a trifle in the heat of deep summer.

HERBERT HOOVER AT 88

It is now 48 years that Herbert Hoover has devoted all the hours of his life to public service. It is the record of a man whose acceptance of public responsibility has almost been priestly in character. He has asked for no return, for no thanks, for no recognition for services done.

Not all of Herbert Hoover's efforts have been successful; but they have all been motivated by selfless recognition that each man is his brother's servant.

It is not surprising that tomorrow reaching the great age of 88, Herbert Hoover should be an honored and beloved man. Even those who bore him enmity for the Depression of 1929 have long come to recognize that in Herbert Hoover, as President, we had not a politician who twisted and turned with the tides of popularity, but one who was guided by the foundation principles of our civilization, by the Natural Law and by the Constitution of the United States.

Herbert Hoover has never been a radical or a reactionary. In the 19th Century, he would have been regarded as a moderate liberal, of the order of John Stuart Mill; in the 20th Century, he would be called a conservative.

The 19th Century Liberal believed in the expansion of individual human rights and benefits. He put an end to child labor; he gained the vote for an increasing number of persons; he attacked the concept that women were chattel; he fought against slavery and abolished it in most places. His slogan was equality of opportunity for all of mankind.

But the 19th Century Liberal differed from the 20th Century Liberal in one basic essential: the 19th Century Liberal believed that by the expansion of the liberties of the individual, by increased access to education, by equality of economic opportunity, the individual would contribute his share to the perfection of society.

The 20th Century Liberal has found this process too slow. He has turned to government as the vehicle of achieving all good. He has expanded the powers and activities of government. He has reduced the possibility for equality of opportunity by burdening the individual with taxes which, in America, are bringing the economy to a standstill. He has made the government the benefactor of a large part of the population; thus, destroying ambition and initiative and lessening the impulse toward achievement. He has substituted a humanistic philosophy of life for the loving, Godfearing morality of the Judiac-Christian civilization.

In his anxiety to solve all human problems speedily, the 20th Century Liberal has lost the meaning of the family system. He has substituted for parental solicitudes, a pseudo-scientific sociological intervention in the family and a psychiatric supervision of morals. The evil results of this are statistical in increased divorces, broken homes and juvenile criminality.

In 1962, dissatisfaction with the product of 20th Century Liberalism is widespread. Young people do not like the world in which they find themselves. Many become Communists; others declare themselves to be various types of conservatives (some without definition); still others have joined various extremist rightist radical movements. Others, like the Beatniks, turn to sexual escapism as a way of life.

These are manifestations of youthful reaction to an unsatisfactory way of life.

In this changing and confusing world, Herbert Hoover stands as a monumental moral force, the solid representative in our land of the basic principles of 19th Century Liberalism. He has brought into the 20th Century the Quaker ideal of the goodness of man in the love of God. This concept is not Humanistic; it is Deistic, for man cannot stand alone in a changing world. He requires the strength of faith in a force outside himself, as Matthew Arnold put it, that makes for righteousness, and having that strength within himself, he does not need the power of government to control him.

Herbert Hoover's life is a Horatio Alger story. The orphaned son of a blacksmith and a seamstress, he became a great engineer, the feeder of the human race, Secretary of Commerce and President of the United States. He heads the Boys Clubs of America, perhaps to help give other boys what he missed as a boy. He is the author of many historical volumes and is now engaged in a great work on international relations.

He is America's great man.

Cautious Doctor Eyes 'Miracle' Drugs Carefully

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In almost every package of mail I receive there is a complaint from some reader to the effect that the family doctor is "old-fashioned" because he seems slow to prescribe or inject one or other of the newly introduced "miracle drugs" about which there have been enthusiastic reports in magazine articles.

Perhaps these complainants would be less critical of the wisely cautious practitioner if they had a better understanding of the reasoning that lies behind his reluctance to run at the head of the pack.

On the one hand, he is naturally and understandably skeptical about reports of positive results. For, all too often, these are issued in press releases that come from drug manufacturers on the basis of results reported by enthusiasts.

Perhaps the most frequent current examples are furnished by the reputed "break-throughs" in cancer as reported in breathless articles by the clinically inexperienced.

Although the writers of these articles may not be wholly aware of the complexities of the cancer problem, the experienced doctor has learned all too often (and all too regretfully) that animal cancer is not human cancer.

"Cancer cures" that are effective in the treatment of animal malignancy may not (and usually do not) work as effectively if they work at all, in the treatment of human malignancy.

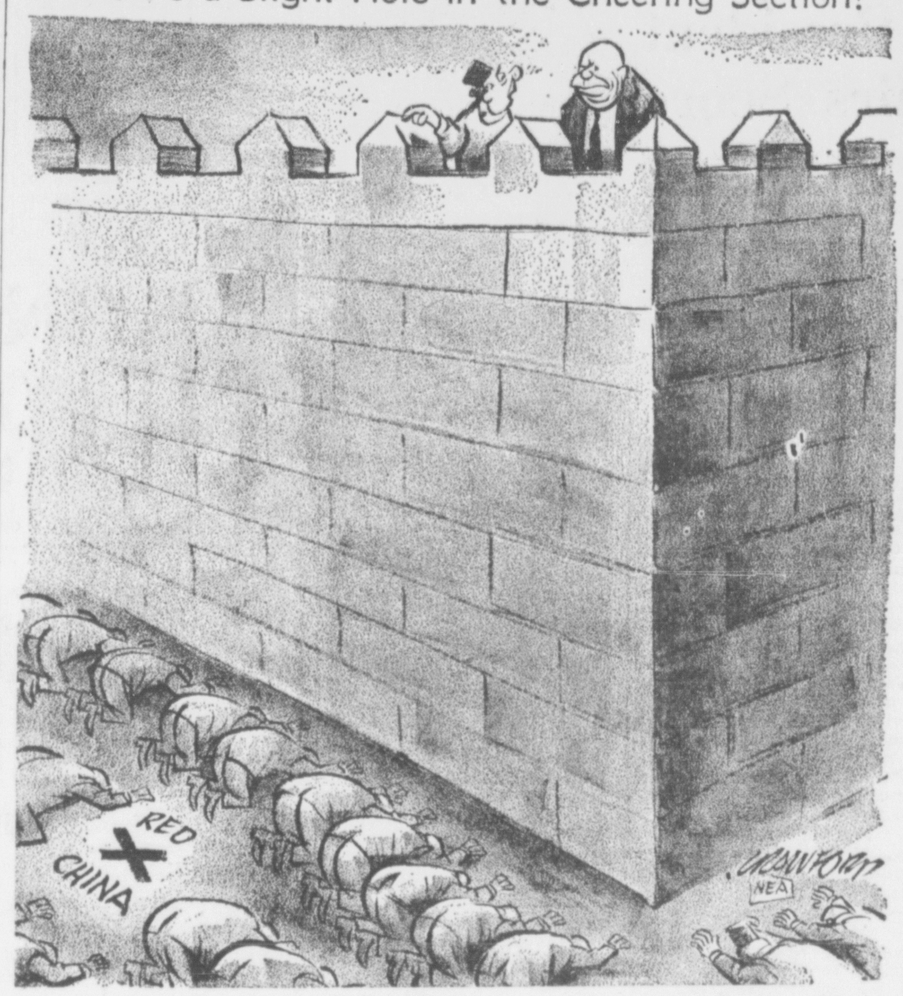
On the other hand, a new drug that has been administered with safety to an experimental animal may not, and often cannot, be given with equal safety to the human subject. Within recent months, for example, a sedative that appeared effective and safe under laboratory conditions caused the infants born of mother taking the drug in Europe to come into this difficult world with flippers instead of arms and legs.

A blood pressure reducer (antitensive) has just been recalled by the manufacturers because it caused previously unrecognized side effects such as hair loss and visual disturbances. And another manufacturer recalled a tranquilizer that proved damaging to the liver and other organs.

It may not be possible to repeat successes. And side effects, unobserved under laboratory or institutional conditions, may appear every so often in a peculiarly hypersensitive individual. These side effects become matters of prime significance when they result in serious incapacitation or even death in the case of a single human patient.

Thus, with all due reverence to those responsible for innovations and advances in medical treatment, the doctor you criticize as "old-fashioned" may merely be one who is unwilling to have the student barber learn his trade by "shaving on your face."

"There's a Slight Hole in the Cheering Section!"



Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Republican leaders are all kicking around a number of possibilities for a permanent head of the new National Republican Citizens Committee, but three names now lead all the rest. They are:

Neil McElroy of Cincinnati, president of Proctor & Gamble and former secretary of defense.

Arthur Summerfield of Flint, Mich., former GOP national chairman and postmaster general.

Thomas Pappas of Boston, an olive and olive oil importer with interests in Suffolk Downs and 20th Century-Fox.

McElroy has the national reputation and prestige, but probably doesn't have the time or inclination. Summerfield has the political know-how, but his health has not been as good as it used to be.

So by the process of elimination, Tom Pappas now has preferred position. But the job hasn't formally been offered to him and he may not take it.

He isn't too well known nationally, but he has been raising important money for the Republicans since 1952. He is of Greek descent, described as wealthy and handsome, with a warm smile that makes people love him and give.

He is also supposed to have the endorsement of Walter N. Thayer, President of New York Herald-Tribune and a principal organizer of National Republican Citizens.

FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT of a permanent head for NRCC may or may not be made before ex-President Dwight Eisenhower's scheduled return from Europe Aug. 30. "He might just send a cable," one Republican official explains.

Before Eisenhower went to Europe he did his best to straighten out what for a time threatened to become a major GOP tangle. Inadvertently, Eisenhower had contributed a little to party confusion by his own enthusiasm, political amateurism and naivete.

Plans for this new organization have been in the making for some months. Prime movers were a group headed by Thayer. He had been active in Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon and Nixon-Lodge campaigns. A principal purpose was to woo independents and Democrats to vote for Republicans—an essential to any GOP victory. It had Eisenhower's blessing.

A long, confidential memo on organization and objectives had been circulated to party leaders outside Washington before the All Republican Conference of 200 party leaders and candidates at Ike's farm on June 30.

GOP CHAIRMAN William E. Miller and Eisenhower both mentioned the citizens committee idea in vague terms at the farm. But the whole plan in full detail came out next day in Sunday's Herald-Tribune in an exclusive story by ace political reporter Earl Mazo.

It took Washington Republican leaders by complete surprise. Their assumption was that Thayer had given the story to his own paper on an exclusive basis.

But when Thayer hurried to Washington to make peace with Senators Everett M. Dirksen and Barry Goldwater, and Representatives Charlie Halleck and chairman Miller, the publisher said he didn't know his reporter had dug out the story and it was a complete surprise when it came out in his own newspaper.

SUBSEQUENTLY, Eisenhower called Miller to Gettysburg for a morning conference on July 13 to iron out ruffled feelings. Dirksen and Halleck went up that same evening for the same purpose.

The word passed out in Republican circles is that there has been a lot of kissing and making up since then.

The NRCC is said to be an accepted GOP auxiliary. Whether it can get organized to do much good in the 1962 congressional and gubernatorial campaigns is still a subject of debate.

Chairman Goldwater of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee says it could do some specific jobs. It could help pay off the Nixon-Lodge 1960 campaign debt. Or it could raise new money for candidates in tight races for key states.

GOP CHAIRMAN MILLER, congressional leaders Dirksen and Halleck have been given assurances that the new committee will not make policy, will not interfere with national headquarters. To that extent, Republican harmony has been restored.

But there is still a sneaky suspicion that the National Republican Citizens Committee is really an eastern conspiracy, organizing early to grease the way for nominating Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York as GOP Presidential candidate in 1964.

And on this there is violent conservative opposition, with no prospect of party peace.

ILGWU Business Agents: Power Drive Within Union

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—When a labor union speaks out forthrightly against any attempt by labor to monopolize power—even though it be inside a union—it becomes news of paramount importance. There seems to be a lesson in this for some unions which have gone even to the point of threatening strikes unless supervisory personnel are forced into joining the union.

It would appear to be a truism that no part of management should be integrated into a labor union or participate in shaping the policies of the union. But in a current controversy that's precisely what one group inside a national labor union has been trying to do.

The union involved is the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union of which David Dubinsky, one of the ablest of America's trade-union leaders, has long been president. In a public announcement, Mr. Dubinsky and other officers of the union declare that they are unwilling to grant recognition to a union of "business agents," even though they would be willing to recognize a union of organizers and all along have recognized unions of their own office employes. Mr. Dubinsky's statement says in part:

"The business agents are in a special position within the union to make union policy. They provide the leadership to the worker in the shop. To the rank and filer, the business agent is 'Mr. Union.' He is not only eligible to run for convention delegate and to run for union office, but is also in a specially favorable position to influence choice of convention delegations that elect top union officers and decide basic policy. It is obvious that if these same business agents were granted union recognition by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union they would be in the position of participating in the choice of the ILGWU officers with whom they would bargain. This is sitting on both sides of the bargaining table.

'We Know the Dangers'

"The ILGWU holds that a 'union' of business agents is not a union of employes: it is a faction of officers with all the elements of a dual union—trying to impose its policies from the outside and even hoping to seize control of the ILGWU.

"We know only too well the dangers of factionalism and dual unionism from our long and bitter experiences.

"For many years, the Communists in the ILGWU tried to capture the union through their faction. They were finally defeated by the responsible and democratic elements in the ILGWU, but only after a nine-year struggle —1923 to 1934— involving hunger and bloodshed. In this terrible struggle, the union was shattered; the industry was disorganized; the workers suffered. We now refuse, knowingly, to re-enter such a period of struggle with a new faction hiding behind the good name of 'unionism.' To us, the evils of factionalism are not a theory!

"It is for this reason—not at all because we will not deal with unions of our employees or even our organizers—that we oppose a 'union' of officers, known as business agents. It is for this reason that the AFL-CIO officially stands with us and actively supports our position."

The issue arises only sporadically, but it is none the less subject of considerable controversy. It does not often occur in the mass-production industries. It breaks out mainly in the printing and building trades, and in some other fields where craft unions are involved.

The Taft-Hartley act does not prevent foremen from being in unions, but it does not allow unions to compel employers to bargain with foremen. For they are not considered "employes" within the meaning of the law. Thus, the National Labor Relations Board will not hold an election to force an employer to bargain with a union of foremen.

Often Members

In the printing industry, foremen and even superintendents of composing rooms will often be members of the union. This is true also in the Government Printing Office here. In some instances, unions have tried to compel employers to force their foremen to join unions. The National Labor Relations Board has ruled that a union cannot force the employer to require supervisors to join a union. But the issue crops up just the same. Doubtless, the purpose is to weaken the disciplinary power of the foreman and to tend to make him acquiesce in "featherbedding" and other wasteful practices.

It seems strange that there should be any question as to where the foreman or the superintendent should sit at the bargaining table—with management or with the employes. It is even more puzzling as to why any union should insist on monopolizing the supervisory power and should seek to control the judgement of the foreman as he finds himself required by management to report constantly on what is going on in the shop. But this is the extreme to which monopolistic zeal has worked its way inside some powerful labor unions in America.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

No doubt this hot dry spell will be remembered for some time. The maple leaves, like Bob Browning says, are falling off, green as they are. I notice some maple leaves are turning yellow, much too early, and of course we like to see them turn red first. I notice the lawn in front of the City Hall looks like dry straw. Certain flowers seem to like it, like perhaps sunflowers. The ground has turned dry like after a sand storm, and watering does not seem to help. Every day it looks like rain, but doesn't. We need a nice quiet all night rain.

I notice that due to our hills, trees, river, and creeks, temperatures are different in various parts. The sun seems to leave downtown around 6 o'clock, but if you are driving up Broadway when you pass Delaware avenue the sun is still there, good and hot and glares at you through the uptown section, while downtown has turned cool and pleasant. You ride toward the setting sun when you drive to Woodstock around show time. Eddyville and the Wilbur road is cool and pleasant during these hot dry days. The new topping on the Wilbur road makes it smooth sailing although I notice rocks have been dropped here and there as though off trucks making the "S" turns. They can be noticed because of their light color on the black top, and I hope they do not cut into the nice smooth road.

I notice those living near the Rondout Creek have nice flowers, and enjoy their porches, and many have row boats and motor boats and run across the road with their equipment. Some youngsters ran from their homes, with inner tubes for a swim. They say once you live near the water, you always want to live near it.

Several readers have spoken to me about The DeWaal Tavern which is going to be taken down, and the land black-topped for uptown parking. The picture of the building as it was can be seen in Picturesque Ulster, in Book 1, The City of Kingston. The entrance and windows have been changed in the last few years. As Mrs. Adam Forter of the DAR said to me, that there were two sets of steps leading to a small porch door entrance. I also spoke to Harry Rigby Jr. our city historian about it. The Dewaal Tavern is one of our old stone houses.

R. Lionel De Lisser, (graduate of The Royal Bavarian Academy of High Arts, Munich,) wrote in his Picturesque Ulster in 1896 about this famous Dewaal House or Inn, "celebrated in revolutionary times for its good cheer and hospitality, and later under the management of William Dewaal as the favorite terpsichorean resort of the old Kingstonians. The Dewaal Inn was burned in 1804, but rebuilt shortly afterwards."

Mrs. Porter read me an item which told about the Kingston Academy when it had its examinations and a big time was had over them in the entire Kingston with many strangers coming to Kingston. It wound up with a fancy social affair being held at the Dewaal Inn. Perhaps somehow, by someone, this historical structure, which is said to have had a spring floor can be saved, or preserved and the parking can be done around it. It would make an interesting local museum, or even some sort of recreation or rest place, or information building. I know it has been altered but it was one of the buildings from our Kingston's early history and I am sure is fascinating to strangers, just as it is. Remember the fascination of countries in Europe are their famous historic structures, for which Americans spend fabulous sums to see and brag that they saw them. Let us hold on to the little we have in our young country.

Deadlock Ending Hopes Are Seen By Sen. Hatfield

Hopes of ending a deadlock between Poughkeepsie City and State Department of Public Works officials on which will pay the costs of lighting the north-south arterial highway in downtown Poughkeepsie, were seen Wednesday in a report from State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield.

Senator Hatfield said he would ask the State to accept an obligation to share with the City of Poughkeepsie the cost of providing lighting equipment and installation. The Senator noted that under the Hatfield law, the State Bridge Authority is assuming part of the city's share of costs of rights of way for the new highway.

Poughkeepsie's Common Council on recommendation of City Manager Kenneth Pearce has refused to approve a state-prepared resolution which would have obligated the city to install lights on poles put up by the state and to maintain the lighting system.

John D. Manning assistant district engineer of the State Department of Public Works, said it is standard practice for cities in which state arterial highways are built ot supply and maintain lighting fixtures and pay for electricity for the lights.

Inmates Give Blood As Favor to Deputy

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Inmates of Maricopa County jail came to the aid of a jailer when he received a $450 bill for blood transfusions.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Tweedy's son, Randall, 9, recently underwent successful surgery for repair of a leaky heart valve. Tweedy received a bill for 18 pints of blood.

Word went out through the jail grapevine and a petition signed by 165 inmates wanting to replace the blood so Tweedy wouldn't have to pay followed.

Nurses from the Southwest Blood Bank visited the jail and took the blood. They said three pints of blood were replaced for every one used.

IBM to Expand Kentucky Plant

Plans for a 154,000 square foot addition to its Lexington, Ky., plant were announced today by International Business Machines Corporation's electric typewriter division.

Construction will start immediately and will be completed in the fall of 1963. The main manufacturing and engineering facilities now contain approximately 731,000 square feet of floor space. The new addition will be used for production and engineering.

Among recent corporation promotions was the naming of John W. Hinchcliffe as manager of corporate promotion. He will be responsible for IBM's participation in the 1964-65 New York World's Fair and other corporate promotion activities.

Highland American Legion Sells Home

Lloyd Post, American Legion, has sold its home on Vineland Avenue, Highland, according to Commander Henry Gregorio.

Edwin J. Brown Inc., Hopewell Junction, purchased the Legion building and plans to convert it into an office for professional use. Work on the conversion will start immediately.

Filibuster Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh attacks by Sens. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., raised the threat today of another Senate filibuster against the communications satellite bill.

They spoke out as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee scheduled sessions to consider amendments tightening the bill's foreign policy controls before reporting the measure back to the Senate on Friday for resumption of formal debate.

HE LOST — Frank Duncan, son and lawyer of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, walks out of San Quentin Prison, Calif., after visiting his mother for the last time before her execution for the murder of her daughter-in-law. (NEA Telephoto).

Mother, Two She Hired to Kill, Die In Gas Chamber

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—A triple execution in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber Wednesday wrote the final chapter in a grotesque story of obsessive mother love.

Elizabeth (Ma) Duncan, 58, was executed for plotting and paying for the murder of her pregnant daughter-in-law four years ago so she could keep her youngest son to herself.

It was a futile killing. For Frank Duncan, now 33, married again.

Yet her love was reciprocated. Frank, with his present wife and law partner, Elinor Chandler Duncan, fought through the courts, trying to save her life, until two minutes before the execution.

But no tears were shed in San Quentin's little green-walled room when Ma Duncan died, shortly after 10 a.m., tight lipped and staring straight ahead into nothingness.

The tears came three hours later for one of the two small-time criminals who said Ma Duncan promised $6,000 and paid $360 for the November 1958 killing of Olga Duncan, 30, near Santa Barbara.

A half-brother wept when cyanide gas choked off the inaudible laughter of Augustine Baldonado, 28. Strapped beside Baldonado and talking with him was his fellow killer, Luis Moya, 23.

"It's all right," Baldonado had assured Daniel Ledesma, 35, of Port Hueneme, Calif., only moments before. But it didn't stop the tears.

Frank Duncan had met Olga Kupczyk, a Canadian-born nurse, when he took his mother to a Santa Barbara hospital suffering from an overdose of sedatives. They married June 24, 1958, against his mother's wishes.

Town Building May Be Finished By September 1st

The regular monthly meeting of the Rosendale Town Board was held Monday evening at the town clerk's office, Main Street, Rosendale.

Superintendent of Highways John Charlie Markle reported that work on the new town garage at Maple Hill was progressing satisfactorily and it is hoped that by Sept. 1 the building will be ready and become headquarters for the highway department.

Plans are being made to trade the Tillson Road which runs from the Tillson Post Office to Coons Garage to the county highway system and the town take over the county road which runs from Kallops Corners to Cornell Hill.

It is hoped that a new bridge may soon be built at the entrance to High Falls Park. It is planned that this bridge may be built by the county from surplus bridge money but the town will have to purchase the right of way.

All but two of the town constables have been fingerprinted and filed the proper oaths so that they may become full time peace officers.

A report was given that the state traffic commission is making a survey of all state roads and there is a possibility that the speed through Tillson may be increased to 50, miles per hour.

The following election inspectors for the Democratic Party were approved for the coming year: District one, Mrs. Veronica Gerber and Mrs. Hazel Kloepfer. District two, Mrs. Virginia Pradoni and Mrs. Sally Van Loan. District three, Mrs. Eva Born and Mrs. Catherine Foertsch. Mrs. Amelia Coddington, clerk.

A discussion was held in regard to the purchase of fuel oil and this will probably be purchased on annual bid contract.

Library Fair Is Slated Saturday

Preparations are being made for the fifth annual Rosendale Library Fair to be held on the library grounds Saturday from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Miss Beverley Pine, Miss Rosendale for 1962 will cut the ribbon for the opening of the fair.

The committee reports that donations for the different booths are now being accepted and it is hoped that donations may be increased for the candy fancy goods, produce, jewelry and antique departments.

Look Without a Window

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Hunter Look has this sign posted in his sporting goods store:

"Bat inspection free. Bat swinging, $33 per swing."

Look put up the sign after numerous customers broke his plate glass windows while trying out the feel of a baseball bat before buying it.

Scientific advances, contemporary problems and just plain everyday life add to our vocabulary words which were completely unknown to us as recently as five years ago. For example, a phrase, associated with the atomic age, became quite common in 1960, "atomic cemetery." Such a cemetery is a place where radioactive waste may be buried with the minimum danger of contamination.

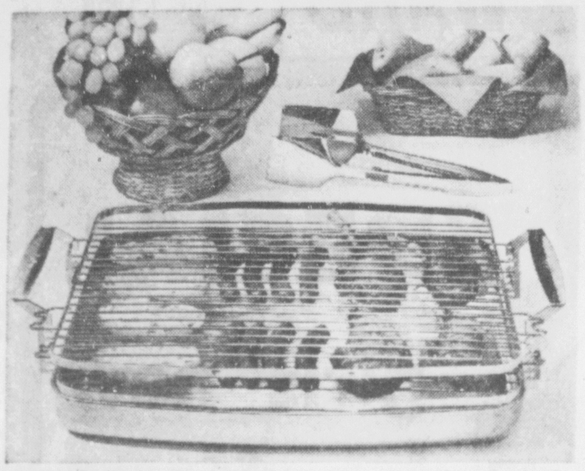
FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Turn-Over Broiler Aids Mixed Grill



TURN-OVER broiler is ideal for easy preparation of mixed grill as well as for foods that need individual turning.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the quickest, easiest and most impressive party dinners is a mixed grill. All combinations include lamb chops. Plan to have everything cooked the same length of time instead of adding parts of the grill at different times throughout the cooking. To do this, use a modern turnover broiler.

Place the lamb chops, cooked sliced potatoes and sausages on the bottom rack of the turn-over broiler. Top rack is placed over the food and locked into place. When one side is cooked, you turn both racks and consequently turn the entire grill. This turn-over broiler is ideal for a mixed grill and also works well with hamburgers, hot dogs and other foods that require individual turning.

Mixed Grill
(Makes 4 servings or serves 2 generously)

4 loin lamb chops
8 small link sausages
2 medium - large potatoes, cooked
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Salt and pepper.

Arrange lamb chops and sausages on rack in broiler pan. Peel potatoes and slice each in half. Trim off rounded sides so potatoes will lay flat on rack. Brush both sides of each potato with melted butter or margarine; place on broiler rack. (If using turn-over broiler, place top rack over food and lock in place.) Place in preheated broiler with top of food 3 inches from source of heat. Broil 7 to 8 minutes. Turn foods and continue broiling 8 to 10 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A new comedy series about a pair of accident-prone carpenters will make its debut next month on ABC because a student of laughter believes slapstick is due for a revival.

Producer Leonard Stern, who has served under such generals as Jackie Gleason, Steve Allen and Phil Silvers, finds that comedy moves in a broad cycle.

"And big comedy—broad comedy — abdicated about three or four years ago," he remarked, blandly ignoring last season's slapstick disaster called "Oh, Those Bells."

His forthcoming "I'm Dickens He's Fenster" will frankly go after those big, unrestrained guffaws after a period of concentrating on more sophisticated humor, which Stern calls pallid because it elicits at best an amused chuckle.

"But with all the television they see, audiences won't accept a comic who comes out and trips for no reason or slides on a banana peel," said Stern. "We're going after the big laugh, but we're going to motivate it logically."

His main characters are skilled craftsmen. After all, there's no sense in outraging the nation's building tradesmen. Those boffo situations emerge in each weekly episode because one character is a worrier, and his mishaps are psychosomatic. That way it becomes a personality defect and no reflection on an industry or trade.

Stern apparently has been doing some practical observing. He has teamed up in the starring roles a stand-up comic named Marty Ingels with an all-around actor with a flair for comedy roles named John Astin. That formula worked out very well last season with "Car 54," which matched up comic Joe E. Ross and actor Fred Gwynne. It wasn't too bad, either, when Jackie Gleason and Art Carney did "The Honeymooners."

The Well-Known Face

MEMPHIS (AP)—A political candidate with headquarters in a hotel found himself short of cash. So, standing beneath the huge photographs that display his likeness all over the lobby, he asked a clerk if he could cash a check.

"Why yes," said the clerk, examining his signature. "Do you have any identification?"

Tartar Sauce Made Quickly

Tartar sauce, the perennial for fried or broiled scallops, may be made quickly by mixing mayonnaise with pickle relish plus minced onion and parsley. If there's a jar of olives in the refrigerator, mince some of these too and add.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Fifty-six curvaceous contestants assembled here today for the Miss International Beauty Congress.

The young women will be greeted by city officials and later will be measured for playsuits they will wear in the contest.

The final judging is set for Aug. 18.

Thousands Held Up as Two Cars Derailed Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Derailment of two cars of a 43-car freight train delayed thousands of commuters from Hudson River points for 40 minutes to an hour today in reaching Grand Central Terminal.

The freight train, bound from Selkirk, N.Y., near Albany, blocked two of four tracks near the New York Central's Marble Hill station in the Bronx at 6:40 a.m., just before the morning rush hour. No one was hurt.

A New York Central spokesman said the tie-up delayed 19 inbound commuter trains.

Outbound schedules also were disrupted.

FHA Announces Appointment of State Director

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The Federal Housing Administration announced today appointment of Fred J. Martin as its New York State director.

FHA Commissioner Neal J. Hardy said that under a new organizational pattern the agency's insuring offices in Albany, Buffalo and Jamaica will be under Martin's control.

Martin's headquarters will be in Albany. He is a 49-year-old Long Island real estate executive.

Finnish Reindeer

Finland's reindeer, which are mostly domesticated, provide the Finnish people with food, clothing, household utensils, cash income and transportation. The animals can pull sleds up to 20 miles an hour on short hauls.

No Personal Injuries

Highland state police Wednesday afternoon investigated a traffic accident which occurred on Route 299, Town of Lloyd and reported no personal injuries. Troopers said a truck operated by David Edward Hughes Jr., 24, of 38 Boulder Avenue, this city, was attempting a left turn when it was involved in a collision with a car driven by Adrian Verdier, 33, of New Paltz.

Hyde Park Trooper Gets Post in Greene

Included in promotions announced Wednesday by Superintendent of State Police Arthur Donegan, 45, of 6 Sherwood Place, Hyde Park, from sergeant to Lieutenant Zone Commander of Troop G at Leeds, Greene County.

Donegan's salary will be $9,660. He formerly was in charge of sub-stations at Rhinebeck and Hyde Park for many years.

Small Gifts Aids Changing Ways In Old Bekondo

WEST CAMEROON—A bag of nails costing $5.60 has helped change the lives of villagers in Old Bekondo, here in this newly-independent African republic. The nails made it possible for 30 latrines to be built—the first in the area.

They also put the proud seal of approval on self-help. For the latrines were dug and enclosed by the villagers themselves—after the bag of needed nails was provided by the Community Development Foundation, whose New York office is at 46th Street and United Nations Plaza.

This project is typical of the way this foundation operates: helping to provide large dividends in community development from small investments. The foundation is currently aiding some 265 self-help projects around the world that uproot the causes of low standards of living. It is particularly interested in projects where the beneficiaries are children, and where the self-help aspect is demonstrated by the recipients contributing, in the form of their own labor and materials, at least 10 times the equivalent monetary contribution from the Foundation.

In Old Bekondo, the health-improving latrine project rose out of the discovery that 49 out of 87 village children had died in five years—a 56 per cent loss. It was a UN advisor who led the community to this tabulation. From much communal talk with him, on why this had happened, flowed group decisions to do something about improving the chance of the remaining children, and those still to come.

The advisor, Willie Begert, is a social welfare expert who was supplied to this former UN trust territory under the UN technical aid program. To take advantage of his skill, the Community Development Foundation made available to him a small allotment to spark pilot projects which, in his expert judgment, might prove pace-setters for other communities.

What followed capsules the process by which a completely new community development program has been launched in the Federated Republic of Cameroon.

In his study of the villagers' problems, Begert used a group of 28 mothers as a sample cross-section. It was they who had borne the 87 children in 5 years, out of which 49 had died. In addition to this startling discovery, he noted many health conditions that needed improving if the community was to take its place in the modern world of progress.

Here are the highlights of what the villagers determined to do to help themselves as they came to understand the causes of their problems:

They would dig the 30 pit latrines and cover them. Begert had constructed two models, in the course of his meetings with the villagers, and they declared they could do the job themselves—if they had nails. It was at this point that the advisor advanced the $5.60 from the Community Development Foundation.

They would fence in their pigs, which were running free and constituting a clear health hazard.

They would build a fish pond so they could add fish (healthful protein) to their meager diet.

This is another instance in which the provision of a small missing link made the difference between a good idea and action to implement it. The villagers of Old Bekondo were eager to contribute all the unskilled labor that was necessary. But they also needed pipe and cement they had no money for.

The UN advisor was eager for this project to materialize too, for he knew from experience in other countries that success in Old Bekondo would start a chain reaction in other communities, and that the government would be nudged into helping where necessary.

After making sure that the villagers understood the responsibilities they were undertaking, he told the Community Development Foundation that a $70 outlay would meet all its criteria for a contribution; and they approved it. Now, the Cameroon Government has agreed to contribute the stock of fish.

To further improve their diet, the villagers decided to add to their plantings vegetables and fruits that were new to them. And the Foundation has invested another $14 for otherwise unobtainable seeds and seedlings.

Total contribution of the Community Development Foundation — $89.60.

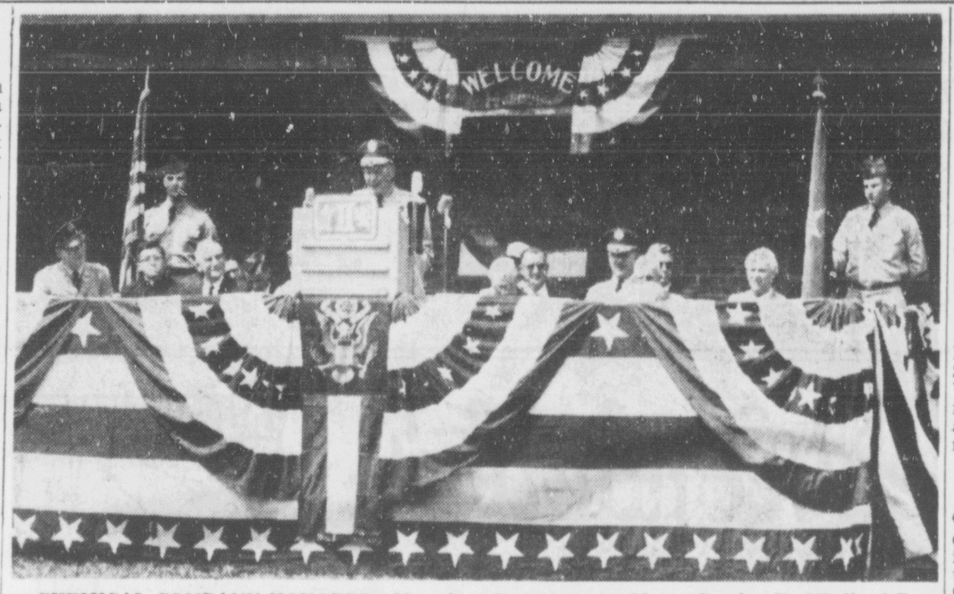
The Community Development Foundation, whose international headquarters is at United Nations Plaza and 46 Street, New York City, is a non-profit, nonsectarian organization operating self-help projects in Greece, France, Lebanon, Korea, Egypt, Ethiopia, Morocco, the Cameroons, Tanganyika, in the Southern Mountain area of the United States, and among American Indians.

Could Be Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter W. Heller, President Kennedy's chief economic adviser, says present economic trends are "perplexing and inconclusive cross-currents" but they do not "sum up to a crisis."

But there is a possibility, he added, that the recent slowdown "represents advance warning of an economic decline."

And decline, he told a Senate-house Economic Committee on Wednesday, was another way of saying recession.



CHEMICAL COMPANY HONORED—Men of the 380th Chemical Company, honored Wednesday at the Staff Sgt. Robert H. Dietz, USAR Center, Flatbush Avenue, for their recent time in service, heard Gen. Sherman V. Hasbrouck, of Stone Ridge (center) U. S. Army (retired), tell of his early experiences in the military service. Arrangements for the occasion were made through Mayor John J. Schwenk (left center) who praised the men of the company for the time they spent in the service in this time of the cold war. Others who spoke included Senator Ernest I. Hatfied, Mayor Victor C. Waryas, of Poughkeepsie; Mayor Stanley F. O'Dell, of Beacon; Col. Russell B. Smith, of Camp Kilmer, N. J., Commander Frank Roedell, Kingston Legion Post; Tom Hughes, national aide de camp, VFW Post 1386; Herman O. Dietz, father of Robert H. Dietz, who won the Congressional Medal of Honor; Capt. M. Zdradowski, commanding officer of the 380th Chemical Company, and Jesse McHugh, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors. Senator E. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson were unable to attend. The 380th was the only company of reservists in the Central Hudson Valley to be activated in recent years. (Freeman photo).

Federal Action Gives Hope to Georgia Negroes

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Federal intervention in Albany's long and bitter integration fight renewed the hopes of Negro leaders today after city officials again slammed the door on biracial talks.

Clergymen from other states continued a pilgrimage to Albany, joining local Negroes and about a dozen outside organizations in the sustained desegregation thrust.

The first demonstration in three days came Wednesday in the form of a lunch counter sit-in, resulting in the arrest of two Negroes. There have been more than 1,200 arrests since last December, with 403 during the past month.

Long-sought federal help materialized Wednesday in the closing hours of a seven-day hearing on the city's effort to outlaw marches, boycotting, picketing and other protest activities.

Justice Department attorneys argued against the injunction in a brief filed with U.S. Dist. Judge J. Robert Elliott.

The attorneys questioned Elliott's jurisdiction and said even if he had authority to proceed, injunctive action "would still be precluded by fundamental principles of equity."

Hasbrouck and Block Parks Meet Today

Boys from Hasbrouck and Block Parks will be in competition today as a part of the Mayor's Physical Fitness Program. This is the first of a scheduled series of such competition and will take place at 7 p. m. in Block Park.

Competition is open to boys and girls between the ages of eight and 16 and includes push ups, sit ups, pull ups, squat jump, squat thrust, broad jump, hop-skip-and-jump, weightlifting, 100-yard dash, and the 220-yard dash. Prizes will be awarded in the various events according to three different age groups.

Apartment House Reported Planned By Insurance Co.

Reports today in the uptown area indicated interest in the selection of a site between Linderman Avenue and Pearl Street for the building of an apartment house.

One report from a reliable source said that an insurance company is interested in acquiring several acres of land for the project.

The city has an ordinance prohibiting apartment developments in residential districts composed of single-family homes or smaller type multiple dwellings, and it is expected that an amendment would be required if such a development is permitted in the uptown area.

An apartment house project discussed during the administration of former Mayor Edwin F. Radel was rejected. It was proposed for an adjacent uptown area.

City Court Cases

Arthur Gamble, 31, of 75 Hasbrouck Avenue, charged Wednesday with third degree assault, was sentenced to 60 days in jail today in city court. Police listed Virigina Hammock, whose address was not given as the complainant. Wayne Grant, 23, of 672 Broadway, also charged with third degree assault was given a suspended sentence of 60 days and placed on probation. The charge was lodged by Marie Grant. Hearing on a third degree assault charge against Louis Black, 25, of 169 Hasbrouck Avenue, was put over to Friday. It was lodged by his wife, Joyce, police said.

Rocket Explodes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An advanced model of the Minuteman intercontinental range rocket exploded in flight today about 40 seconds after it was launched from an underground silo.

The 58-foot, three stage rocket darted from the 85-foot deep hole and appeared to be flying smoothly when it suddenly erupted, raining hunks of fiery debris into the Atlantic Ocean several miles off shore.

Gotham Police Say Jersey Man In Dutchess Job

Apprehended by a patrolman following a candy store holdup in New York City Wednesday, Frank E. McCarthur, 32, formerly of Midland Park, N. J., reportedly admitted participation in a $35 holdup on August 9 at Pride Cleaners, 430 Main Street, Poughkeepsie.

Acting Police Chief McManus, Poughkeepsie, told The Freeman today that McCarthur's accomplice, Walter M. Jacobs, 50, formerly of Newark, Calif., wanted in connection with the Poughkeepie holdup, escaped capture last night.

Same Technique

McManus said New York authorities informed Poughkeepsie police officials, that McCarthur and the other man used the same technique used in the Pride Cleaner laundry, where they brandished a toy gun and robbed the store manager of $35.

Warrants were taken to New York City by Detective Francis Doerr, who expected to take statements from McCarthur regarding the cleaner's store holdup. McCarthur has admitted he was one of the two men involved in that job.

Chief McManus stated that McCarthur is held in New York City on robbery charges developing from the candy store holdup last night. "We hope to have first claim on McCarthur when he is released in New York," McManus said.

The acting police chief said the identity of McCarthur and Jacobs was learned after police found in a broken down getaway car after the Poughkeepsie robbery a registration certificate from California showing the car was owned by Jacobs. Also found in the car were syringes, insulin medicine and shirts reportedly stolen by McCarthur and Jacobs in an Albany robbery.

Albany police also want custody of the two men, McManus said. He stated that Mrs. Theresa Ahearn, manager of the Poughkeepsie store who was robbed more than a week ago, positively identified a photograph showing the two men. The picture of the two suspects was obtained from Connecticut authorities.

Wenzel Still Critical

Donald Wenzel, 8, son of former Alderman and Mrs. Joseph Wenzel, of 122 Hasbrouck Avenue, who was injured Tuesday in a traffic mishap at Hasbrouck Avenue and Theresa Lane, was reported still in critical condition at the Benedictine Hospital today. He is under treatment for internal, head and face injuries. A police report said the boy, carrying an umbrella, apparently ran across the street into the path of a car driven by Donald Gunzelmann, 19, of 18 Elmendorf Street. Gunzelmann was treated at Kingston Hospital for shock.

Two Are Injured In Auto Accident

Two persons were injured at 10:30 p. m. Wednesday when the 1957 sports car in which they were riding struck loose gravel off Witch Tree Road, east of Route 275, Town of Hurley and overturned after hitting a tree.

John W. King, 23, of Woodstock, owner and operator of the vehicle, was taken to Benedictine Hospital by the West Hurley Rescue Squad. He was treated for a possible fracture of the left arm and multiple abrasions and bruises. His condition today was described as fair.

David Bolster, 23, also of Woodstock, a passenger in the car complained of injuries of the left arm.

Trooper W. E. Wiedemann of Phoenicia reported the car was traveling north when the driver apparently swung too wide of a left curve causing the car to hit the tree and overturn.

Halley's Comet last appeared in 1910.

Memoriam

In loving memory of mother, Beverly C. Lowe, who passed away August 9, 1961.

Safe in the arms of Jesus,
Safe in His gentle breast;
There by His love o'ershadowed,
Sweetly her soul does rest.
We shall meet and know each other
When the trials of life are o'er;
We shall meet and know each other.
As we did in days of yore.

SON, Charles J. Lowe

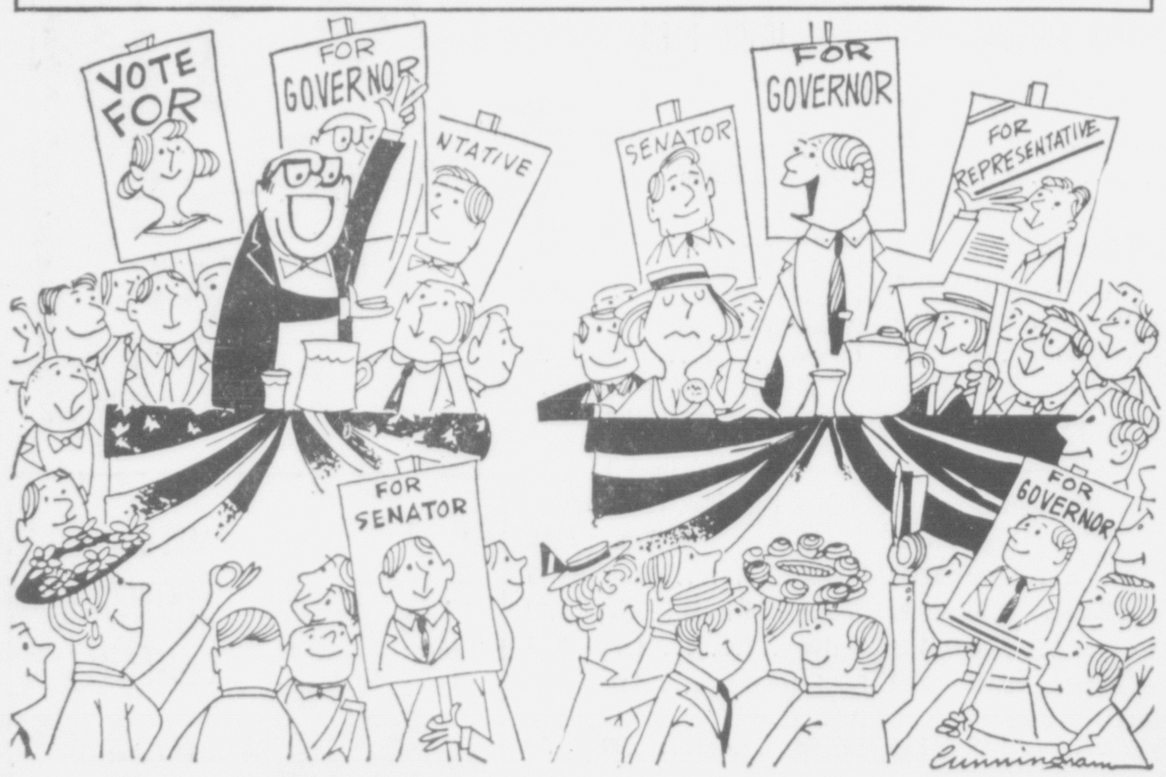
"POLITICS 1962"



"POLITICS 1962," a vital story that can affect the life of every American, is being told in daily dispatches to this newspaper by the experienced political writers of The Associated Press.

These dispatches are being filed from the nation's political nerve center in Washington, from state capitals, and from the campaign trails as they wind through the nation's big cities and way stops. They are carrying all sides of campaign debates to American voters, told fairly and clearly in the tradition of the world's greatest news service.

"Politics 1962" will rise in tempo. It will reach its climax Election Day, Nov. 6, when 38 U. S. Senators, 435 members of the U. S. House of Representatives, 35 state governors and many other officials will be chosen.

And as the millions of ballots are counted, AP's famous election returns system will gather results accurately and swiftly.

Reds Hand Algeria 6,500 Tons of Wheat

ALGIERS (AP)—Soviet Charged-Affaires Sergei Gaverin formally handed over to Algerian authorities today 6,500 tons of wheat. It was brought to Algiers in the grain ship Ugleuralsk, first Soviet vessel to dock in Algeria since the nation became independent.

There was a small mystery about the cargo of the Ugleuralsk, a ship of 11,800-ton displacement. She was lying as low as possible in the water and clearly carrying full capacity cargo of 8,000 metric tons. But the captain said he carried no cargo other than the gift of 6,500 tons of wheat.

34 Counties Eligible

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The number of counties eligible for federal drought-disaster aid stood at 34 with the addition of Schenectady county to the list.

Gov. Rockefeller announced Wednesday that U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman had declared Schenectady County a drought-disaster area.

3-Cornered Race For Assemblyman Looms in Greene

A three-cornered contest for the Assembly post loomed today as the result of petitions filed in Greene County by three candidates, Clarence Lane, Windham; Joseph Pavlak, Catskill; and William Freese, Cairo.

Greene County Undersheriff Pavlak was the first to declare himself a candidate for the Assembly seat to be vacated by William Brady, Coxsackie, a veteran of more than 20 years in the office.

Lane was the choice of delegates at the unofficial Republican convention last month, when he received 75 out of 148 votes.

Pavlak filed 765 signatures, Lane 771 and Freese 305. Only 205 valid signatures are required to designate a candidate for the primary, according to Greene County Attorney Charles G. Clay.

Lawrence C. Smith Jr., of Norton Hill, filed a petition with 554 names as the Democratic candidate for Assembly.

The primary is scheduled for Sept. 6 from noon until 9 p. m. for enrolled Republicans.

Police Still Seeking Trail of Road Thieves

Kingston State Police said today there were no new developments in the investigation of a complaint that a High Falls woman was assaulted and robbed early Wednesday as she drove along Mohonk Road over the Shawangunk Mountains.

Mrs. Mary Lou McKenna, of 12 Valley Road, High Falls, notified troopers that her car was forced to the side of the road by two men, who struck her on the head and took about $40 from her pocketbook.

Mrs. McKenna said she was on her way home from Walker Valley at the time of the incident.

Burns Fatal to Woman

DUNKIRK, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Detta Harter, 79, of Dunkirk, died early today at a hospital here of burns suffered Tuesday when she fell asleep and a burning cigarette ignited the cushioned chair she was sitting in.

Pictures Shown Of Space Object

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Space agency officials released photographs of a mysterious hand-sized object seen tumbling above the X15 rocket plane as it streaked to a record 314,750-foot altitude last July 17.

They said they could not identify or explain the object's presence in space.

The pictures were released after Air Force Maj. Robert Rushworth completed a routine X15 flight to 90,000 feet Wednesday and told newsmen he saw bits of insulation floating between the twin panes of the rocket plane's windshield.

The photographs, taken by a movie camera in the tail of the X15, show a gray-white object. They were taken as the plane, piloted by Air Force Maj. Robert White, roared up at 270,000 feet on his way to the record.

Officials said they could not positively identify the photographed object. Rushworth added that he did not believe the particles he saw were the same as the one White reported seeing.

One of the goals of Wednesday's flight was to build up heat on the steel-skinned X15. Temperatures rose to 900 degrees Fahrenheit, well below the 1,200 degrees plus the craft has undergone.

Retired Chief Dies

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — John A. Kinney, chief of police here for nine years, died yesterday at his home. He was 72.

Kinney joined the Syracuse Police Department in 1913. He was chief from 1945 to 1954, when he retired.

Bees Route Firemen From Burning House

BUDD LAKE, N.J. (AP)—Firemen dashed into a burning farmhouse Tuesday night—and dashed back out again.

A swarm of bees, angered by smoke and flames, routed the firemen.

"They were going down our necks, through our coats and into our trousers," said Fire Chief George D. Smith. About 20 firemen were stung.

The chief said the bees apparently had built a hive in the unoccupied building. The fire burned out the interior of the house.

Putnam Group Is Expected to Get Site Near Here

Negotiations for a portion of an 80-acre tract of land just outside of Kingston on Route 209 are expected to be closed in the near future it was announced today by a spokesman for Golf Course Properties Inc. This tract of land was discussed as a possible site for the Ulster County Community College.

Indications are that several persons in Putnam County are interested in acquiring the former Wiltwyck Golf Course property for the operation of an exposition involving the showing of business, industrial and trade products and merchandise, according to the spokesman.

Close to Closing

"Negotiations with the exposition people have been underway for the past 60 days and are close to becoming satisfactory to all parties concerned," he said. As of this date they continue as pending but the possibility of a deal with the exposition people was given as "imminent."

It was disclosed that an unofficial representative from the Ulster County Community College approached the corporation and discussed the possible use of the site for the college.

No Serious Consideration

A spokesman from the college explained that the site had been looked at but that it was not being given any serious consideration as a possible site.

He went on to explain that the college officials had looked at 25 different sites and that the sale or rental of this tract of land would not interrupt any present plans.

The land is also adjacent to another portion of the former golf course property mentioned in the past as a possible site of the Catholic High School.

Kingston's Own Circus Due to PlayHereMonday

Sunday morning the gaily-painted trucks and vans of the Hunt Bros. Circus will move into Dietz Stadium, and the following day the "magical wonders" of the world's "second oldest circus" will be presented for the enjoyment of the people of this area.

Monday, August 13, is the date for the annual showing of Hunt Bros. Circus, organized in Kingston almost a century ago by the late Charles T. Hunt.

Following the precedent of its founder, the show will arrive here on Sunday to allow show personnel to renew acquaintances with friends in the vicinity. Visitors to the show grounds on Sunday are welcome.

The 1962 version of the American institution known as the circus is billed as a "gay, glorious, glittering galaxy of Spangleland's brightest stars," and the famous Hunt Bros. herd of performing elephants will lead the day's program. Advance publicity notes that the circus will present an enlarged animal section, many aerialists and acrobats, and the usual laugh-provoking bevy of clowns.

Two performances will be given on Monday, at 2 and 8 p. m., with doors opening one hour earlier.

Seeking Burglary Clue

Investigation continued today with Kingston state police seeking some clue that might lead to solution of a burglary at Polkanettes drive-in restaurant on Route 28, Stony Hollow. Troopers said entrance was gained to the establishment by smashing a rear window. Vending machines were emptied of contents.

Medical Service Outlines Increased Rates, Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — On the eve of a joint legislative committee hearing, the United Medical Service (U.M.S.) has outlined the increased benefits offered in expanded New York Blue Shield (surgical-medical) contracts that also carry higher contributions from members.

The Joint Legislative Committee on Health, Hospital and Accident Insurance Plans holds a public hearing today on changes proposed in the Blue Shield plan, which is administered by the U.M.S.

At a news conference Wednesday, Dr. Leonard J. Raider, president of the U.M.S., defended the proposed changes and clarified the Blue Shield's intention to discontinue its so-called $2,500-$4,000 contract.

Some Contracts at Same Rate

Raider said the Blue Shield was not asking higher rates on some contracts to which members may transfer. He also said that it was some years since any increase in the rates for various coverages.

Noting that U.M.S has 11 major classes of differing contracts at varying rates, Raider explained: "We think there is a point at which we have to go to our people and say, 'you know this thing you've had since 1950, it's no good any more.' "

Plans to discontinue an old form of contract that gives paid-in-full allowances to individuals with a $2,500 income or a family with $4,000, and partial reimbursement to those of higher income, were called by Raider "an effort to raise the minimum level of medical care benefits."

Offers Three New Plans

U.M.S. offers three "new expanded" contracts at these paid-in-full levels, as well as three "expanded" $4,000-$6,000 contracts and two special indemnity contracts, it was noted.

As of June 30, U.M.S. counted 1,100,307 "old" $2,500-$4,000 surgical-medical contract holders, in a plan originated 12 years ago, and 710,887 holders of "expanded" $4,000-$6,000 surgical - medical contracts, it was said. All its contracts totaled 2,325,815.

Raiders reported that rates had remained the same since 1952 for the old $2,500-$4,000 contracts, while U.M.S. added benefits.

Likewise, he said the $4,000 $6,000 contract benefits had been increased without a rate increase since the expanded plan began six years ago.

Comparing the new expanded $4,000-$6,000 paid-in-full contract with the old $2,500-$4,000 contract, the individual monthly cost will be $1.68 instead of 88 cents; a couple pays $4.48, compared with $2 previously, and the family contract is $5.88 instead of $3.40, it was noted.

Slattery Leaves Conductor's Job After 49 Years

After nearly a half century of railroading, James J. Slattery, 21 Hammersley Avenue, Poughkeepsie, a native of Kingston, has retired as conductor on the New York Central Railroad. He recently made his last run as conductor on The Pacemaker.

One of Slattery's last passengers he assisted aboard the train at Poughkeepsie, was his wife, the former Mary Leahy.

Born in this city July 28, 1892, Slattery turned to railroading as a career in 1913, with the West Shore Railroad going from Kingston, Weehawken and Ravena. In 1916 he transferred to the Hudson division.

"I never thought I would see the day the railroad would stop passenger service on the West Shore," Slattery told a Freeman reporter.

Favorite Was No. 166

Slattery has worked as conductor on such trains as the Pacemaker, Lake Shore Limited and the Wolverine. He admitted his favorite train was No. 166, a commuter train which for years made up at Poughkeepsie at 5:40 a. m. and pulled into the Grand Central Terminal at 7:30 a. m.

"The commuters always were pleased with this train," Slattery said. "It seems courtesy was everybody's business and everyone had good manners. There was no shoving or pushing on getting on or off the train. Each commuter depended on the other.

The last three years, Slattery had been conductor aboard the Pacemaker, running between New York and Buffalo. Since 1935 he was conductor aboard various passenger trains and for the previous 12 years he was a freight conductor.

On his last run Slattery had as passengers in addition to his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Russell Schryver and many friends.

Golden Wedding Next Year

A large cake inscribed "Happy Retirement" had been sent to the conductor from Chicago. Throughout the years he was with railroads, Slattery's trains were not involved in a wreck.

Asked what his plans are for retirement, Slattery said, "I plan to catch up on my fishing and golf, and look forward to a visit with my son, Frank J., who is associated with the New York Central as assistant freight sales manager, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo."

"My wife and I are looking forward to next year, to observe our golden wedding anniversary," he added.

Concluding an interview, Slattery said, "I never thought I would see the day when Poughkeepsie runs on the Central would be replaced with Beeliners."

Samuels Is . . .

"that this same group gave the then Sen. Kennedy his first big boost in New York State in his quest for the presidential nomination.

Samuels, in his speech at Rochester, said the State Commission for human rights was established on a bipartisan basis "but has lost that character through political appointment."

Samuels, who addressed the Monroe County Non - Partisan Political League, said New York State was once a pioneer in civil rights but is lagging under the Rockefeller administration.

Library Fair Adds Features

Final arrangements for the Rosendale Library Fair which will be held Saturday from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. on the Library grounds in Rosendale are now being made.

Two new booths have been added this year. The booth of Edward Samuels, the artist who will do silhouette drawings in charcoal is exepcted to be a large attraction.

A new booth called Just for You, of which Mrs. Peter Mathews is chairman, will be a booth where any article which anyone wishes to sell may be brought. For information about this booth Mrs. Mathews may be contacted.

Donations are still needed for all the booths.

Priest's Slayer

Kruegler and the late Francis A. Kruegler of Troy, N.Y. Two of his sisters are in religious orders.

The young missionary, ordained in 1957, had served most of his five years as a priest in central Bolivia.

Father Kruegler's mission at Montero was only about 100 yards from a saloon. On Monday night he went to the saloon to complain of the noise and appeal to Saravia to stop selling drinks to minors. The priest also went to the police.

The bartender, in a drunken rage, got a gun and sought out the priest and shot him five times.

An uncle, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Anthony Kruegler, is pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Gloversville.

Financial and Commercial

By RICHARD HOENIG
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices held steady in an irregular pattern early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks showed a .2 gain at 217.9 with the entire advance centered in the industrials. Rails and utilities were unchanged.

Changes throughout the list were narrow with only a relatively small number of key issues moving as much as a full point.

The market seemed to reflect the latest reading of the economic indicators. The President's chief economic adviser called them perplexing and inconclusive, although he said they do not add up to a crisis.

Oils, aircrafts and mail order firms showed a slightly higher trend while steels, motors, electronics and utilities were off fractions. Falling into the mixed category were rubbers, metals, chemicals, tobaccos and rails.

Drug issues also failed to show a clear trend. They have been lower in recent weeks, partly because of adverse publicity. New regulations to strengthen government control of new drug testing were proposed early in the day. Merck showed a 1-point loss while Sterling was up about 1½.

U.S. Treasury bonds were higher in over the counter dealings while corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange were mixed.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall Street, New York City, branch office, 52 Main Street. Matthew F. Hasbrouck Jr., manager.

This is accomplished by projecting an image onto the surface of the lenses by optical or electronic methods. Device enables pilot to watch his instruments as he scans flight path.

Light District

be incurred by IBM, it was reported.

Supervisor Banyo reported that at a previous meeting the board had asked residents of the Town of Ulster Water District to restrict the use of water for lawn sprinkling and other unnecessary uses. The board discussed the findings of Harry Edinger, sanitation engineer, who with Superintendent of the Water District Albert Cross and Fred Wadnola, assistant engineer, had made quantity studies of the water supply in wells and recovery cycles.

The Board last night decided it is advisable to continue to follow the restrictions in the uses of water. The Board expressed appreciation to the people of the town for following the restrictions and noted that for the first time in three months the pumps had recovered sufficiently and a full supply of water is in the tank, with periods in the evening when the pumps shut down.

The board unanimously approved a finance resolution authorizing Supervisor Banyo to arrange for a 5-year note for the purchase of a new Reo dump truck and snow plow combination at a total cost of $10,672.

The supervisor was authorized to have the Pace Communication Co., make installation of one citizens band to a radio for test purposes, and if it proves satisfactory the purchase of four will be made.

In conjunction with the Common Council's discussion Tuesday night of complaints that noxious odors and dust were being diffused in the area apparantly from industrial plants, it was reported that Supervisor Banyo had communicated with the State Department of Health and requested that representatives come to the East Kingston area and make an inspection as soon as arrangments can be made.

The Common Council requested an investigation by and a report from Fire Chief James M. Brett, after complaints by Alderman Frank C. Adams (D-Fifth Ward) and other spokesmen for residents of the Ponckhockie section, that noxious odors and dust were being diffused from industrial plants in the area.

Wants Union Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—An AFL-CIO leader, whose union is an organizing target of the rival Teamsters Union, said today it is time all AFL-CIO unions combined in an open membership war against the teamsters.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America, said he plans to propose at the quarterly meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council beginning Monday in Chicago the formation by the federation of a Teamsters organizing committee.

Hurley GOP Club To Hear Wharton Aide August 14

Town of Hurley Republican Club will meet at the Hurley Reformed Church at 8 p. m. Tuesday, August 14 instead of at the Fire Hall in Hurley.

Peter Weider, of Glenford, club president, announced today, the guest speaker will be Bernhardt S. Kramer, assistant to Congressman J. Ernest Wharton and assistant Republican city chairman of Kingston.

Kramer, former Kingston city clerk and former Republican candidate for mayor here, has been the local representative of Congressman Wharton the last two years. He served as the Congressman's campaign chairman during the last election when Congressman Wharton defeated Gore Vidal, Barrytown playwright and author, Democratic candidate.

Rally Late Next Month

Weider said Kramer will discuss Congressman Wharton's record in Washington the last two years, and discuss current legislation pending before the House of Representatives and the stand taken by the Congressman on many vital matters now up for House action.

The club president also stated that preliminary plans for a major Republican rally and picnic have been discussed and final plans will be made at the Tuesday night meeting. According to present plans the rally will be held late next month at a place to be selected later in the Old Hurley area.

The committee in charge of the rally hopes to have a state Republican candidate for office in the November election, as principal speaker. Refreshments will be served after next week's meeting.

British Press Critical

LONDON (AP) — The British government came under mounting fire from its home press today as the deadlock continued over the fate of Dr. Robert A. Soblen, the runaway spy.

Several newspapers questioned Home Secretary Henry Brooke's insistence that the Israeli El Al Airline fly the psychiatrist back to the United States to serve a life sentence for spying for the Soviet Union.

Plate on Crypt

Lawford heard of Marilyn's death, she flew from the summer White House at Hyannis Port, Mass., to attend the funeral.

No Movie Stars Invited

But when she got here she found that neither she nor Peter was invited.

Marilyn's half sister, Bernice Meracle, and DiMaggio handled the guest list. No movie stars were invited — and none showed up.

Those in charge of the arrangements explained that if they invited one star, they would have to invite many, and to have a big crowd would mean a circus-like funeral.

Hurley Dental Clinic Slated on Aug. 15th

A series of dental clinics for preschool children ages four and five will be conducted at the Hurley Firehouse Wednesday, Aug. 15, Dr. E. Franklin Hall, commissioner of health of Ulster County, has announced.

Children participating in these clinics will have their teeth inspected, cleaned and will have an opportunity to participate in the program of decay prevention.

The children will be able to see dental equipment and have a chance to learn and understand the importance of dental health. In this way, they will become interested and look forward to future visits to the dentist.

Appointments for those interested may be made by calling: The Ulster County Health Department.

NAMED AFTER BEER: This choice cut of beef got its name from the place where it was traditionally served. In the early days of New York this cut of beefsteak was quite often served in taverns where porter (a very dark-brown beer) was sold.

Tobacco Shares Affected By British Smoke Report

Q) "I am concerned about our Reynolds Tobacco stock which seems to have declined more severely than the other tobaccos. Can you tell me why this should be?"—J. C.

A) Yes indeed, and very simply. Reynolds has declined more than other cigarette makers because it went up much faster and higher. Of the entire group, your company has for several years been considered the leader in marketing and in growth. Reflecting these factors, Reynolds got up to a level in 1961 where its yield was only 1½ per cent and its price-to-earnings ratio became 30, unprecedented for a tobacco stock.

The subsequent decline has been a correction of that overvaluation. It has been sharpened by the Britsh health scare on cigarettes which has affected all makers. Reynolds still sells at a lower yield than any other in its group and at a higher earnings multiple. I would certainly hold my shares.

Q) "I am 18 years old with a small savings account, 10 shares of American Telephone and 40 shares of Transitron. I know the latter is speculative but I won't need the money for many years. Do you think Transitron has good long-term growth prospects?"—S. B.

A) It is very comforting occasionally to encounter a young man like yourself who is capable of taking the long view. I am sorry to say that I am not impressed with the outlook for Transitron and I see little attraction in holding these shares. The company is a big and efficient maker of semiconductors, a business which has been hurt badly by intense competition.

In addition, four mutual funds have brought suit against the directors of Transitron for substantial damages, alleging that registration statements filed with the SEC in 1959 and 1960 contained false and misleading statements. The people who run Transitron are very able, but they've got a big job ahead of them to rebuild the company's earnings and public image.

PSC Refuses 4 Firms To Run Bus Service

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission refused today to permit four Upstate bus companies to operate joint service between Buffalo and Albany, mostly via the Thruway.

F. Leonard Titus, a PSC examiner, said the companies had failed to show that the services of existing carriers on the route were insufficient.

Greyhound and New York Central, which now provide such services, had opposed the petition of the four companies—Western New York Motor Lines Inc. of Batavia, Central New York Coach Lines Inc. of Utica, Mohawk Valley Transit Inc. of Amsterdam, and Schenectady Transportation Corp. of Schenectady.

In other actions, the commission:

1. Authorized the Elmira-Watkins Glens Transit Corp. of Montour Falls to increase its 30 per cent discount for 10-trip, 10-day commutation tickets to 40 per cent, effective tomorrow.

2. Made permanent the temporary operating rights held by Central New York Coach Lines Inc. of Utica for a bus route between Little Falls and Fonda.

Drivers Get Applications

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Department reported Wednesday it had begun mailing renewal applications to about 1.9 million motorists whose drivers' licenses expire Sept. 30.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A candidate for mealtime variety this weekend is scallops, featured at many groceries over the country.

One national chain is featuring them at 59 cents a pound in its New York area outlets.

For those who insist on red meat, there is a wide selection of beef and pork cuts.

Ribs of beef (offered at 59 cents a pound by one chain) and round steaks are popular in the Northeast. Southeastern stores highlight rib and cube steaks and ground beef.

Midwestern markets are featuring chuck roasts and ground beef.

Pork features include smoked hams, picnics and smoked butts.

Poultry features are turkeys and fryers, with some stops highlighting rock cornish hens.

Garden production continues to generate a wide spectrum of seasonally priced fresh vegetables.

Lettuce, kale, escarole, endive, romaine, chard and okra are regional attractions. Carrots, radishes, celery, cucumbers and cabbage are also featured.

Other vegetable specials include artichokes, onions, tomatoes, sweet potatoes and peas.

Fruits highlighted this weekend regionally include peaches, early pears, seedless grapes, watermelons, cantaloups, summer apples, figs, plums and nectarines.

Drowns in Old Canal

WATERFORD, N.Y. (AP) — David Ronson, 8, of Waterford, drowned yesterday in the old Champlain Canal in this Saratoga County village.

State police said the boy, son of Mrs. James Alston, apparently had gone for a swim. His bicycle and shoes were found on the canal bank. No witnesses to the drowning had been reported, troopers said.

PEACE IN THE PACIFIC—Two threatening situations in the Pacific have been eased by negotiation and compromise. Most serious problem was Netherlands New Guinea, where 1,000 to 2,000 Indonesian paratroopers had been dropped over the last three months to fight the Dutch. Indonesians wanted to make the area, which they call West Irian, part of their far-flung island nation. Under the settlement, it will be placed under United Nations stewardship for nine months. Dutch authorities will phase out their administration during the first half of the period, then Indonesians will begin moving in. Strong guarantees were made to insure the right of self-determination to the 700,000 native Papuans. To the northwest, Britain and Malaya have agreed to create a new federation formed of Malaya and, 450 miles across the sea, Sarawak, North Borneo and Brunei, former bastions of the British Empire. It will contain 10 million people. Britain will retain use of its huge Singapore naval base.

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A lady politician came to town this week with some startling news for the Captiol corps — women are more concerned than men with how the government spends our money.

This intelligence was startling because those who have attended the hearings, the marches, the debates and the other public events that take place here had evolved the following generalization:

—The flinty-eyed persons who pound the table and shout, "Cut spending before socialism overtakes us," generally are men. The soft-eyed persons who plead for more spending for the public schools, for day-nurseries, for the retarded children, generally are women.

From this generalization arose the political cliche — the men want to hear about balanced budgets and billions for highways. The women want to hear about schools, children, consumer protection, the arts, and see your smile.

The generalization and the cliche were thrown down by Sen. Janet Hill Gordon, who came to town to file her designating petition with the secretary of state and talk politics. Mrs. Gordon and Assemblyman Robert M. Quigley are in a hot race for the Republican nomination for the House of Representatives in the 35th congressional district.

She has been soliciting votes for 16 years so should know her subject. She said that the men are "more for or against a program which ties into an area in which they are interested."

"The gals seem to be quicker to want to know how much it would cost. That's understandable because they make out the budget at home," she said.

She was asked whether she encountered much bias for or against women politicians.

Women who had something to do with winning the vote for their sex are inclined to favor a woman candidate and men who are having domestic difficulties sometimes are hostile to a woman, she answered. But, she said, these are the only two situations in which votes are influenced by the fact a candidate is a woman.

WORDS TO STIR THE MASSES WITH — Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, in a magazine article, says that one of the major functions of political leadership is "to maximize the potential of one's fellowership."

Jumps, Is Drowned

MASONVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Charles Anderson, 10, of Jamaica, L.I., apparently became frightened when the boat he was in drifted from the shore of a pond, police said. He jumped from the boat and was drowned.

The accident occurrrd a few hours after he arrived at the pond near this Delaware County community Wednesday with his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Phipps, for a vacation.

The pre-emptive bid is a two-edged sword and can cut both ways. Thus, if East had failed to open with three clubs South would not have been crowded into a three spade bid and North and South would probably never have reached game.

Furthermore, information given by the pre-empt helped South so much that he was able to bring home his doubtful contract.

South won the first club trick and played ace and another trump. West was back in the lead and played the jack of hearts. Dummy's queen held the trick and South played a ace and another heart, ruffing in his hand.

By this time South had a pretty good count. West had almost surely started with six diamonds, four hearts, two spades and a club. Also, it was most unlikely that his six diamonds included both the king and queen.

If such were the case, East held a singleton honor. South laid down the ace of diamonds. Sure enough, East produced the king. Then South went to dummy with its last trump, played the fourth heart and discarded his losing club.

West was in and had to lead a diamond whereupon South was able to make his tenth trick with the jack of that suit.

Ida Cantor, Wife Of Comedian Dies In Sleep, Was 70

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ida Cantor, wife of comedian Eddie Cantor and the one for whom he sang his song "Ida" for many years, died of a heart attack in her sleep Wednesday. She was 70.

Cantor, also 70, suffering from a heart ailment himself for several years, collapsed in a state of shock when his wife was pronounced dead. He was placed under sedation in their Beverly Hills home. A nurse remained at his bedside.

The couple, childhood sweethearts on the streets of New York, married 48 years ago while Cantor was a struggling vaudeville comedian.

They had five daughters who with Mrs. Cantor figured prominently in much of the banjo-eyed comedian's humor. The eldest daughter, Marjorie, died of cancer in 1959.

Mrs. Cantor died in the family home where she had been suffering for some time with a heart ailment.

Her maiden name was Ida Tobias. Her father tried to get Cantor to quit show business and to go into the clothing business with him.

But the orphaned Cantor's widowed grandmother, Esther Cantor, put her foot down. Being a comedian, she said, was just as important as selling suits.

Cantor has been largely retired in recent years, spending his time writing books and articles reminiscing on his long career.

Survivors in addition to Cantor include the four daughters, Natalia, Edna, Marilyn, Janet and five grandchildren.

The woman who became known to millions as "Ida, sweet as apple cider, traveled thousands of miles with Cantor on his personal appearance tours.

She suffered a heart attack eight years ago while in Miami, Fla., for a Cantor benefit performance. She had a second heart attack four years ago and spent three months in a hospital in Los Angeles.

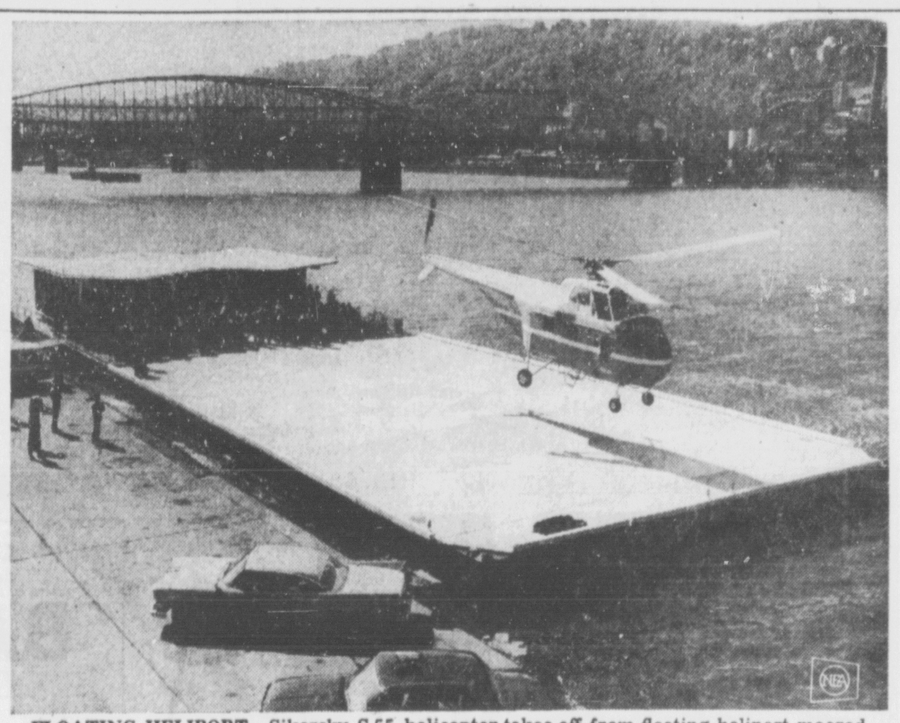
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Richard Burchfield, 36, of nearby Hamlin was injured fatally Wednesday night in a two-car collision at the intersection of Route 104 and a country road a mile west of here.



FLOATING HELIPORT—Sikorsky S-55 helicopter takes off from floating heliport moored on the north bank of the Monongahela River in downtown Pittsburgh, Pa., the only such structure in the United States. Heliport, measuring 160 feet in length, provides a landing area of 54 x 90 feet and connects downtown Pittsburgh with two major air terminals. A ticket office and waiting room for passengers are provided at left.

Heart Aid Apparatus In Pa. Police Cars

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said today it has equipped 94 state police cars with mouth-to-mouth apparatus to aid heart attack and other accident victims.

The units consist of an eight-inch plastic tube and mouth guard with an air passage into which an officer can breathe fresh air to victims.

Dairy Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department report today pointed up the growing seriousness of dairy product surpluses.

The report showed that the government held nearly two and a half times as much of these surpluses on Aug. 1 this year than a year earlier. Acquired under price support programs, the surplus stocks included 366 million pounds of butter, 105 million pounds of cheese and 556 million pounds of nonfat dry milk.

IZMIR, Turkey (AP)—Clutching a picture of Marilyn Monroe, a Turk jumped into the Aegean Sea Wednesday. Passersby rescued him.

The man was identified as Bayram Kandemir, 36, married and with three children. Friends said he had been in an acute state of depression and had been drinking since reading of Miss Monroe's

Approval Expected For Wheat Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers will vote—undoubtedly favorably—in a referendum Aug. 30 to reinstate a control program for wheat. The program was in effect until this year's crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman set this date for the referendum in giving up hope for congressional enactment of a new program in time for the 1963 crop.

Planting time is at hand for winter wheat, which makes up about three-fourths of the total production.

The referendum offers growers little choice other than acceptance of the program. If they approve the old program, they will be offered government price supports at a base rate of $1.82 a bushel. Should they reject it, the support rate would drop to $1.21 — and then it would be available only to those farmers who planted within acreage allotments given them under the rejected program.

Father of Judge Found Innocent In Extortion Case

COHOES, N.Y. (AP) — The father of a State Supreme Court justice has been found innocent of a charge of attempted extortion brought by a building contractor.

Harry Soden, 80, of Cohoes, father of Justice Harold R. Soden of Lake Placid, was exonerated Wednesday by Police Court Justice Frank L. Brandt, who ruled the evidence insufficient.

The misdemeanor charge had been placed aainst Soden, a real estate agent, by Ralph Moore of Cohoes. Moore charged that Soden had threatened to make public Moore's arrest record unless Moore permitted Soden to handle the sale of homes Moore built.

Hearing Slated Today in Lawson Trooper Transfer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Lines were drawn today for a court battle in which a veteran State Police officer is seeking to rescind his demotion and transfer by the State Police superintendent.

Justice Lawrence H. Cooke of State Supreme Court scheduled a hearing (2 p.m.) on a temporary court order staying the demotion and transfer of State Police Capt. John J. Lawson.

Lawson, commander of Troop K at Hawthorne since 1955, was ordered transferred to Troop A, Batavia, and demoted to his permanent rank of lieutenant.

That order was issued by Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr. in what a State Police spokesman called "an internal management problem."

The court order demanded that Cornelius show cause why the Cornelius action should not be set aside.

Gov. Rockefeller has supported Cornelius.

Lawson has been a member of the state police since 1929.

Woodstock Fire Co. 3 Auxiliary Officers

Mrs. Ann Stone was elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Woodstock Fire Department Company 3 at the auxiliary's regular meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were:

Catherine Ostrander, vice president; Teresa O'Brien, recording secretary; Greta Kaftan, correspondence secretary; Vaughn Hofele, treasurer (re-elected), Jacqueline Peters, sunshine secretary and Dorothy Wilbur, publicity chairman (re-elected).

The Executive Committee was retained and is composed of the president, vice president, correspondence secretary, Mrs. Wilbur, 1st member and Lenetta Lapo, 2nd member.

Greta Kaftan and Phyllis Howland served refreshments following the meeting.

Foundry Workers End Strike in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Four hundred employes of the Pratt & Letchworth Steel Foundry have ended a 16-day strike by accepting a new one-year contract that provides a four-cent hourly pay raise and increased fringe benefits.

The workers, members of Local 316 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, voted in favor of the contract, 154-96 Wednesday.

Senate Passes Bill On Ferry Sale in U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a bill that would permit sale in the United States of three ferry boats that once operated between Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Prescott, Ont.

The measure now goes to the House.

The boats were replaced in 1960 by a bridge between Ogdensburg and Johnstown, Ont. Because they were built and registered in Canada, the boats could not be sold to American interests for use in domestic trade.

Under the bill approved in the Senate Wednesday, the boats would be admitted to American registry and could be used in domestic coastal trade.

The boats were owned by the Prescott Ogdensburg Ferry Co. Ltd., a Canadian corporation wholly owned by the Ogdensburg Bridge Authority. They are the Fort Town, the Maple City and the Windmill Point.

Whiteface Mountain To Be Project Site

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Whiteface Mountain has been selected as the site of a summer project to develop quality standards for air pollution control, the State Health Department announced today.

Engineers and scientists of the Health Department, the Whiteface Mountain Authority and the State Research Center will conduct the study.

A department spokesman said the project's primary purpose will be to investigate possible use of Whiteface, one of the highest peaks in the Adirondack Mountains, as a control station for air sampling.

Jewish Camp Facilities Offer Swimming Pool

The second largest swimming pool in Ulster County has been a busy place during the first half of the summer at the Kingston Jewish Comunity Center Recreation Area, located high on Old Hurley Mountain.

Just three miles from the center of Kingston, the swimming pool and other recreation facilities on the 124 acre site are used five days per week from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. by the Jay Cee Cee Day Camp which has an enrollment of 128 children. From 4 p. m. until 8 p. m. family members of the Jewish Community Center and their guests may use the facilities on weekdays, and from noon to 8 p. m. on weekends.

American National Red Cross trained lifeguards and water safety instructors are on constant duty at the swimming pool, and the Camp Ranger, Joseph R. Moreau of Waterbury, Conn. is a trained first aider and a competant woodsman. In addition, a staff of 21 professional teachers and college students work as counselors and specialists with the day camp on a daily basis. Robert A. Kurland, egecutive director of the Kingston Jewish Community Center acts as camp director and supervisor of the family recreation department.

According to Kurland, the program and facilities offered to members of the Jewish Center could not be possible if it were not for the devoted volunteers who make up the center's board of directors, the camp committee and the family campsite committee. Attorney Seymour Werbalowsky is president of the Jewish Community Center Board, Mrs. Edward Weisman, chairman of the Camp Jay Cee Cee Committee, and Samuel Berger is chairman of the family campsite committee. Former City Judge Aaron E. Klein, who has been chairman of all these committees at one time or another during the past several years is president of the Jewish Community Council of Kingston, Inc. which is the parent body that supports and coordinates all of these activities.

Membership in the Jewish Community Center is open to any resident of Kingston and the surrounding area. The Center is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest. Membership information may be obtained by telephoning Center Director Robert Kurland at the camp between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. on weekdays, or by visiting the campsite.

Gives Up License

ALBANY—About to reach his 85th birthday on August 28, John S. Phoenicia

PHOENICIA — The James M. Cole three-ring circus is coming to town Aug. 14 under the sponsorship of the Father Ginet Council, Knights of Columbus. Two performances will be given at 2:30 and 8 p. m. on the recreational grounds behind the parish house. The circus will feature daring lady aerialists, the famed Jessie's one finger stand, clowns at their funniest, a great chimpanzee troup and the sensational Alfonzo in his death-defying balancing act.

The proceeds will be used to seal the community skating rink. This will practically insure foolproof ice skating next winter when the temperature is favorable. The Council urges local residents to buy tickets in advance since the local share of the proceeds will be greater on all such purchases. The tickets may be obtained from council members, the Columbian Squires, the Ladies Sodality, the Junior Sodality and at the rectory of St. Francis de Sales Church.

Phoenicia residents are looking forward with more than passing interest to the public opening of the Museum of the Catskills Saturday, Aug. 11, at Camp Woodland.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington P. Lasher of Poughkeepsie visited friends here over the weekend.

Plans are nearing completion for the book and cake sale being sponsored by the Phoenicia Library Association. It will be held Saturday in the McGrath Ski Shop beginning at 10 a. m. Browsers, buyers or both will find many books in many categories offered at low prices. All proceeds will go toward maintaining and furthering the work of the library.

Prominent business man, church and civic leader, Harold J. Wilkins, a resident of Shokan who conducted the Phoenicia Electric store here, died Saturday at the Albany Hospital. In respect to his memory the Father Ginet Council, Knights of Columbus indefinitely cancelled their picinic scheduled for the past Sunday. Mr. Wilkins was a member of the Council and former Grand Knight.

Accuses Kennedy Of Trying to Run One-Man Show

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y. (AP)—A Republican women's leader said today President Kennedy is trying to run a one-man show with his requests for increased delegations of power.

Mrs. Clare B. Williams, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, said in a speech prepared for a GOP women's club:

"The American people are becoming daily more aware of the dangers of the Kennedy system of government — particularly his efforts to run a one-man show.

"Already this year President Kennedy has asked the congress for 27 new delegations of power and made 74 requests for spending programs. The fate of our republic could well rest on this issue alone. . ."

Dairy Exhibits Planned by 4-H Clubs at Fair

Dairy cattle make up the major exhibits of livestock shown at the Ulster County Fair. About 60 head of dairy cattle will be shown by 4-H members at this year's fair with every breed being represented.

The cattle and other livestock will arrive Tuesday night, Aug. 14 and will remain in place until Thursday afternoon. The cattle show will begin Wednesday morning at 9 a. m. The show will start with 4-H showmanship. This is a contest where the 4-H member is judged on the appearance of themselves, their animal and their ability to show and lead their calf. This class will be divided into three sections according to member's age and will be judged by Robert Kelder of Kripplebush, Wayne Kelder of Accord and David Mollenhauer of Rosendale, all experienced showmen and former 4-H Club members.

The judging of the dairy classes will start 10 a. m. Wednesday, Aug. 15 and will continue for most of the day. The judge this year will be Donald Wagner, a graduate student from Cornell University. He will judge both the 4-H and open class show.

The dairy members exhibiting at the fair may also participate in the dairy judging contest at 1 p. m. Wednesday. Each member will judge one or two classes of cattle and older members will be asked to give oral reasons for their placings. From this contest, high scoring individuals may be selected for further training in preparation for the New York State Exposition in late August at Syracuse.

The 4-H members enrolled in dairy projects receive instruction in feeding, fitting, management, judging and record keeping at local 4-H Club meetings and at county-wide training schools held throughout the year. Frank Coddington of Stone Ridge is the 4-H dairy leader in Ulster County.

Other Livestock

Other livestock to be exhibited at the fair are sheep, goats, rabbits and horses. Sheep, goats and rabbits will be in place on Wednesday, Aug. 15. The sheep and goat show will be held Wednesday beginning at 6 p. m. Donald Wagner will also judge this show.

Another big event which draws interest and attention is the 4-H and open class horse show. This show will be held on Thursday, Aug. 16 with the 4-H horse show starting at 8:30 a. m.

There will be approximately 25 4-H members entering their horses this year at the fair. The judge for the 4-H event will be Miss Ann Bentzen of Woodstock. The first class will be 4-H fitting and showmanship. This class is judged on: appearance or grooming of the horse; appearance of exhibitor and how well he or she seems to understand the job, and the presentation of the animal in the ring. Other classes will be conformation; pony, western and English horsemanship; western stock horse and English using pleasure horse.

The open class horse show will begin at 11 a. m. Larry Burgess of Cobleskill will be the judge.

READY FOR FAIR—Lucille and Anne Marie Sabino of the Lake Katrine 4-H Club groom their Holstein calves in preparation for the Ulster County Fair Aug. 15 and 16 at Forsyth Park. Cattle show will begin Wednesday 9 a. m. with 4-H showmanship. Dairy members exhibiting at the fair will participate in the dairy judging contest 1 p. m. Wednesday. (Freeman photo).

Lions Hear About Bees and Honey

"Polination of agricultural crops is the greatest contribution of honeybees to our economy." This was brought out at a talk presented by Edward C. Rowe of Kingston at the weekly Lions Club luncheon Tuesday. Rowe, who has been a beekeeper for some 35 years, also pointed out that honey and beeswax production are also important.

He presented slides of his beekeeping operation, explaining the management needed in raising apiaries to produce honey and to provide for pollination. The importance of a good queen bee in raising a colony of bees was explained. He pointed out that a colony of bees normally consists of one queen (the mother of the hive), thousands of worker bees (sexually undeveloped females) which do all the work in the field and hive, and some drones (males) which mate with young queens. Since the one queen lays all the eggs in the hive, the growth and productivity of the colony is entirely dependent on her.

"The spring management practices involved," he noted, "are strengthening weak colonies and checking the food supply of the overwintering colonies." When necessary a sugar solution mixture of one part sugar to one part of water is supplied to the hives.

Proper Feeding

In explaining the summer management necessary, the importance of proper feeding conditions for bees was brought out. Important factors shown were: closeness and availability of food (nectar and pollen-bearing plants), weather conditions and landscape or topography. These conditions will determine the strength and health and quantity of bees, which in turn will effect the total bee population and honey production.

The food getting activity of bees was discussed as Mr. Rowe pointed out that "a bee will cover a radius of three miles in securing food and will always return to its original hive or colony."

In the fall after the honey and beeswax has been produced, it is processed and extracted at his plant. The quantity of honey produced by a hive may vary but one group of 25 hives that he processed yielded a ton and a half of honey.

For the winter months the colonies are packed (covered with tarpaper) and an adequate feed supply (honey) is made available to each hive. Bees can withstand cold weather as it was brought out that a temperature of not less than 57 degrees is maintained inside the bee hive.

That agricultural people are dependent on honeybees is indicated by the fact that many colonies of bees are rented to orchards for the blossoming period or season.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If tax rates stay at present levels—as Washington dispatches say is likely for the rest of this year at least—how else can the economy get the desired added umph?

A faster pace is held needed if jobs for all are to be found, or if a feared but still highly speculative recession is to be averted.

Tax cut advocates say their prescription would do the trick. Others see this doing as much harm as good because of the greater Treasury deficit a tax cut might bring.

Labor leaders urge higher consumer spending power as the answer—increased take home pay, either through less tax withholding, or higher wage scales, or both.

The battle over the need for tax cuts now or next year is just part of the basic conflict between labor and management over what would really make the economy spurt. The goal is to soak up present unemployment and find enough new jobs to take care of a hoard of newcomers to the labor force in the next few years, and also to improve the United States' position in international trade and financial markets.

Labor leaders stress the need for more purchasing power in the lower-income brackets where any increase in take home pay usually finds its way quickly into market place. Union leaders hold that management is primarily intent on increasing profits. They are skeptical that this will produce many, if any, jobs. A tax cut by adding to spending power would increase retail sales, and thus industrial output, and hence jobs, union spokesmen say.

Business would welcome a tax cut, too, as improving its net income. But tax rates are applied to gross earnings—and these are dependent upon sales, prices and operating costs. And many businessmen charge that this mix is growing much too thin.

High tax rates cut into net profits. But so do rising operating costs when they mean that even increasing sales volume results in no more, and perhaps even less, profits for those who take the risk—so says the NAM.

That's why some hold that tax cuts by themselves won't do the trick of getting the economy rolling as fast as the planners would like.

Outdoor Concert Is Scheduled Sunday By West Point Band

WEST POINT, N. Y. — The U. S. Military Academy Band will present the seventh in its series of Sunday concerts this Sunday at 7 p. m. in the Trophy Point Amphitheatre, West Point. The featured soloist will be SP5 Thomas Stevens playing J. Ed. Barat's trumpet solo, Andante et Scherzo.

The Band, under the baton of Lieut. Colonel William H. Schempf, will play the Overture to Leonard Bernstein's Candide the Second Suite in F for Military Band by Gustav Holst, and Carl Friedemann's Slavonic Rhapsody No. 1; and a medley of selections from the Lerner and Loewe musical My Fair Lady will be performed. Colonel Schempf will conclude the program with Jerry Bilik's arrangement of service songs entitled, Salute to the Services.

All are cordially invited to attend.

Brooks - Voerg Nuptials Announced

Miss Dolores Mae Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brooks of Saugerties, wed William Voerg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Voerg, Saugerties, in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, July 14 at St. Mary's Church in Saugerties.

Officiating was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Plover, pastor. Barbara Genther was organist and Mrs. John Nau was the soloist.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

Mr. Brooks gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white gown of pure silk organza over summer taffeta. It was designed with a circlet neckline, fitted bodice, abbreviated sleeves and a bouffant, hooped skirt in chapel length. Her silk illusion veil was gathered to a seed pearl crown and she carried white stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Carolyn, was maid of honor. She wore a pale orchid nylon mist over taffeta styled with abbreviated sleeves, scoop neckline, pleated bodice, and full ballerina length skirt. A large silk rose held a chapel veil. She carried orchid rosebuds.

The birdesmaids were Dorothy Oliveri, Alice Brooks, and Arlene Voerg, sister of the bridegroom. The girls wore gowns of canary yellow identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried arrangements of yellow rosebuds.

The bridegroom's niece, Bonnie Voerg, served as flower girl in a pale aqua gown styled with very bouffant skirt, fitted bodice and circular neckline. She carried a princess basket of mixed rosebuds.

The bridegroom's best man was his brother, Donald Voerg of Saugerties. Ushering were Vincent Voerg, another brother, John Sheeley of Kingston, Eugene Oliveri was ringbearer for his aunt.

Approximajely 130 guests were received at a reception given in the Mt. Marion Inn. Afterwards, the couple left on a wedding trip to Cape Cod. For traveling the bride wore a gray and white pin-stripped suit with contrasting accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Voerg is a graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed by Ferroxcube Corporation. Her husband, an alumnus of Saugerties High also, is attending the Albany Pharmacy College.

Mr. and Mrs. Voerg will reside on Virginia Avenue in Saugerties.

CHURCH SOCIETY MAKES FALL PLANS —Meeting to discuss details of the fall schedule for members of the St. Joseph's Altar-Rosary Society are the new officers (l-r) Mrs. Walter Dougherty, secretary; Mrs. Donald Sweeney, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Decker, president; and Mrs. Joseph Misasi, treasurer. Plans include a Day of Recollection, bake sales and card parties. Official activities for the group will resume on Monday, Sept. 17 when the membership will meet in the basement of St. Joseph's School at 8 p. m. (Freeman photo).

Art Exhibit Is Planned by County Association Here

The 15th annual outdoor exhibit of the Ulster County Art Association will be held on Academy Green on Saturday, Aug. 18 and Sunday, Aug. 19 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. At least 40 exhibitors are expected to participate and members are planning on making it the best show in their 15 years of existence.

All members who wish to have their names and pictures listed in the printed program are urged to contact Miss Margaret Finn of Kingston by telephone any day at 12:30 but not later than Monday, Aug. 13.

The Ulster County Savings Institution is again inviting us to select pictures for showing in the bank the week following the outdoor exhibit. These pictures, as heretofore, will be voted on by patrons and the ones receiving the largest number of votes will be awarded cash prizes.

Phoenicia Offers Play

Phoenicia Playhouse re-opened last night with John Osborne's play, LOOK BACK IN ANGER. The drama is responsible for placing its author at the vanguard of the "angry young men" movement. LOOK BACK IN ANGER is considered the manifesto of the angry young men and the play never fails to provoke debate as to the merits or demerits of their cause.

The central role of Jimmy Porter was taken by Jim Stark, who was featured earlier this year as Geoffrey in "A Taste of Honey." Mr. Porter was the Broadway understudy in A TASTE OF HONEY and spent time in England with the author of last night's play.

Also appearing in the production are Tina Mandas, who starred as Serafina in THE ROSE TATTOO and Lynn Kevin and Walter McGinn.

I do not doubt for a minute these youthful artists have a great deal of talent. Their training and ability shine through their lines and I would fully expect to see these actors and actresses on Broadway some day. They have a tremendous potential.

Last night's production, however, lagged so terribly, the second act was just finishing at 11:10 p. m. Although the curtain didn't go up until almost 9 p. m., action on stage just crept too slowly.

For me, the play created not an atmosphere of surging undercurrents, unrest and anger, but one of calm, silent retreat. I venture to say the author intended his characters to convey a feeling of inner torment, not just resignation. I think Walter McGinn came closest to this feeling even without speaking a word.

Phoenicia Playhouse has a possible hit if inner fires of emotion can be lit by the director in each of his actors. A play with a message, good talent, excellent set and lighting, SHOULD add up to a top box office attraction. Weekend theatre-goers, I am sure, will see a polished performance.

Mt. Cathalia Playhouse

Mt. Cathalia Playhouse brought off-Broadway to Ellenville this week with Esther Kaufman's hilarious comedy hit "A Worm in Horseradish." The management has been fortunate in securing this outstanding play for presentation as a venture into the off-Broadway field of endeavor. Off-Broadway theaters in New York started several years ago with an experimental group, and have in a relatively short time become an outstanding phase of show business, giving both playwright and actor a showcase.

"A Worm in Horseradish" opened a successful run at the Maidman Theater in New York City on March 13, 1961, having in the cast at that time such outstanding stars as Eli Mintz (Uncle David of the Goldberg series), and Celia Adler.

The story revolves around a family living on the lower east side of New York City in 1906. Their poor but pleasant home is a haven for strays, friends and relatives. One of the strays is a lost immigrant who asks to stay overnight and remains for several months. The friction that arises between him and a hypersensitive aunt results in some of the funniest comedy scenes ever written.

Like most families of that period, they have a boarder who has been living with them for many years. He is a young doctor and is urged to marry a rich girl. What the father does not know is that his own daughter is in love with the young man. His joy is touching when he learns of their engagement and the guffaws are plentiful when he plans to keep them apart until the wedding.

An all-Broadway cast, including Sigmund Revlis, Miriam Kassell, Bonne Benov, Richard Cataldi, Phillip Benson, Karl Freedman and Suzanne Barr, has been assembled for the production.

"Worm in Horseradish" will be presented thru Friday at 8:30 and Sunday evening at 7:30. There will be two performances on Saturday evening at 7:30 and 10:30.

The delightful Broadway favorite "Wedding Breakfast" will succeed "A Worm in Horseradish" the week of August 14 to be followed by "Two for the Seesaw", August 21-26, and "The Champagne Complex," August 28-September 2nd.

Mrs. Maude Stratton Feted

The Adventures of Maya the Bee

(EXCERPT 4: "THE ADVENTURES OF MAYA THE BEE") BY WALDEMAR BONSELS

"And yet," said Hannibal the daddy-long-legs," "it was my undoing. The man grabbed me. He lifted me by one of my legs, dangled me in front of his huge eyes, and said, 'See, what's here, just see what's here'. And he grinned — the brute! — he grinned with his whole face as though it were a laughing matter."

Maya kept quite still. Her head was in a whir. "Have human beings such immense eyes?" she asked at last.

Please think of me in the position I was in," cried Hannibal, vexed. "Try to imagine how I felt. Who'd like to be hanging by the legs in front of eyes twenty times as big as his own body and a mouth full of gleaming teeth each fully twice as big as himself? Well, what do you think?"

Awful! perfectly awful!"

"Thank the Lord, my leg broke off," said Hannibal. "There's no telling what might have happened if my leg had not broken off. I fell to the table and then I ran as fast as my remaining legs would take me and hurled threats of violence at the man. They saved me my threats did, the man was afraid to run after me. I saw him lay my leg on the white paper and I watched how it wanted to escape—which it can't do without me."

"Was it still moving?" asked Maya, prickling at the thought.

"Yes. Our legs always do move when they're pulled out."

"Impossible," said the little bee, quite scared, "an offen leg can't move."

"An offen leg? What is an offen leg?"

"A leg that has come off," explained Maya, staring at him.

"Don't you know? At home we children used the word offen for anything that had come off."

"You should drop your nursery slang when you're out in the world and in the presence of cultured people," said Hannibal severely. "I see you're not a fit person to associate with. . ."

"It isn't altogether easy to get along with strangers," Maya thought. "They don't think the way we do and don't see that we mean no harm."

Martino-Gaddis Wedding Announced

Miss Laura Elizabeth Martino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Martino of Saugerties, wed Harold I. Gaddis of Ruby on Sunday, Aug. 5 at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston.

Officiating at the 2 p. m. ceremony was the Rev. James V. Keating. Angelo Altomarie was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of chiffon over taffeta. The bodice was styled in circular lines and was accented with appliques of lace with seed pearls and sequins. Sleeves were three quarter length and the skirt was very bouffant. A cap of sequins held a fingertip veil of silk illusion.

The bride's sister, Marie M. Perpetua, was the matron of honor. She wore a violet ballerina length gown with satin cummerbund, and a leaf cap trimmed with seed pearls and flirtation veil.

Cosmo Perpetua, the bride's brother-in-law, was best man. Ushering were Cosmo Perpetua Jr., the bride's nephew, William Gaddis, the bridegroom's nephew.

Approximately 125 guests were entertained at a reception given in Aiello's Restaurant.

For her wedding trip to Canada, the bride wore a beige suit with matching accessories and an orchid.

The bride was graduated from St. Patrick's in Catskill. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High, is a plumber.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaddis will reside in Ruby, N. Y.

Women's Federated GOP Clubs Hold Summer Conference; Area Delegates Attend Sessions

The summer conference of the Federation of Women's Republican Clubs of New York State, Inc., was held last week in Massena. Attending as delegates from Ulster County were Mrs. Raymond LeFever, third judicial district director and vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee; Mrs. John Schomer, president of the Ulster County Women's' Republican Club; the Mmes. William A. Krum and Josef Knubbin, and the Misses Alice Scardefield and Cordelia Feltman.

One of the highlights of the conference was a section entitled: "Campaign Rockets," led by Mrs. Ronald Buchner, chairman. The term "rockets" was used to refer to the 10 judicial district directors. Mrs. LeFever, who represents the third district, gave a progress report covering this area. In her address, she also discussed the rehabilitation of Albany as contained in a report made by the Temporary State Commission; the acquisition of property for state purposes in downtown Albany; proposed plans for the Albany Riverfront Arterial Project; the improvement and uplifting of the state capitol; removal of slum areas and building programs.

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller addressed the delegates at a luncheon the second day of the conference. His topic was "Republican Women and the Future of the Republican Party."

PUTTING END TO HEATED POLITICAL ARGUMENT

Q: What can a hostess do when guests in her house get into a heated argument on politics? The other evening after dinner this very thing happened in my house and I was really at a loss as to know what to do. I tried several times to change the subject, but to no avail—instead the argument grew more heated and I thought they were going to come to blows. I would appreciate any help you have to offer in handling a situation of this kind.

A: After your attempts to change the subject had failed, you would have been fully justified in telling your guests in language as forceful as necessary that you are not interested in politics and will they please stop arguing about them in your house.

Asking Guests Not to Send Presents

Q: My husband and I will soon be celebrating our golden wedding anniversary with a small dinner party for our family and a few close friends. I plan to call the guests on the telephone and invite them verbally. I do not want them to send us presents. Will you please tell me how I can let this fact be known?

A: When you telephone your friends and relatives simply say that you would love to have them come to dinner on such and such a date to help you and your husband celebrate your golden wedding anniversary, and add that you are requesting everyone please not to send presents.

A Letter to the Pope

Q: I would like to write to the Pope but do not know how to properly address him. Will you please be good enough to give me the correct form of address, salutation and close?

A: You address the envelope to, His Holiness, Pope John XXIII, Vatican City, Rome, Italy. You begin your letter, "Your Holiness" or "Most Holy Father" and close, "Your Holiness' most humble servant."

Area Residents May Compete in Dutchess Fair

Residents of this area are invited to compete in most sections of the Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck, Aug. 21 through 26, and two sections are particularly attractive for the home gardener and homemaker. They are the flower shows and the arts and crafts show.

Details may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Joseph Bruyette, superintendent of entries, Rhinebeck. Flower show entry blanks must be mailed by Aug. 19, while arts and crafts entries are to be on file by next Tuesday.

There will be competitive flower shows on Tuesday and Thursday of fair week—with a wide selection of horticultural and artistic classes for both shows. On the last two days of the fair, Saturday and Sunday, a special invitational show is scheduled, with leading artists of the valley to display their arrangements. There also will be competitive classes for junior gardeners.

Section for Amateurs

There are two sections to the arts and crafts—fine arts, and household arts and crafts.

There is a section in the fine arts show for professionals only, with classes for portraits in any media, oil, water colors, pastels and prints. Ribbons only are to be awarded in this.

There also is a section for amateurs, including all of the classes and others for ceramics, a miscellaneous class, and commendable exhibits for children eight to 12 years, and children in the 12-16 year group. Cash awards are offered.

The household crafts include classes for table linens and luncheon cloths, bed linens, pillow cases, towels, centerpieces, modern rugs, needlepoint, wall hangings, sewing, knitting and crocheting, miscellaneous articles, antiques, a junior group, many culinary classes and special awards for furniture refinishing.

Six candidates for the title "Centennial Farm Queen" at the 117th Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck will wear dresses popular to the era of 1862, during the first three days of the fair. While the fair runs from Aug. 21 through 26, the queen will be judged during the first three days with the crowning to take place on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock before the grandstand.

Secret Until Friday

If you attend the fair Tuesday through Thusday, you will have an opportunity to cast your ballot for one of the six candidates. At least one of the princesses will be in a special booth in the Centennial Farm center tent near the Administration building at all times on those first three days.

The results of the voting will be kept secret until Friday night when the queen is actually crowned. Albert Cole, Red Hook, will present the six candidates to the audience at the grandstand and Lee L. Leachman, Rhinebeck, president of the fair, will crown the queen.

On Saturday and Sunday, the queen will attend several functions on the fairgrounds, but will wear a new "country" dress instead of her antique costume.

The princesses seeking the title are Mrs. Norman Benson, Dover Plains; Mrs. Morgan Culver Jr., Stanfordville; Miss Jeane E. Hahn, Pleasant Valley; Miss Patricia Hedges, Pine Plains; Mrs. Andrew Skidmore, LaGrangeville; and Miss Joyce M. Sleight, LaGrangeville.

Girl, 4, Drowns

WILLSBORO, N.Y. (AP) — Elaine Mary Weiskotten, 4, of Syracuse, fell from a boat dock into Lake Champlain Wednesday and drowned while playing with a friend.

The girl had been vacationing here with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Frank Weiskotten, police said.

ArgentineLeaders Vie for Control Of Ground Forces

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Rival army leaders engaged today in a new struggle for leadership of the nation's ground forces and the commanding voice in President Jose Maria Guido's military-dominated regime.

A rumored intra-army feud broke into the open Wednesday when dissident commanders rebelled at the leadership of Gen. Juan Bautista Loza, war minister and army commander in chief.

Loza quit both posts Wednesday night, and the dissidents said they were satisfied the crisis would not erupt into open conflict. The roots of the crisis—deeply divergent views within the army on the future course of the nation—remained.

Defense Minister Jose Luis Cantilo took over temporary command of the war ministry and summoned top army commanders to a conciliation meeting today.

Man Fatally Hurt Holstering Pistol

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP) — Russell Alvin French, 26, of Canajoharie, was injured fatally Wednesday night when, police said, a pistol discharged as he put it into a holster.

The bullet struck him in the abdomen.

Police said French had been showing the pistol to his brother, William, 23, at his home.

He died at a hospital here.

Vassar Willed 75G By Illinois Woman

GENEVA, Ill. (AP) — Vassar Collage in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., receives $75,000 under terms of the will of Mrs. Stella S. Sencenbaugh, heiress to the merchandising and industrial fortunes.

Mrs. Sencenbaugh died at her home in Aurora July 23 at the age of 80.

Her will, filed yesterday in Kane County Probate Court, showed she left an estate of more than $6 million.

WATER RESOURCES COMMISSION

In the Matter of the Application of HILLSIDE ACRES WATER COMPANY
(William Zang)

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to Section 451 of the Conservation Law, the Water Resources Commission will meet in the Grange Hall at Lake Katrine in the town of Ulster on the 22nd day of August, 1962, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day for the purpose of hearing all persons, waterworks corporations, municipal corporations or other civil divisions of the State of New York that may be affected by the execution of the plans of William Zang, doing business as Hillside Acres Water Company for the taking of a source of water supply for distribution in a real estate subdivision, known as the Hillside Acres subdivision in the town of Ulster, Ulster County, by the purchase of such supply from the facilities of the City of Kingston and for the construction proposed in connection therewith, plans for which have been filed with the Water Resources Commission, at its office in Albany, N. Y., where the same are open for public inspection; and for the purpose of determining whether said plans are justified by public necessity, whether they provide for the proper and safe construction of all work connected therewith, whether they provide for the proper protection of the supply and watershed from contamination or provide for the proper filtration of such additional supply, whether they are just and equitable to the other municipalities and civil divisions of the State of New York and to the inhabitants thereof affected thereby, and whether they make fair and equitable provisions for the determination and payment of any and all legal damages to persons and property, both direct and indirect, which will result from the execution thereof.

All persons, waterworks corporations, municipal corporations, or other civil divisions of the State of New York, who have objections to the execution of said plans, in order to be heard thereon, must file such objections thereto in writing and in duplicate in the office of the Water Resources Commission in the city of Albany, New York, on or before the 21st day of August, 1962. Every objection so filed must particularly specify the grounds thereof.

No persons, waterworks or municipal corporation or local authority can be heard in opposition thereto except on objection so filed.

Dated: Albany, New York,
August 3, 1962.

Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, Democratic candidate for one of Massachusetts' seats in the U.S. Senate, got in hot water with Boston's Metropolitan Transit Authority while wooing voters in the Forest Hills train station.

MTA Manager Thomas J. McLernon came by and told Kennedy, brother of the President, there were rules against such things. McLernon asked Kennedy to leave and said later he would have done the same with any candidate. Kennedy walked off without protest.

Joe G. Smith of San Mateo, Calif., became concerned when he learned that of the 1,650,000 Smiths on file at Social Security headquarters in Woodlawn, Md., 12,000 of them were named Joe Smith.

Joe G. decided to make sure his records weren't being mixed up with the other Smiths. So while on vacation—he's an airline sales coordinator—he traveled to Woodlawn with his wife and two children.

They were given a personally escorted tour of Social Security headquarters, and Joe G. was assured by officials that he is identified by number as well as name, and that electronic computers keep the records straight.

Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark welcomed 300 persons into U.S. citizenship "on behalf of each of the 170 million souls now living under Old Glory."

The mass naturalization ceremoney in San Francisco's Masonic Temple was witnessed by 2,000 persons, including lawyers attending the American Bar Association conference.

Finigan Resigns OCS Post; Accepts Position at Dryden

The resignation of George D. Finigan of West Hurley, business manager of the Onteora Central Schools District, has been accepted by the Onteora Board of Education.

The resignation becomes effective Oct. 1, following a 30-day vacation terminal leave.

The board has named George Smith of Gloversville as successor to Deming.

Finigan has accepted the position of business manager in the Dryden Central School system near Ithaca. William H. Deming, former supervising principal at Onteora, now holds that post at Dryden.

In a letter to the board of Education, Finigan said his resignation was prompted by a desire "to further my education."

"The time has arrived Finigan wrote, "when it has become impossible to remain here and at the same time continue my work in the Doctoral program."

Finigan will pursue his doctorate in education at Cornell University, which is located only seven miles from Dryden. He presently holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Hartwick College in Oneonta and studied in the doctoral program at Albany State College.

Finigan has been in the Onteora Central school system for five years and during the 1961-62 school year held the positions of assistant to the District Principal in charge of business, Adult Education director and District Clerk. He started in the OCS system as a teacher in the business department.

The Dryden Central School system has a current enrollment of 1,800 pupils but an expansion program now in progress is expected to hike the enrollment to 2,500.

Native of Oneonta

A native of Oneonta, Finigan graduated from Oneonta High and Hartwick College. He was a member of the golf varsity at Oneonta High. He served three years with the U. S. Marine Corps during World War II and saw foreign duty in Japan. Finigan is married to the former Judith Gaffney of North Abington, Mass. and they have two sons; Michael, 3, and Jim, 1.

Following the reading of Finigan's letter of resignation, Trustee Anne Larys moved that it be accepted with regret and Finigan be granted a 30-day vacation terminal leave and that a letter of appreciation for services rendred be forwarded to him. The motion was seconded by Trustee Arthur P. Knight.

Finigan's letter, addressed to Philip Gordon, president of the Board of Education, read as follows:

"I wish to tender my resignation as assistant to the District Principal in charge of business for the Onteora Central Schools, effective Oct. 1, 1962, with my one-month annual vacation being taken in September, 1962.

"Leaving Onteora after five enjoyable years is a difficult move, indeed. If it were not for my desire to further my education, I would no doubt remain here for many years to come. The time has arrived, however, when it has become impossible to remain here and at the same time continue my work in the Doctoral program.

"I have decided, therefore, to accept the position that will enable me to continue in this program.

"My association with the Board of Education and co-workers at every level has been a most pleasant one. Onteora offers one of the finest education programs in the country. This program is certainly a credit to a far-sighted, educationally determined Board of Education and to the excellent staff it has provided. I am proud to have been a member of this staff.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Board of Education for the many courtesies it has shown me and to extend my best wishes for success in the building program for which we have all worked so hard."

Maverick Trio's Concert Pleases Music Critic

The Trio combination of John Wummer, David Sackson and Joseph Wolman — flute, violin and piano, respectively—through the high standards of their performances and the variety and interest of their program, has become a popular ensemble both in New York and Woodstock.

Their program, presented last Sunday, ranged from the 18th century Trio Sonata by Teleman to the 20th century Vaughn Williams and Martinau. Also included were the Variations on "Ihr Blue Mein Alle" for flute and piano by Schubert and the Six Miniatures for flute and violin by Louis Haber, which was dedicated to the performers.

This rich and varied program offered an opportunity for each of the performers to display his skills and insight into the works, so different in style, structure and content. The Piano-Violin Sonata by the late English Senior composer Ralph Vaughan Williams, who wrote this work at the age of 83, is rarely performed. It impresses as a substantial, well constructed sonata of big proportions. On first hearing, the two first two movements seem stronger than the last, where the inspiration appears to have run out and a rather repetitious pattern of model harmony (elsewhere well integrated) culminates in monotony.

Charming Numbers

Louis Haber's Six Miniatures in Duet form for flute and violin is an effective set of short numbers, charming and spiced with sardonic humor, although somewhat reminiscent of Prokofief and Shostakovich. The audience response to it was frankly happy and they laughed, giggled and chuckled. The presence of the composer added a feeling of intimacy.

Martinau's Madrigal Sonata for Flute, Violin and Piano, although written in a strictly tonal idiom has nevertheless contemporary flavor. It radiates an iridescent bouyancy. The "magic flute" of John Wummer, deservedly famous, interpreted with delicacy and sensitive musicianship each work.

David Sackson's playing had authority and interest, especially in the Vaughan Williams opus. The familiar and popular Joseph William, proved not only that he is a fine pianist, but that he can meet with admirable flexibility the demands of a highly varied program. . . . SALVADOR LEY.

Taxpayers Set Annual Election

The annual election meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association will be held Saturday, Aug. 11, 8 p. m., at Deanie's upstairs.

The nominating committee will make its report at this time. Other important business items are on the agenda.

Meanwhile, reservations are being accepted for the Association's annual dinner on Saturday, Aug. 18, at 8 p. m.

Fred G. Freitag, past president and dinner chairman, has announced that Richard Knauf, president of the New York State Taxpayers Association, will be the princial speaker.

Axel Announces Committees for Costume Ball

Committee chairmen for the costume ball which the Woodstock Artists Association will hold at the Aty Students League on Saturday, Sept. 1, have been announced by Milton (Mutzy) Axel, general chairman of the gala which is titled "An Autumn Happening" Costume Ball.

Tickets for the affair which will benefit the Woodstock Artists Association and the Woodstock Artists Welfare Fund are available and may be obtained at the Association Gallery or from any member of the committee.

Committees which are in process of formation include these chairmen: Tickets, Gladys Plate; entertainment and decoration, Tom Doyle, Mary Robinson and Tommy Beere; music, Robin Wettereau; tables, Sara Mulligan; food, Eugene Ludins; publicity, Cecile Forman and James Bird; murals, Arnold Blanch and Reginald Wilson; security, Kenneth Downer. Richard Crist is serving as treasurer for the event.

A feature of the decorations which are expected to be very unusual will be eight murals which will be painted by Woodstock's top artists. During the ball these murals will be auctioned off to the highest bidders. This was a dramatic point in last year's entertainment.

Woodstock artists and their frends are already at work designing imaginative costumes for "An Autumn Happening" Cosume Ball. Special prizes by well known artists will be awarded to those whose costumes are judged the best.

Turnau's Final Double Bill Is Top Drawer

In its final week of summer repertory, Woodstock's Turnau Opera Company is offering two modern operas — Leonard Bernstein's Trouble in Tahiti and Ravel's L'Heure Espagnole. These works make an ideal pair for they are both essentially comedies and readily accessible but startlingly different in style and content. Both were thoroughly entertaining in Monday evening's performance.

Trouble in Tahiti is a terse and moving portrayal of a man and wife, assailed at every turn with banal amusements but unable to communicate with each other. Words and music, both by Bernstein, are effectively united in a combination of humor and pathos. For humor, we liked the wife's number in the hat shop with its delightfully irrelevant Latin American refrain and the husband's cynical aria in the shower about winners and losers. Barbara Owens' staging of these scenes had a lot to do with their success. For pathos, take the tender duet, Can't We Be Kind, and the wife's "soliloquy" on the psychiatrist's couch, There Is a Garden.

The music is in Bernstein's best musical comedy style, sometimes biting and dry and a little jazzy. His academic training is betrayed by his use of canonic imitation in the duets—this is almost a mannerism but nonetheless effective. Phyliss Rappeport's piano accompaniment was on a high level both technically and stylistically.

Rodgers Outstanding

Lou Rodgers as the wife was outstanding. This is her best role to date for it gives her an opportunity to demonstrate her talents as a comedienne and as a serious actress—the part calls for both. Her voice quality and intonation were excellent. Eugene Green, who played the husband, has a big ringing baritone although the role gave him little chance to show it off. Nevertheless we enjoyed hearing it and his acting was superb.

The TV Trio—William Appel, Alan Baker and Carolyn Chrisman were very good with their forced smiles—particularly Miss Chrisman who offered a crooning "commercial" sound instead of her usual operatic soprano.

Clever Music

The Ravel opera is completely frivolous—a good example of French sophistication although the subject is Spanish. The music is extraordinary clever, full of Spanish rhythms and other allusions — such as the Chopinesque touches which were admirably played by Yehudi Wyner, the pianist and director. In place of set numbers, Ravel offers a supple declamation of the words above a fluid and deceptively inconspicuous accompaniment. The high point musically is the final quintet with its simultaneous trills and some real counterpoint in the best Mozartian tradition.

Among the singers, L'Heure Espagnole was undoubtedly Carolyn Chrisman's show. She played the flirtatious wife of watchmaker Alan Baker in true Spanish "spitfire" fashion. Her acting and dancing were brilliant and her voice presented some new resources—dark and sultry low tones a la Carmen. Baritones Alan Baker and Eugene Green, bass Rolland Hurst and tenor William Appel were excellent in character roles. Appel has the right kind of lyric tenor for the part of the poetry-spouting would-be lover.

Credit is due Elaine Summers, the dramatic director, who skillfully injected Spanish dance movements in the action.

Fire Company No. 1 Purchases Improve Emergency Services

Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 has voted to purchase two large oxygen tanks to improve emergency service, especially the administration of oxygen.

Action on this vital matter was taken at the monthly meeting this week. The company also authorized purchase of the necessary equipment for local refilling of the tanks of the resuscitator and the inhalator when they become empty.

At the present time, these two pieces of equipment have to be taken out of town for re-filling, thereby causing the loss of several hours of their use

Under the new system this loss of valuable time will be avoided. The tanks will be filled in the fire house from the new tanks. This will insure that the supply of oxygen will be constantly maintained at full capacity, ready for use at all times.

In the absence of Fire Chief George Haythorne, who is on vacation, Captain Chet Wolven reported there were 12 alarms during the month of July. They were classified as follows: 5 brush fires, one building, one car, one false alarm, one cooking utensil on stove, two still alarms. The company also responded to the alarm for the lost boy in Napanoch.

It was voted to have the annual picnic on Sept. 9 at the Woodstock Estates.

Edward Varncy was elected a member of the company.

Legion Carnival Friday-Saturday

Woodstock's Annual Carnival will be held for two days this week on the grounds of American Legion Post 1026. Starting at 6 p. m. on Friday, Aug. 19 the Carnival will resume at 3 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 11.

Post Commander Bob Bartlett of Lake Hill said today that this year's presentation is lavish with entertainment and booths offering prizes and refreshments for all ages.

Annual Fair Is Set by Rebekahs

The annual fair and roast beef dinner of Agapae Rebekah Lodge, Bearsville, will be held on Thursday, August 23, at the Bearsville Lodge Hall.

The fair will open at 2 p. m. There will be a home baked goods table, miscellaneous table, jewelry and other tables. Dinner will be served at 5:30 p. m.

The Post Auxiliary will hold a cake sale.

Rios Loses No-Hitter In Seventh

Gene Rios of the 35 Club was just one out away from a Babe Ruth League no-hitter against the Vols Wednesday evening at the Athletic Field.

Then, boom, he was fighting for his life.

John Eccleston broke up Rios bid for the 0-hitter with a single. Dick Koyon walked. Rios uncorked a wild pitch and both runners moved up a base. Rod De Veau singled and a 5-1 ball game was now 5-3

But Rios' troubles weren't finished—not yet. Dan Fiore scratched an infield hit and the game ended when DeVeau tried to reach third base on the hit and was out Ken Heppner to Paul Hopper.

Rios walked seven and struck out 12 to get the verdict over George Dall, who whiffed nine. Vince Crantz had a single-double combination and Joe Amendola crashed two singles for the winners.

Mrs. MacFadden Leading in Gross Division on 69

Mrs. William D. (Chris) Harris of Twaalfskill leads the Ulster County Women's Golf Association championship by four strokes at the end of the first round and there are strong indications she may be about to terminate Wiggie de Lisio's three-year reign as Queen of county women golfers.

The brilliant Port Ewen shotmaker rebounded from an outgoing 45 Wednesday at Wiltwyck Country Club to carve out a spectacular 37 on the incoming nine for gross 82 which put her four shots ahead of the defending champion, Mrs. de Lisio, and Mrs. Roland Riegel of Shawangunk, who carded 86s.

The net leader at the halfway mark is Mrs. Elbert MacFadden of Twaalfskill, a 26-handicap golfer, who fired a 69 with a neat 48-47-95 gross to go with her 26 stroke allowance.

Two superbly played 9-iron shots for birdies on the back nine, while Mrs. de Lisio climbed to 45, secured Mrs. Harris' lead. Mrs. de Lisio made the turn in 41 but a "9" on the par-5 seventeenth hole ruined her day.

Mrs. Harris' first birdie was a 9-iron shot that landed lesss than 2 feet from the cup on par-3 eleventh hole. On the par-four 15th, another beautiful 9-iron planted her ball almost stiff to the pin.

Never Over Five

While she had three 6s on her front nine card, Mrs. Harris, who once swept three consecutive county Invitations, never went over a "5" on the home nine. It was touch and go with Mrs. de Lisoi until the treacherous 17th, where Mrs. Harris got safely down in 5.

Mrs. de Lisio's third shot took a crazy bounce into the cavernous trap fronting the 17th green and she needed four shots to get out. With two putts she finished with "9." On the front nine, Mrs. de Lisio birdied the long par-5 seventh.

Mrs. Riegel, the Shawangunk Country Club champion, meanwhile, toured the exacting Wiltwyck layout in two 43s. With the tournament concluding on her home course next Tuesday, she must be conceded a good chance of winning the brass ring.

Mrs. Harris led the 1960 tournament by two strokes at the halfway mark but finished second to Mrs. de Lisio. But yesterday she displayed a bouyancy and confidence in the back nine which indicated she will be hard to overcome.

In fourth place in the net division is Mrs. Gerald Gruberg with 103-28-75. Mrs. Prescott Newell, Wiltwyck, is all alone at 97-21-76. Four players are tied with 77s: Mrs. George Rifenbary, Wiltwyck, 96-19; Mrs. Inger Walker, Woodstock, 95-18; Mrs. Arthur London, Wiltwyck, 117-40; and Mrs. Charlotte Lapine, Wiltwyck, 95-18.

Fifty nine players competed in yesterday's first round in hot, humid weather. Two players dropped out from the original field of 60 and another was added.

Gilda Himes Leads

Gilda Himes' 468, with 157, 158, 153, was No. 1 series in the Summerettes league; team results: Woodstock Lanes 2, Safeway School System 1; Woodstock Pharmacy 0, Ted's Service Center 3; Woodstock Packing 3, P. J. Weider 0; Deanie's Dillies 1, Mower's Market 2.

VanAken's 5-Under 135 Paces WCC Qualifiers

Five-time champion Bill Van Aken fired a sparkling 5-under-par, 36-hole score of 135 to capture medalist honors in the club championship qualifying round at Woodstock Country Club.

The veteran Hurley shotmaker carved out rounds of 69 and 66. In the second round, he toured the village links in 34-32, carding five birdies, a bogie and 12 pars. On his first swing around the course he bagged birdies on the second and seventh hole and picked up his only bogie on the No. 8 hole.

On the second nine, Van Aken collected birdies on No. 3, 5 and 6 to go with six pars. He will meet Jay Van Wagenen, who qualified with 77-77-154 in his first round match.

Defending champion Herb Waterous was automatically qualified and posted 73-68-141 in quest of the medal.

Other qualifiers in the championship flight included:

Bill Waterous, 75-70-145; Jerry Bjorkmann, 74-75-149; Walter Van Wagenen, 75-77-152; Allen Waterous, 79-73-152; Eric Knutsen, 79-74-153; Floyd De Witt, 79-75-154; David Dean, 79-74-153; Jay Van Wagenen, 77-77-154; Steve de Lisio, 78-78-156; Fred Allen, 79-78-157; Alex Sharpe, 84-76-160; Richie Hilton, 83-80-163; Dave Halpert, 81-83-164.

Van Aken's second round card:

Greg Rios Pitches Second Consecutive LL No-Hitter

Ladies and gentlemen, please step up and meet the Wonder Boy of the area Little League baseball!

Take this Greg Rios lad of Sickler's Delivery in the American Little League.

Not only did he achieve a Johnny Vandermeer job (two consecutive no-hitters) on the Lions Club Wednesday evening. But at the plate, he was a mere "3 for 3" with two doubles and a home run. Even Mel Allen would be tempted to bellow his famous "How about that?" about Rios' performance.

Young Greg allowed only one base on balls, struck out 14, and lost a shutout when the Lions sneaked across a run in the first inning.

The Sicklers, meanwhile, parlayed 9 hits and two walks into nine runs, with a big 5 cluster in the fourth, Mike Kelly slugged a single and triple and Mike Bailey had two singletons for the winners.

Mrs. Hutchins Wins First Test

Defending champion, Mrs. J. Carson Hutchins, launched the defense of her title with a 4 and 3 victory over Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons in first round action in the women's' championship flight at Woodstock Country Club.

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) de Lisio, perennial champion until her one-year retirement, launched her comeback with an 8 and 7 triumph over Mrs. Jean Hiltebrant.

In another first round match, Janet Fochie turned back Mrs. Harry Kennedy, 4 and 2.

Mrs. Inger Walker defaulted to Jerry Reed.

In first flight matches, Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen defeated Mrs. Arnold Broggi, 5 and 4. Mrs. William McGrath won over Mrs. Doris Murray by default; Mrs. Charles E. Burnett edged Mrs. Alex Sharpe, 1 up, on the 18th hole; and Mrs. Thomas H. Dendy defeated Mrs. A. Fogel, 3 and 1.

Second flight action saw Mrs. Elmer Rylance edge Mrs. Kenneth Charlton, 1 up. Mrs. Lambert Dean eliminated Mrs. Eleanor Van Gogh, 2 up; Mrs. Paul Wilheim defeated Sophie Bernard, 2 and 1; and Mrs. Philip Salet won from Mrs. Bruff Olin, 5 and 4.

McCullen Bags Ace at Wiltwyck

William (Bill) McCullen, one of Wiltwyck Country Club's top ranking golfers, fired a hole-in-one on the 177-yard, par-three 8th hole Wednesday evening.

The IBM executive aced the hole with a beautiful 6-iron shot that cut through a slight breeze, landed on the green and skipped into the cup on the first short hop.

Lloyd Findhold, who was playing a twosome with McCullen, followed with a shot that rolled to within 2 feet of the cup.

Davis Pitches JCC 3-Hitter

Glenn Davis hurled a 3-hitter and fanned 8, as the Hawks scored in every inning to rout the Eagles, 11-2, in the Jaycee Little League Wednesday in a five-inning contest.

Home runs by Bruce Gilligan in the first and Al Mitchell in the second enabled the Hawks to jump to an early 5-0 lead. Eagle relief pitcher Mike Hawkins collected the only hits for the losers, a pair of singles and a double.

Ken Gilligan played a sparkling shortstop and hammered out a single-double combination. Bruce Gilligan and Mitchell each had a single in addition to their circuit clout. Jay Kenik, who was chased from the box in the third, was charged with the loss.

Staten Island Post Eliminates Kingston in Legion Play

State Champions Score 6-1 Win At New Rochelle

History has a way of repeating itself, even in sports, but the Kingston American Legion nine would just as soon forget about it.

The defending champion Huttner-Pasqualini Post of Staten Island eliminated the Old Capitol Motors-sponsored squad, 6 to 1 Wednesday in New York State competition at New Rochelle. They did the same thing a year ago.

The Staten Island tossers now head for the state finals against Buffalo's Plewacki Post at Cooperstown Saturday. The Buffalo team downed Henry C. Smith Post of Rome in the other semi-final game, 4 to 0, at Geneva.

Stan Matuslowski and Tom Edwards limited Kingston to four hits, three of them for extra bases, but were untouchable except in the sixth inning when Dom Berardi, who had pinch hit a triple scored Kingston's lone run.

Broberg Triples

Eric Broberg slammed a triple and George Tomson hit a double. Vince Smedes' single accounted for the other Kingston safety.

Staten Island greeted Lonnie McAndrew with three runs in the first inning and picked up three more off Ted Bream in the fifth. Wayne Johnson pitched a perfect seventh inning.

Joe Sollozzo and John Woodman collected two singles each for the defending champions.

In the other semi-final, Buffalo hurler Ken Stuhlmiller held Rome to four hits and drove in his team's' first run with a bases-loaded bunt in the second inning. John Buczkowski drove in two more runs with a triple in the inning.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Bob Gibson, Cardinals, blanked Pittsburgh 2-0 on three hits for fourth shutout, striking out 10 while walking only two.

BATTING — Felix Torres, Angels, stroked five hits—three singles, double and triple—in 5-1, 7-5 doubleheader sweep over Chicago White Sox that moved Angels back into second place in American League.

LA Angels Are Still Up There

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

These Los Angeles Angels just won't cooperate at all. Just keep doing things their own way.

"They'll never last," said experts as Bill Rigney somehow placed his oddly assorted crew of heroes hot on the heels of the American League-leading Yankees. But they clung there, week after week.

"See," chortled the pundits late last month when the Angels went into a mild slump, the Yankees got hot and Los Angeles quietly slipped back to third.

"Be lucky if they can hold third," the line went.

But now, all of a sudden, the Angels are back in second place, trail New York by 4½ games and once again have to be considered a major factor in the race.

They regained second by sweeping a doubleheader at Chicago, 5-1 and 7-5 while Kansas City chalked up its sixth straight victory, a 4-3 triumph over Minnesota. The Yanks split a pair with Baltimore, winning the first 3-2 and losing the nightcap 4-3. Boston beat Cleveland 6-0 while Detroit took a pair from Washington, 6-5 and 10-3.

Killerbrew Raps 30th

At Kansas City, Ed Charles stole home with the winning run with two out in the ninth inning as the A's dropped Minnesota to third. Hermon Killebrew's 30th homer of the season had tied it for the Twins in the top of the ninth.

Bill Skowron's two-out single in the ninth drove in Roger Maris with the winning run as the Yanks won the first against Baltimore. Marshall Bridges (5-0) got credit for the victory after taking over in relief in the ninth.

Baltimore won the nightcap on a four-run fifth inning and four innings of no-hit relief pitching by veteran lefty Billy Hoeft.

Gene Conley (10-10) struck out six, walked only two and retired 13 men in order over one stretch in pitching Boston past Cleveland. Gary Geiger led the Red Sox attack.

Detroit rushed in four runs in the first inning, built around Vic Wertz' homer, then got two more on Norm Cash's 31st homer in the fourth in the first-game victory over Washington.

A 15-hit attack made it easy for Phil Regan (6-8) to go the distance for the Tiger triumph in the second game.

Trotter Dies in Roosevelt Race

A two-year-old filly dropped dead in a stretch drive Wednesday night jarring the tension that has been mounting for two $50,000 races scheduled at Roosevelt Raceway this month.

Merrydell Damsel fell to the ground while leading the field in a "Baby Race." Driver Vernon Dancer was thrown from the sulky uninjured.

A track veterinarian said the filly, owned by the Merrydell Farm, Richboro, Pa., probably died of a heart attack.

Tension has been growing the last few weeks as Roosevelt Raceway prepared to stage the $50,000 American Trotting Championship Saturday and the $50,000 Roosevelt International Trot Aug. 18.

Harness results Wednesday night:

Vernon — April Maid ($7.60) raced hard in the stretch to win a Class A-B1 handicap pace by a length in 2:01 4-5. Levi Harner drove.

Saratoga—Freight Prince ($10) won his second straight by taking the $3,000 North Creek Trot with Bill Current in the sulky. Time for the mile was 2:06 3-5.

Roosevelt—Truly Rainbow ($10.60) registered an impressive 2:01 4-5 to win a $3,600 Class A-3 pace. Walter Welch drove.

Batavia — Lucky Layne ($5.10) led all the way to win the $1,500 Class B-2 pace with Tom Dufford driving.

Joe Nuxhall Is Still Good After 19 Years

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

At age 15 Joe Nuxhall exchanged his knickers for a major league uniform. Now, 19 years and some gray hairs later, the knuckleballing left-hander has turned into somewhat of a phenom again for the Cincinnati Reds.

The 34-year-old veteran, reclaimed from the minors recently, hurled 7 1-3 innings of shutout ball before giving way to relief ace Jim Brosnan as the third-place Reds made it three consecutive whitewash jobs against Houston with a 4-0 triumph.

The National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers moved 5½ games in front by making the most of four hits for a 3-1 triumph over Philadelphia while the New York Mets used the home-run weapon to subdue second-place San Francisco 5-2.

Elsewhere in the NL, Bob Gibson's fourth shutout, a three-hitter, gave St. Louis a 2-0 triumph over Pittsburgh, and the Chicago Cubs belted Milwaukee 12-4.

Roseboro Homers

The Dodgers went ahead to stay in the second when Johnny Roseboro homered after a single by Frank Howard and closed out the scoring when Maury Wills singled, stole second and eventually scored on a sacrifice fly by Willie Davis. Stan Williams (11-7) won it. Jack Hamilton (6-10) was the loser.

Frank Thomas and Felix Mantilla each hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning, and that was enough for the Mets as Roger Craig (7-17) went the distance and checked the Giants on seven hits. It was Thomas' 27th homer. Orlando Cepeda hit his 22nd for San Francisco and Harvey Kuenn hit his sixth but it wasn't enough for Bob Bolin (6-2).

Gibson (14-8) walked only two while striking out 10 in beating the Pirates and Al McBean (11-8). McBean lost it when the Cardinals pushed across the game's runs on an error in the sixth.

A 14-hit attack, including home runs by Ernie Banks, No. 28, and Ron Santo did the damage for the Cubs while Glen Hobbie (4-11) limited the Braves to seven hits. The loser was Bob Hendley (8-8).

Apaches Blank Sioux Nine, 2-0

Al Eisele and Harold Wolf of the Sioux lost a 2-hitter to the Apaches, 2-0, in the Met Knot Hole League. Blaime Kilmer and John Petro permitted the losers four hits. Petro got the win and Kilmer struck out 9.

Petro collected a double and Gary Bittner a single to account for the Apache safeties. The four Sioux hits went to Glen Stoutenburg, Harold Wolf, Tony Argulewicz and Jim Esposito.

Annual Washburn 500 Sweeps At Rhinebeck Track Saturday

Twenty-four of the top stock car drivers in the area will be in action Saturday at the Rhinebeck Speedway when the annual running of the 250-lap Washburn Memorial Sweepstakes is held.

The race, open only to Non-Ford stock cars, is limited to members of Mutual Racing Associates with three races in competition during the current season. Prize money to the winner will be in the neighborhood of $1,000. The race is named after Charles "Duke" Washburn, a former driver and officer in Mutual Racing Associates, who died of a heart seizure in 1954.

Four cars have already qualified for the big test. Harry Brazee of Highland will be on the pole. Second position will be held by Bill Boo of Pawling and third goes to Hoppy Jensen of Bristol, Conn. In the fourth position will be Dick Hansen of Red Hook. Others will qualify from six to eight o'clock the night of the big race.

On the same program will be a drum corps exhibition and the smashing sedans in an exhibition of fender bending.

Gates will open at 6:30 with the first program slated to get underway at 8:15 p. m. sharp.

Pros Would Have Beaten Us Says Packer's Hornung

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Green Bay beat the College All-Stars 42-20 in Chicago last week, Paul Hornung of the Packers said, "A pro team would have beaten us by five touchdowns."

The National Football League champion Packers get their first pro test in a pre-season game with the Dallas Cowboys Friday night at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

Vin Lombardi, coach of the Packers, was not too happy about the failure of his running game to make dents in the All-Star line. However, the Packers have a long way to go before the NFL season opens Sept. 16. They most certainly have been working on their running game during the past week. Both Hornung and Jim Taylor will be sharper with a week's work.

The Packers may find Dallas more vulnerable in pass defense, however, for coach Tom Landry has two seasoned backs on the sidelines due to injuries. To man the defensive backfield spots Landry will use two rookies, Mike Gaechter of Oregon and John Chaisson of Tulane, both signed as free agents.

Don Meredith, ready for the big test in his third year as a pro, will direct the Cowboys from the quarterback spot, passing to Billy Howton, Dick Bielski and Frank Clarke.

EL Giants Make Nice Comback

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Giants, the defending Eastern League champions, have come back strong after a dismal start and are bent on earning a spot in the first division even though first place appears out of reach.

The Giants, who hovered around in the cellar most of the first half of the season, increased their fourth place lead over Charleston by a full game by whipping league-leading Williamsport twice Wednesday night, 8-4 and 6-2.

That sliced the Grays lead to 18½ games over second place Elmira which whipped Binghamton 7-2. In the only other game Charleston beat York 8-5.

Jack Blehm got the victory for Springfield in the opener by pitching 5 1-3 innings of scoreless relief after Williamsport had taken a 4-0 lead in the first inning.

Paul Collacecchi pitched a five-hitter for the nightcap victory, getting a big lift from Jerry Kusner's three-run homer in the seventh.

Elmira scored six runs in the first two innings. Binghamton gave the Pioneers a pair of unearned runs. Dick Tetrault pitched a four-hitter for the victory. He struck out 12 and retired the last 14 men he faced.

A five-run outburst in the eighth won it for Charleston. Pinchhitter Duke Sims provided the key blow with a grand slam homer over the right field wall.

Grimaldi Slams 651

Tony Grimaldi linked games of 216, 200 and 215 for 651 in the Summer Classic at the Bowlero.

Jerry Kaplan decked 234, 225, 190 for 649 and Don Yonta toppled 244-617, a career-first 600. Ralph Caterino rolled 209, Gene Van Steenburg 202, Mickey Kahrs 205, Fred McFee 205.

Sangi's Bowlero 2, Central Lunch 1; S&E Inc. 2, Sal's 1; Glotzl's 0, Jerry's Jewels 3; Steve's Barber Shop 3, Lubetkin-Regan-Kennedy 0.

Wills Needs 21 For New Record In Base Thefts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Maury Wills, the nation's largest independent steal producer, predicted today he will break the National League record for stolen bases.

Last year, when he led the league with 35 steals, the little Dodger shortstop was permitted to run only when he got an okay from his bench. This season Dodger Manager Walt Alston granted Wills independence.

Now, 60 stolen bases later, Wills needs only 21 more steals to surpass the league record established 51 years ago by Bob Bescher of Cincinnati.

"I think I can make it now," Wills said. "I'm not going to run to hurt the club, but I'm not going to stop running just because the club happens to be way ahead in a game and we don't need the extra base.

"I'm so close. And I don't think I'll ever have this chance again."

How about Ty Cobb's major league record of 96 stolen bases?

"I'll let you know how I feel about that," Wills said, "when I get to 80."

He stole two bases against the Phils Wednesday night as the Dodgers won 3-1.

World's Fastest Swimmers Ready For AAU Events

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP) —Some of the world's fastest swimmers will defend their laurels against stiff international competition at the men's National AAU outdoor swimming championships opening here Friday.

Gerhard Hetz and Ted Stickles, who have been trading record times across the Atlantic Ocean for the 400-meter individual medley, will clash in that event on the opening day of the three-day meet.

Stickles, the Indiana University student from San Mateo, Calif., went under 5 minutes for the 400-meter medley for the first time here last year. But Hetz, 20, West German aquatic ace, bettered Stickles' record last spring with a time of 4:53.8. Stickles has twice since beaten that time and has been clocked at 4:51.8.

In the freestyle events two simmers who have won top honors will be trying to show the youngsters that they are still to be taken seriously. They are Murray Rose, 22, an Australian who lost to Roy Saari in the 200, 400 and 1500-meter events in the indoor championships last spring, and another Aussie, Jon Konrads, who holds world records in the 400 and 1500-meter freestyle events.

Saari, 17, from El Segundo, Calif., has bettered Konrads' 1500-meter record, but Saari's time last spring is not considered a record.

Leafs in Rut Despite Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs must be wondering today what they have to do to gain on the Jacksonville Suns. The faster the Leafs race, the faster their treadmill spins.

The Leafs have won six games in a row, including Wednesday night's 3-1 decision over the Columbus Jets, but they still trail the International League leading Suns by nine games.

The Suns edged the Syracuse Chiefs, 8-7, in 10 innings. Elsewhere, the Buffalo Bisons shut out the Richmond Virginians, 4-0, and the Atlanta Crackers whipped the Rochester Red Wings, 7-3.

Left-hander Jim Constable went all the way for the Leafs and had a shutout until the ninth inning when Red Johnston doubled and Buddy Pritchard singled him home.

Bob Lipski hit a homer with one on and Jim Frey hit one with the bases empty to account for three of the Bison runs.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainnard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

Falls Claim Big Share of Lives Lost in Mishaps

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Public accidents other than motor vehicle mishaps account for one fifth of all fatal injuries each year in the United States. Four out of every five victims in such public accidents are males, statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company reported.

Falls, the leading cause of fatal injuries in public places, claimed 4,900 of the nearly 18,000 lives lost in public accidents during 1959. Most of the falls occurred among older people.

As much as one fifth of all the fatal falls happened on streets and highways, statisticians said.

Drownings, mainly among child and young adult bathers ranked a close second with about 4,300 deaths during the year, while water transportation claimed an additional 1,600 lives.

Accidents involving aircraft, railways, firearms and fire and burns by other means followed in decreasing numerical importance as major causes of public accidental deaths.

The statisticians said that a great many of the deaths in public accidents are associated with sports and other recreational activities. In a study made by the company of its policyholders, it was found that more than two-fifths of such fatalities resulted from water sports, exclusive of boating. Pleasure boating caused one-sixth of all the deaths sustained in sports and recreation. Many of these stemmed from overloading of boats, occupants shifting positions, and the use of small boats in rough waters.

2 Cars Collide On Thruway, No Injuries Listed

Occupants of two vehicles escaped injury at 4:15 p. m. Wednesday when the cars collided on the State Thruway about one mile south of the Kingston interchange.

Thruway troopers said the cars were operated by Donald Kelly, 51, of Syracuse, and Alphonse Desaulniers, 73, of Baltimore, Md. Kelly was driving south when he saw the other vehicle crossing the center mall, and as he swerved after applying his brakes his car was involved in a crash with Desaulniers vehicle.

Desaulniers, troopers said, had stopped his car on the southbond lane because of a flat tire on a left wheel. Because of the closeness of traffic, the Baltimore man crossed the mall to fix the flat and the crash occurred.

Venturesome Boy From Utah Rides Bike 2,781 Miles

Freckle faced Dean Millman, 13-year-old youngster from Sunset, Utah, has traveled some 2,781 miles by bicycle since June 2.

Young Millman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Millman of Sunset, Utah, made the trip to his former home in Williamstown, Mass., where he spent three weeks visiting his former pals. He then cycled to Albany, left there at 12 noon Wednesday and arrived here in Kingston at 7 p. m. He plans to visit his grandparents in Staten Island then head back to Utah in time to start school the last week in August.

Dean spent the night in the Governor Clinton Hotel through the courtesy of the Kingston Paid Fire Fighters Benevolent Association. They also reoutfitted him before sending him on his way.

One Minor Accident

The adventuresome youth has encountered everything from four-foot rattlesnakes to baking tropical temperatures to frigid, drenching downpours during his expedition.

An expert cyclist he experienced only one minor accident.

He collided with another bicyclist in the remote hinderlands of Pennsylvania and suffered a scraped knee.

Robert Ouellette of Williamstown, Mass., took off for Binghamton to meet his pal first and accompany him back to Williamstown. Unfortunately, however, the boy eventually met young Millman but his bike finally burned out for good and he telephoned to his parents, who drove to Schenectady to escort him home in an automobile. The Millman boy would have nothing to do with cars, however, and finished the last lap of the trip to Williamstown by bike.

"My legs and feet aren't sore," Millman pointed out. "But look at this" he added hastily, showing the soles of his sneakers where his bike pedals had ground half-inch deep weals, "I guess I've been doing some pedalling."

Only 500 Next Summer

Next year, he plans a trip to Canada and a few more "small side-trips" to midwestern states. "I'm not gonna try anything more than 500 miles next summer," he said, explaining that his schoolwork and other hometown activities don't allow him enough time to do all the traveling he pleases.

Millman has been entertained and honored by a host of fire stations and police departments during his trip. In fact, he has stirred up more hoopla in some sleepy midwestern towns than the residents had known for years.

"I saw a couple of rattlesnakes too," he said, expanding his arms to indicate the length of the reptiles. "But I didn't have the time to be scared or lonely. I had too many other things to worry about."

Trip Cost $80

He has been interviewed on the road by scores of radio and television stations, has been given tours of everything from oil refineries to the home of Mickey Mantle's cousin, has received his first airplane ride and has been made honorary sheriff of Cass County, Nebraska.

"That wasn't so much, though," he said wearily. "Those hot deserts and icy rainstorms are what stick in my memory."

The reasons for his trip? "I guess I wanted to see America and be the youngest boy to travel across the country by bike.

So far, his trip has cost him $80. Since he is running behind schedule he will return to Utah by bus after visiting with his grandparents in Staten Island.

REVIEWING BROADWAY EAST PROGRESS with local urban renewal officials, three representatives of the Housing and Home Finance Agency toured the downtown area yesterday. Following the site inspection and conferences in the office of urban renewal director Ward Tongue, HHFA area coordinator Richard Pine said that progress of the survey and planning stage of Broadway East is proceeding according to the schedule outlined last January. Shown, (left to right) are: Bernard Schure, HHFA field representative; Michael Meshenberg, HHFA site representative; Mayor John J. Schwenk; Ward Tongue, Kingston urban renewal director; Richard Pine, HHFA area coordinator; Manuel Lipton, president of the Downtown Businessmen's Association; Alexander Yosman, Kingston urban renewal advisor; Arthur Sweid, representative of Raymond & May Associates, Kingston urban renewal consultants. STATES' INCOME—A state's main source of income is received through the taxes it levies. The $19 billion in taxes collected by the 50 states of the nation in fiscal 1961 averages out to $106 per person. Per capita amounts collected by individual states varied from more than $200 in Hawaii to $63 in New Jersey. Kentucky showed the greatest per capita increase in the last 10 years. All 50 states impose sales and gross receipts taxes; 34, individual income; 37, corporation net income; 45, property; 40, death and gift; 10, poll; and 29, severance on the removal of oil, gas, etc. Sales and gross receipts taxes account for almost 58 per per cent of all of the state taxes collected in fiscal 1961.

Town Republican Committee Will Caucus Sept. 8

Members of the Town of Kingston Republican Committee will attend a party caucus at the Town Hall on Saturday, Sept. 8 starting at 8 p. m., for the purpose of selecting a candidate for town highway superintendent for one year term.

Candidates seeking nomination for the post are asked to notify Committeemen John Kloepping or Robert Vinson, both of Sweet Meadows, Sawkill. Nominations also will be received the night of the caucus.

At a regular monthly meeting of the Town Board of the Town of Kingston, permission was granted the Republican committeemen for use of the town hall for the caucus.

Councilman Kloepping reported at the Board session that a form signed by the town clerk and highway department superintendent, is being forwarded to the State Traffic Commission seeking a speed limit through the town.

Mrs. Margaret Stauble, town welfare officer reported no welfare cases on town rolls.

The September meeting of the town board will be held Tuesday, Sept. 4, 8 p. m., due to Labor Day falling on Monday the regular meeting night.

Low Bid Announced

Hall & Company, Inc. of Delmar bid low at $3,461.50 to drive a well for the superintendent's residence at the Highland Training School for Boys, the state public works department, Albany reported today. The bid was one of 23 received on six projects for construction, alterations and repairs involving state-owned facilities in several counties.

Originated in 1792

The New York Stock Exchange dates its origin to 1792 when 24 merchants gathered under a buttonwood tree to buy and sell stocks.
